The Department of Administrative Leadership offers a graduate program of studies with two emphases: one on educational administration and supervision and the other on adult and continuing education leadership.

The emphasis on educational administration and supervision prepares the student for a career as a school district administrator, elementary, middle, or secondary school administrator, director of special education and pupil services, school business manager, or curriculum director. Through this program of studies, the student can fulfill professional education requirements for administrative and supervisory licenses in Wisconsin and most other states.

The emphasis on adult and continuing education leadership prepares the student for positions of leadership in post-secondary programs including vocational and technical education, university extension, continuing professional education, inservice training and human resource development, adult basic education, adult literacy, and educational leadership and program development in health, religious, manpower and other agencies and community educational programs.

The Department also offers a course of study leading to the Specialist Certificate in Administrative Leadership - required for the school superintendency and recommended for other school or adult education administrative or supervisory positions.

Under the auspices of the PhD program in Urban Education, the Department offers doctoral level specializations in educational administration and in adult and continuing education.

The Department of Anthropology offers programs of graduate study designed to provide a broad background in all significant facets of the discipline - biological as well as cultural, analytic as well as descriptive - while still encouraging specialization. It provides training both for students interested in an academic career in anthropology and for those concerned with practical issues approached from the integrative perspective of anthropology. The department, in cooperation with the Milwaukee Public Museum, also offers a program leading to a Certificate in Museum Studies. The Milwaukee Public Museum, the fourth largest natural history museum in the country, is the site for methods courses that provide the student practical experience in museum work and for courses in the history and theory of museum exhibits.

Each student's program of studies includes training in anthropological theory and methods, issues and problems in cultural anthropology, archaeology, anthropological linguistics and physical anthropology, as well as topics that focus on the student's area of particular interest.

MS/MLIS Coordinated Degree Program. In cooperation with the School of Information Studies, the Department of Anthropology offers a MS/MLIS program (51 credits) to prepare students for positions as curators of museum libraries, and as information specialists and researchers for local history collections and state and local government agencies. Students enrolled in this program concurrently pursue the MS degree in Anthropology (21 credits in Anthropology) and the MLIS degree (30 credits in SOIS). Candidates for the coordinated degree program will be expected to fulfill the degree requirements of both programs. Degrees will be awarded simultaneously.

Doctor of Philosophy in Anthropology

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- A general master's degree in anthropology covering biological and cultural anthropology and related methods and techniques of research - or equivalent preparation without the master's degree.

- An applicant with a master's degree in another field may be admitted if the student has a grade point average of 3.0 (4.0 scale) in graduate work and is approved by the departmental Graduate Admissions Committee.

- Three letters of recommendation.

While the department has no deadline for application, students desiring to be considered for fellowships or assistantships must apply by the first of March.

Reapplication
A student who receives the master's degree must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the PhD.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM.

The student must show preliminary evidence of ability to formulate and complete an anthropological research project. This requirement is satisfied by:

- A thesis, research paper, or research problem at the master's degree level.

- Demonstration of ability to use field, laboratory, library, or archival materials in the solution of anthropological problems, and ability to present materials in publishable form.

The student, in consultation with the major professor and advising committee, must plan a program of studies as soon as feasible after admission to the doctoral program. The program of studies must include a complement of courses in the student's major area of concentration, courses in a minor field, and demonstration of the acquisition of an approved specialized scholarly skill.

The Department of Architecture offers programs of study designed to prepare students for professional practice and for careers in architectural consulting, research and teaching.

M Arch Program
The Master of Architecture, the first professional degree offered by the Department of Architecture, is accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB). The degree program requires 2 or 3-1/2 years of graduate study, depending on the applicant’s previous academic background and qualifications. It offers a wide range of courses, with particular strengths in the areas of building design, environment-behavior studies, and urban design and development.

The Master of Architecture curriculum emphasizes studio courses. Each of these studios is taught by faculty members who also offer courses in selective subjects.

A foreign studies program allows students to combine foreign travel and study under the tutelage of a departmental faculty member for program credit. The location of the program may vary from year to year. Additional costs of travel, lodging, etc., must be borne by the student.

In the United States, most state regulation boards require a degree from an accredited professional degree program as a prerequisite for licensure. The National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB), which is the sole agency authorized to accredit US professional degree programs in architecture, recognizes two types of degrees: the Bachelor of Architecture and the Master of Architecture. A program may be granted a five-year, three-year, or two-year term of accreditation, depending on its degree of conformance with educational standards.

Master’s degree programs may consist of a pre-professional undergraduate degree and a professional graduate degree, which, when earned sequentially, comprise an accredited professional education. However, the pre-professional degree is not, by itself, recognized as an accredited degree.

PhD Program
The Department offers a program of advanced study and research in environment-behavior studies leading to the PhD degree in Architecture. Environment-behavior studies is a multidisciplinary field devoted to research on the mutual interactions of the physical environment at all scales and socio-cultural behavior at all levels of analysis, with applications to architectural design, urban design and planning, and environmental policy. The PhD program is appropriate for persons who wish to study environmental issues from a multidisciplinary research perspective, and who seek research, consulting, or academic careers in architecture or any of the environmental professions or allied fields.

M Arch/MUP Program
In cooperation with the Department of Urban Planning, the Department of Architecture offers a Master of Architecture/Master of Urban Planning program that prepares students for careers requiring preparation in both fields. Both the M Arch and MUP degrees are awarded simultaneously upon completion of this 72-credit program. For more detailed information on this program see Credits and Courses section below.

Certificate in Preservation Studies
A certificate program in Preservation Studies is available to Master of Architecture students who wish to pursue careers in historic preservation in professional architectural practice or in government preservation agencies.

The certificate program is designed to provide such students with a solid background in the political, social, legal and economic aspects of preservation and the development of research skills for examining the history as well as the fabric of older and historic buildings. Design and construction considerations for the adaptive use of historically and architecturally significant structures are emphasized in the coursework.

Certificate in Real Estate Development
The Certificate in Real Estate Development is designed to provide a formal program of studies for Master of Architecture or Master of Urban Planning students who wish to pursue careers in real estate development in combination with professional architectural practice or work with a private or public developer. For more information, see Certificate section below.

Doctor of Philosophy in Architecture

Admission

The PhD program seeks to maintain a rich and diverse mix of students and thus encourages applicants with backgrounds in architecture, allied design fields, and/or the social and behavioral sciences. Likewise, the program is open to applicants holding undergraduate as well as graduate degrees. It is most important that applicants have a strong commitment to the conduct of advanced architectural research, building upon the concepts and theories of environment-behavior studies.

Applicants must meet Graduate School requirements and one of these departmental requirements to be eligible for consideration for admission to the program:

- A professional B Arch or M Arch degree in Architecture or a master's degree in a related environmental professional field.
- A master's degree in any field and significant experience in the practice, research or teaching of Architecture or related professional fields.
- A bachelor's degree in any other field. Holders of such degrees will be advanced to full doctoral student status after they have completed some pre-doctoral preparation in research methods, environment-behavior studies, and/or architectural design and communication, consonant with their own program of study.

In addition, applicants must submit test results from the General Test portion of the Graduate Record Examination. For foreign applicants, whose first language is not English, a score of at least 250 on the computer-based (or 600 on the paper-based) Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) is required. A score of 7.0 on the International English Language Testing Systems (IELTS) examination will be accepted in lieu of the TOEFL.

Reapplication

A student who has received a master's degree in Architecture or in Urban Planning from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the PhD degree.

Major Professor as Advisor

Upon admission, each student is assigned an advisor, usually the Coordinator of the PhD Program. In the first year, each student defines an area of concentration within the major field of environment-behavior studies and a minor area of studies outside environment-behavior studies, and selects Major and Minor Professors to advise and supervise course work and independent readings in preparation for the comprehensive examinations in those fields. Upon admission to candidacy, each student defines a dissertation topic and selects a Major Professor as Dissertation Chair. Selection of the area of concentration and dissertation topic and of the Major and Minor Professors and Dissertation Chair is subject to approval by the PhD Program Committee.

Course of Study

The program is structured in three stages:

1. Completion of a minimum of one year of formal course work (4 required core courses in theory, environment-behavior studies and research methods), an intermediate research project, and the minimum residence requirement of 27 graduate credits subsequent to attaining full doctoral student status and 54 graduate credits beyond the baccalaureate degree.

2. Completion of the major area of concentration (minimum of 9 graduate credits from courses and/or independent studies) and of the minor area of study (minimum of 9 graduate credits), and passing doctoral preliminary examinations in: environment-behavior studies, the area of concentration, and in the minor area of study.

3. Completion of a research dissertation that makes an original contribution to the field.

Depending on background preparation and amount of time spent in full-time residency, students should be able to complete the degree in approximately four years. Individual timetables will vary depending upon background preparation and time spent in full-time residency.

For more information on these requirements, please consult the Department of Architecture PhD Policies and Procedures Handbook.

Foreign Language Requirement
A foreign language requirement is optional, depending upon the recommendation of the student's Major Professor and the PhD Program Committee.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examinations
The student must pass doctoral preliminary examinations to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. The examinations are comprised of three parts, which may be taken at the same or different times:

1. A general comprehensive examination in environment-behavior studies.
2. An examination of the student's major area of concentration.
3. An examination of the minor field of study.

For more information on these examinations, consult the Department of Architecture PhD Policies and Procedures Handbook.

Candidacy
The student is officially admitted to candidacy for the PhD degree after completing the residence requirement, core courses and intermediate research project, completing the courses in the area of concentration and minor field, and passing the three doctoral preliminary examinations (and language examination, if required) to the satisfaction of the PhD Program Committee.

Dissertation
The candidate must design, conduct, and write a research dissertation which demonstrates ability to formulate a research topic and pursue independent and original research that makes a contribution to the field. Selection of the dissertation topic, Dissertation Chair, and Dissertation Committee is subject to approval of the PhD Program Committee.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation. For more information on the dissertation defense, consult the Department of Architecture PhD Policies and Procedures Handbook.

Continuation
For further information about departmental policies in the PhD program, please consult the Department of Architecture PhD Policies and Procedures Handbook.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School

PhD requirements, see the Doctor of Philosophy Degree chapter of the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

The Department of Visual Art offers graduate programs of study in art and art education. Fields of concentration are available in the following studio arts areas: Ceramics, Graphic Design, Painting and Drawing, Fibers, Photography, Printmaking, Sculpture, Jewelry/Metalsmithing, and InterMedia.

The Master of Arts in Art is a 30-credit program with advanced study and concentration in one or more areas of studio art work. It is designed for the student who desires graduate training as a professional artist. The student's plan of studies is tailored according to whether or not that person expects to continue formal studies in the Master of Fine Arts program.

The Master of Fine Arts in Art is a 30-credit program of concentrated study beyond a Master of Science or a Master of Arts degree. It is designed for the student who desires further graduate training as a professional artist or training as a teacher-artist in art schools and universities.

The Master of Science in Art Education is a 30-credit program with advanced work in both studio art and art education. It is designed for experienced teachers of art and others who hold certification to teach art and wish further training as teachers-artists-researchers.

The Department's facilities and services include fully equipped studios housed in several buildings, one of which is an Arts Center. The Institute of Visual Arts (inova) oversees a year-round schedule of exhibitions in the two gallery sites and houses a study facility with contemporary art publications.

In addition the Department offers a schedule of workshops, lectures and seminars.

Students applying for admission to the three graduate programs in Art, should note these application deadlines:

- For admission for Summer or Semester I, the Graduate School recommended deadline is January 1, with portfolios and letters of recommendation due in the Department of Visual Art Office of Graduate Studies by January 7.

The Institute of Visual Arts (inova), oversees a year-round schedule of exhibitions in the two gallery sites and houses a study facility with contemporary art publications.

Master of Arts in Art

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- An undergraduate major in art including at least 40 studio credits and at least 45 academic credits outside the major.
- Submission of a portfolio of 20 slides of original work.
- Submission of a written personal statement of the proposed program of study.
- Three (3) letters of recommendation. Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

An applicant whose grade point average or quality of art work does not meet Graduate School and departmental standards may be considered for admission on probation, with continuance subject to review after completion of 6 credits.

Major Professor as Advisor

Immediately upon admission, the art student must contact the head of Graduate Studies and the head of the studio area in which the student will work for initial advising and advice in the selection of a major professor.

By the end of the fourth week of the student's second semester, the student must make arrangements for a professor in the Visual Art Department to serve as major professor and notify the Department of Visual Art Office of Graduate Studies that the professor is willing to serve in this capacity.

As soon as possible thereafter, the student, in consultation with the major professor, shall organize an examining committee. The committee must consist of the major professor and at least two additional graduate faculty members, one of whom teaches in the student's area of concentration.

A student who wishes to change the area of study must first apply and be accepted into the new area of concentration. The student should then contact the head of the newly selected area for advice in possibly selecting a new major professor.

If the student's major professor takes a leave of absence or leaves the University, the student should contact the head of the area for advice in selecting a new major professor. The student must notify the Department of Visual Art Office of Graduate Studies of the change immediately.

Transfer of Credits
An applicant who holds graduate art credits from another institution may, upon admission, be permitted to transfer up to 12 credits. Acceptance of these credits is not automatic. The student must apply to the Graduate School for evaluation of the credits before they can be accepted.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits, 24 of which must be taken in art and 6 of which must be taken in Art History. The student, in consultation with the major professor, plans a program of studies to include 6 credits in graduate art seminars including a required 3 credit Critique Colloquium Seminar; 18 credits in an area of concentration; 6 credits in art history.

Graduate Review
Each year, the student must participate in at least one Graduate Review. The student who qualifies to bypass the Master of Arts degree in pursuit of the Master of Fine Arts degree must participate in at least one Graduate Review before the written and oral MFA qualifying examinations.

Thesis Exhibition
Upon recommendation of the examining committee, the student presents a thesis exhibition or presentation of work centering on the student's area of concentration and executed during graduate studies.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a final oral and written examination.

Time Limit
The Department of Visual Art requires that students complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Master of Fine Arts in Art

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Completion of 30 graduate course credits in art, including at least 18 in studio art, as required by the UWM Master of Arts in Art degree -- or the equivalent. The applicant need not necessarily hold the Master of Science or Master of Arts degree.
- An applicant not holding a Master of Science or Master of Arts degree must also pass a written and oral qualifying examination.
- Submission of a portfolio of 20 slides of original work.
- Submission of a written personal statement of the proposed program of study.
- Three (3) letters of recommendation.
- If the applicant is continuing toward the MFA after completing coursework for Master of Arts in Art at UWM, a letter recommending continuation toward the MFA from the thesis examining committee will be accepted in lieu of slides, a personal statement, and letters of recommendation.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

An applicant admitted with graduate course deficiencies must earn whatever portion is lacking of the 30 credits normally required for admission in addition to the 30 credits the Department of Visual Art requires for the MFA degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
If the applicant is continuing toward the MFA after completing coursework for a UWM Master of Science in Art Education or Master of Arts in Art, the major professor and the examination committee already selected will continue in these positions. If the applicant is newly admitted to the program, the head of the area of specialization should be contacted immediately for initial advising. By the end of the fourth week of the student's second semester in attendance, arrangements must be made for a professor in the Visual Art Department to serve as major professor and the Department of Visual Art Office of Graduate Studies should be notified of the professor's willingness to serve in this capacity.

As soon as possible thereafter, the student, in consultation with the major professor, should organize an examining committee. The committee must consist of the major professor and at least two additional graduate faculty members, one of whom teaches in the student's area of concentration.

A student who wishes to change the area of study must first apply and be accepted into the new area of specialization. The student should then contact the head of the newly selected area for advice in selecting a new major professor.

If the student's major professor takes a leave of absence or leaves the University, the student should contact the head of that area for advice in selecting a new major professor.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits beyond the Master of Arts degree or the Master of Fine Arts Qualifying Exam, 21 of which must be in art, 3 of which must be in Art History, and up to 6 of which may be in related areas. The student, in consultation with the major professor, plans a program of studies to include 3 credits in a Philosophy and Concepts seminar (951); 18 to 24 credits in studio art; 3 credits in Art History; 0 to 6 credits in related areas such as art history, anthropology, archaeology, aesthetics. The student must earn at least 8 of the above credits through full-time attendance on campus in a single semester.

Graduate Review
The student who holds a Master of Arts in Art degree or a Master of Science degree must participate in at least one Graduate Review before completing the requirement for the MFA. The student who has qualified for the Master of Fine Arts in Art degree must participate in at least one Graduate Review after the qualifying written and oral examinations.

Thesis Exhibition
Upon recommendation of the major professor the student presents a thesis exhibition of work executed since admission to the program. The exhibition is held during the semester in which the student completes the coursework for the degree.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a final oral and written examination.

Time Limit
The Department requires that the student complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment in the MFA program.

Master of Science in Art Education

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program. Applicants must send completed application form and official transcripts to the
If the student's major professor takes leave of absence, receives a sabbatical, or leaves the University, the student should contact the Head of the Art Education Area for advice in selecting a new major professor.

Transfer of Credits

Upon admission, an applicant may be permitted to transfer a maximum of 9 graduate credits, earned at another institution. However, the student must apply to the Graduate School for an evaluation of such credits to determine if they are acceptable for transfer to the M.S. program.

Credits and Courses

The minimum requirement for the M.S. in Art Education degree is 30 graduate credits, 21 of which must be in the Visual Art Department. The student, in consultation with the major professor, is responsible for planning a 15 credit (minimum) program of study in art education with a specific focus in curriculum and instruction (which would include computer/video technology), exceptional education, early childhood education, multi-cultural instruction and/or museum education. Coursework should include a 9 credit (minimum) concentration of course work in studio art or, with major professor's written approval, in a related field such as art history, architecture, film, aesthetics, criticism, anthropology, sociology, or psychology.

Thesis

All M.S. in Art Ed. students must develop, present and defend a thesis to complete their degree. Three thesis options are available: a written thesis that emphasizes scholarly research; an applied study that includes the development and implementation of a significant teaching strategy or curricular model which is reported on in a written thesis; a thesis exhibition in which a student prepares a gallery presentation of a body of work created in studio courses. Thesis option must be selected by a student and approved by the major advisor before 15 graduate credits are earned.

Students who elect one of the written thesis options must have at least two members of the Art Education Area faculty on their thesis committee and one from their related field of study.

While studio courses are open to all graduate students who meet the prerequisites, those who elect the thesis exhibition option must be reviewed and accepted for thesis work by the faculty of the Area in which they wish to create a body of work to exhibit. Students must also complete a minimum of 15 credits of study in that studio area, participate in at least one Graduate Review before completing degree requirements, have at least two members of their studio area on their thesis committee, and meet the exhibition requirements of the Visual Art Department Graduate Studies Program.

Comprehensive Examination

All M.S. in Art Education students must pass a final oral examination in defense of the thesis. Students who elect the exhibition thesis option must pass both an oral and a written examination.

Time Limit

The Department of Visual Art requires that the student complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

The Department of Art History offers a graduate program of studies in the history, theory, criticism and connoisseurship of art. Coursework is offered in Western art (European and American) and Non-Western art (African, Asian, and Pre-Columbian) from antiquity to the present. Independent investigation and study are afforded in architecture, painting and sculpture in each of the major periods. The program is designed to permit the student to develop familiarity with a broad range of stylistic periods and with research techniques employed in their study.

The program prepares the student for advanced work leading to the PhD, and through the Certificate in Art Museum Studies, for careers in curatorial, educational and administrative positions in museums and art galleries.

Master of Arts in Art History

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- A minimum of 15 credits in Art History.
- Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination.

- Two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with applicant's academic or professional activities and potential.

- Strongly recommended, though not required: background in languages, history or classics. Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. A student who is not assigned to an advisor at time of admission should immediately contact the Graduate Advisor.

Option A: Thesis Option

Option A is designed primarily for the student who wishes to pursue a specialized program in greater depth than would be possible in normal course structure.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 27 graduate credits in Art History, of which a minimum of 15 credits must be at the 700 level or above. Of these 15 credits, at least 6 credits must be in 700 level colloquia (not including 703), at least 3 credits must be in a 900 level seminar (not including 990 or 999), and 6 credits should be taken in thesis research (990).

Alternatively, 3 credits in additional seminar or colloquium work may be substituted for 3 of the 6 credits of thesis research. In addition, students may take a maximum of 6 credits of independent research (890, 891 and/or 999); however, these credits may not be taken in the first 6 credits of graduate work in the Department, and not until all deficiencies (if any) have been satisfied. Furthermore, they may not be counted toward the 15 credits at the 700 level or above. They will, however, count toward the overall number of credits needed to graduate. All students must take at least one 700 level colloquium (not including 703) in their first semester in the program.

Of the total 27 credits, each student is required to take 3 credits in at least four of the following five areas: Ancient, Medieval, Renaissance-Baroque, Modern (1750 to the Present including Film), and Non-Western. At least 6 of these credits must be taken in courses numbered 700 or above. The following courses may not be used to satisfy the distribution requirement although they will count toward the overall number of credits needed to graduate: 302, 303, 351, 353, 355, 459.

Upon petition to the graduate advisor, a student may be permitted to take up to 6 credits in appropriate areas outside Art History (e.g., anthropology, literature, history, music history, philosophy, film).

Language Requirement
Students must demonstrate a reading knowledge of one art historical language, e.g., French, German, Italian, Spanish or other language as appropriate. Students must take the departmental reading exam in the language of their choice at least once by the time they have completed 9 credits. If they do not pass the exam on the first attempt, they will be expected to enroll in an appropriate language course. Students may not enroll in thesis research (990) unless they have passed the language examination.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a final comprehensive examination, which will take the form of an oral defense of the thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment. It is expected that a full-time student will normally complete all of the requirements for the degree within two years.

Option B: Non-Thesis Option
Option B is designed primarily for students who prefer to broaden their general backgrounds in Art History by working on a variety of shorter research problems within the normal course structure.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 27 graduate credits in Art History of which a minimum of 15 credits must be at the 700 level or above. Of these 15 credits, at least 6 credits must be in 700 level colloquia (not including 703), at least 3 credits must be in a 900 level seminar (not including 990 or 999), and 6 credits must be in additional colloquia and/or seminar work. In addition, students may take a maximum of 6 credits of independent research (890, 891 and/or 999); however, these credits may not be taken in the first 6 credits of graduate work in the Department, and not until all deficiencies (if any) have been satisfied. Furthermore, they may not be counted toward the first 15 credits at the 700 level or above. They will, however, count toward the overall number of credits needed to graduate. All students must take at least one 700 level colloquium (not including 703) in their first semester in the program.

Of the total 27 credits, each student is required to take 3 credits in at least four of the following five areas: Ancient, Medieval, Renaissance-Baroque, Modern (1750 to the Present including Film), and Non-Western. At least 6 of these credits must be taken in courses numbered 700 or above. The following courses may not be used to satisfy the distribution requirement although they will count toward the overall number of credits needed to graduate: 302, 303, 351, 353, 355, 459.

Upon petition to the graduate advisor, a student may be permitted to take up to 6 credits in appropriate areas outside Art History (e.g., anthropology, literature, history, music history, philosophy, film).

Language Requirement
Students must demonstrate a reading knowledge of one art historical language, e.g., French, German, Italian, Spanish or other language as appropriate. Students must take the departmental reading exam in the language of their choice at least once by the time they have completed 9 credits. If they do not pass the exam on the first attempt they will be expected to enroll in an appropriate language course. Students may not register for Art History courses beyond 21 credits unless they have passed the language examination.

Thesis or Exhibition
The student must either write a thesis or organize an exhibition accompanied by a scholarly catalogue to fulfill the thesis requirements. All of the other requirements for Option A must also be fulfilled.

The Department of Biological Sciences offers graduate programs in biology with areas of concentration in botany; microbiology; cellular and molecular biology; genetics; physiology and morphology of plants and animals; terrestrial and aquatic ecology; behavioral biology; conservation biology; and evolution.

Facilities of the Great Lakes WATER Institute, the UWM Field Station, the departmental greenhouse, and the electron microscope laboratory provide opportunities for laboratory and field research.

The recommended deadline for submitting applications for admission to the graduate programs in Biological Sciences is January 1 for the Fall semester and for TA or RA support. The recommended deadline for admission for the Spring semester is September 1 and for the summer, January 1. Timely application is encouraged for students seeking financial support. The deadline for Graduate School Fellowship applications is mid-January for the upcoming academic year beginning with the Fall semester.

Highly qualified applicants may be offered a Ruth I. Walker Memorial Fund Scholarship (variable dollar amount), for up to two years. All applicants approved for admission by April 1 are considered for the Ruth Walker award; a special application is not required.

When applying for admission, applicants should describe as completely as possible their specific research interests within biological sciences. Applicants are strongly encouraged to establish contact, before or during the application process, with Biological Sciences faculty members whose research interests are closest to their own, regarding the likelihood of one serving as the student's major professor. To assist the applicant in this process, a Biological Sciences Graduate Program brochure is available, which describes the research activities of the faculty. The brochure can be obtained by contacting the departmental office.

Graduate Faculty

SHAW DISTINGUISHED PROFESSOR
The student plans a program of studies in consultation with the major professor. If desired, a special area of concentration (botany, microbiology, physiology) may be declared.

MS Graduate Advisory Committee
The MS Graduate Advisory Committee is selected by the major professor in consultation with the student, by the end of the first year of enrollment. The MS Advisory Committee consists of the major professor and two other graduate faculty members. The Committee must meet at least once a year to monitor and formally report on the student's academic and research progress.

Oral Examination
The student must pass an MS oral examination. The examination should be taken by the end of the first year of enrollment, but in any event, must be taken no later than the end of the second year of enrollment. The MS Advisory Committee administers the oral examination.

Thesis
Students must prepare and defend a thesis reporting the results of their research. During the final year of study, students must present a seminar on their research, with prior public announcement.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Biological Sciences

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following program requirements to be considered for admission:

- Applicant must present at least 30 credits in one or more areas of biological sciences and must show substantial evidence of scholarly potential. A master's degree is not prerequisite for admission to the PhD program.
- Other academic preparation: a year of general physics including at least one semester of laboratory; one year of general college chemistry with laboratory, plus at least one semester of organic chemistry with laboratory or biochemistry with laboratory; two courses in college mathematics chosen from among courses in calculus, biometry or statistics.
- Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.
Acceptance by a faculty member in the program who will act as major professor (sponsor): see Major Professor as Advisor.

Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's scholarship, research achievements and potential.

Applicants may be admitted with specific course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements with a grade of C or better within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. The student is expected to maintain a grade of B in all other coursework.

Reapplication
A student in the MS program, or who receives the master's degree at UWM, must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the PhD.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The graduate committee assigns the incoming biological sciences student to an advisor whose experience and research most closely approximates the student's own career interests. Before the student's preliminary examination either this initially assigned advisor or another qualified staff member is designated as the student's major professor.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. Of the 54 credits, at least 28 must be earned in formal courses and graduate seminars. (Four colloquium credits are required after the bachelor's degree and count toward the degree.) The student must take at least three seminars during the student's course of study up to a maximum of 8 credits counting toward the degree. The remaining 26 credits may be earned in independent reading and/or study, or research. At least 30 of the 54 credits must be in biological sciences; 12 credits may be earned in allied sciences, including those in the secondary area of concentration or minor field(s).

Secondary Area of Concentration
The student must select a secondary area of concentration either within biological sciences or in an allied science, and must present at least 9 credits of course work in that area to the departmental Graduate Committee. A university minor (option A or B) may qualify as a secondary area of concentration upon approval by the departmental Graduate Committee.

Language or Data Analysis Proficiency
The student must demonstrate proficiency either in a foreign language or data analysis. The student can demonstrate language proficiency in one language other than English (German, French, Russian or Spanish preferred), either through examinations or through 12 credits of specified coursework, either before or after admission to the program. The student can demonstrate proficiency in data analysis by presenting 12 credits in one or more of the following: mathematics (200-level or above), statistics, computer science.

Residence
The student must meet Graduate School residence requirements.

PhD Advisory Committee
The PhD Advisory Committee shall be selected by the major professor in consultation with the student by the end of the first year of enrollment. The PhD Advisory Committee shall consist of the major professor and four other graduate faculty members. One of the faculty should reflect competency in the secondary area of concentration. When the advisory committee is formed, the student must prepare a departmental "certification document" for the approval of the committee. The committee must meet at least once a year to monitor and formally report on the student's academic and research progress.

Dissertation Proposal and Doctoral Preliminary Examination
Prior to the doctoral preliminary examination, the student submits a preliminary written dissertation proposal to the student's PhD Advisory Committee and delivers an oral presentation of relevant research in progress. The doctoral preliminary examination is in two parts. Part I is a written exam; Part II is an oral exam. Parts I and II of the doctoral preliminary examination must be taken with a warrant from the Graduate School; and must be taken before the end of the second or third year of full-time enrollment (before completion of 24 or 36 credits for students with a MS or BS degree, respectively). Deviation from this plan must be approved by the Graduate Committee.

Dissertation Status
Specific requirements which must be completed before the Graduate School places a doctoral student in dissertation status are described in the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook and the Doctoral Student and Advisor Manual.

Dissertation
In consultation with the major professor the candidate must select a suitable research project and submit a written research plan. The final dissertation proposal constitutes the student's written research plan which is subject to approval of the PhD Advisory Committee. This plan is to be submitted to the Department. The research plan will be reviewed for progress annually. During the final year of study the candidate must present a seminar, with prior public announcement, on this research and must prepare a dissertation reporting the results of this research. The original research findings embodied in this dissertation should be acceptable for publication in a refereed journal.

Dissertation Defense
As the final step toward the degree the candidate must defend the dissertation before the PhD Advisory Committee.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School PhD requirements, see the Doctor of Philosophy Degree chapter of the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

Doctor of Philosophy with an Interdisciplinary Specialty in Biogeochemistry
Under the auspices of the doctoral programs in Chemistry, Biological Sciences, and Geosciences and the research program of the Center for Great Lakes Studies, the Department of Biological Sciences offers doctoral training with an interdisciplinary specialization in Biogeochemistry. This specialization provides a multi-disciplinary program within the broad field of environmental and aquatic science.

Admission
Prospective students wishing to specialize in Biogeochemistry must initially be admitted to the Department of Biological Sciences Doctoral Program. Admission to the Interdisciplinary Specialty is determined by the Interdisciplinary Biogeochemistry Specialization Committee consisting of representatives from the participating departments and the Center for Great Lakes Studies. In addition to departmental admission requirements, students are expected to have an undergraduate degree in biological sciences or a closely related field and to have completed at the college level at least two semesters of calculus, one semester of statistics, two years of chemistry and one year of physics. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for admission to the PhD program.

Major Advisor and Research Committee
Entering students will be assigned a temporary major professor to advise and supervise their studies. No later than the end of the third semester, students in this specialization are required to choose a permanent major advisor to direct their doctoral research and to form a graduate thesis research committee consisting of graduate faculty from the Departments of Biological Sciences, Chemistry and Geosciences, and the Center for Great Lakes Studies.

Course of Study
All doctoral students are required to earn a minimum of 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. The curriculum of the Specialization includes a required Biogeochemistry Core course taken in the first year of graduate study, an annual seminar course requirement, and individualized course requirements selected by the student's graduate thesis research committee from a wide variety of course offerings in the sciences and related fields, based upon the student's background and doctoral research topic. At the end of the first year, students must pass a written qualifying examination based upon core course materials and their departmental major in order to continue in the Biogeochemistry Specialization.

Students are expected to pursue a program of highly original, interdisciplinary research in the broad field of environmental science, which synthesizes the linkages among the physical, chemical and biological components of the natural world. In addition to course work and research, students in the Interdisciplinary Specialization are required to obtain at least one semester of teaching experience as a teaching assistant in one of the natural science departments, and participate in local community outreach through presentations, instruction, or interactions with local secondary schools, or other community involvement related to environmental issues. All students are required to obtain field experience as an integral part of their training program, e.g. through field research activities here or abroad, participation in sea-going research cruises, etc.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination

In order to advance to candidacy for the PhD degree, students must pass a written and oral doctoral preliminary examination no later than at the end of their second year, demonstrating a comprehensive knowledge in the field of biogeochemistry and their own chosen area of specialization. Upon completion of their research, students must prepare and defend a dissertation, reporting the results of their research in a public forum.

Further Information

Admission, general program requirements, and additional information on degree and research opportunities can be obtained from the departmental office or from the UWM Center for Great Lakes Studies.

Graduate Certificate in State and Local Taxation

Phone: (414) 229-5403

E-mail: sba@uwm.edu

The School of Business Administration offers MBA, Executive MBA, MS, and PhD graduate degree programs. A joint program, Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations, is also offered, as is a Graduate Certificate in State and Local Taxation.

The MBA program is an innovative program designed for success in an increasingly complex business environment. The program is a powerful blend of management theory, functional skills, and practical application. It features a flexible structure and a strong selection of specialized elective tracks designed to meet career and professional development needs.

The MS in Management program is a unique graduate program designed to develop corporate specialists, offering in-depth knowledge and skills in twelve areas of concentration: accounting, change management, eBusiness, engineering management, finance analysis, health care management, international business, management information systems, marketing technology, manufacturing innovation and enterprise management, professional accounting, and taxation. The program creates an intellectually stimulating learning environment in which students acquire a strong knowledge relevant to their chosen area of concentration and a skill set (critical thinking, analysis, communication) needed for career success.

Both programs are designed to accommodate students with backgrounds in engineering, and the liberal arts and sciences as well as undergraduate majors in business. MBA and MS classes are offered during evening hours to meet the needs of working professionals. Full-time students can also take full advantage of the evening scheduling.

The Executive MBA Program is a two-year accelerated program uniquely designed for mid-career managers, executives, professionals, and entrepreneurs. Classes meet one day per week, on alternating Fridays and Saturdays, for maximum flexibility for students and employers.

The School of Business Administration and the College of Letters and Science offer a joint degree, the Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations (MHRLR). This master's program offers students an interdisciplinary blend of courses and faculty in the areas of human resources and labor relations. The curriculum prepares students for careers as practitioners and emphasizes a firm grounding in both the liberal arts and business.

The School of Business Administration and the College of Letters and Science also jointly offer the Master of Public Administration degree, with a curriculum that links coursework from Political Science, Business, Urban Planning, and Economics. This program is designed to prepare students for leadership and management careers in local, state, and national government.

The PhD program is a rigorous and high-quality, research-oriented program that offers students an opportunity to specialize in one of five management fields: finance, management information systems, marketing, organizations & strategic management, and production/operations management. Individuals completing the program are expected to pursue academic careers in research-oriented schools of management or research careers in public and private enterprises.

The Graduate Certificate in State and Local Taxation is designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills needed to successfully pursue or advance careers within tax departments of corporations, CPA firms, law firms, and government agencies.

Students also are assumed to have basic proficiency in the use of word processing, spreadsheet, and database software. Credits earned in these courses do not count toward the degree.

Students select the area of concentration most suited to their educational goals. The areas of concentration in the program are: accounting (first professional degree-open only for students with non-accounting majors at baccalaureate level); professional accounting (open to students who have completed an undergraduate degree in accounting); change management; eBusiness; engineering management; finance analysis; health care management; international business; management information systems; marketing technology; manufacturing innovation and enterprise management; and taxation.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student in the MS program must choose a major professor during the first ten weeks of the student's first semester of graduate enrollment to advise and supervise the student's studies. A listing of faculty by area of interest is sent to each MS student to aid the student's selection of major professor. This list is also available in the Graduate Programs Services office, BUS N251.

The major professor, in consultation with the student, reviews the student's academic background and career goals and designs an appropriate program of study consistent with degree requirements. In developing a program of study for a student who has no undergraduate background in business administration, care is taken to ensure a basic exposure to different aspects of the management field as well as an in-depth preparation in the chosen field of specialization.

Credits and Courses
The minimum degree requirement for the Management degree concentrations varies from 30-34 graduate credits. In the 30-credit concentrations, at least 18 credits must be taken in the School of Business Administration.

Electives provide distinction to each individual program. Through proper selection and packaging, each student can design a program to meet individual educational objectives while maintaining a high degree of academic strength. These courses may be selected from the many available in the School of Business Administration, or from among those offered in graduate programs of other UWM departments.

The application of methodological techniques and area studies are brought together in a thesis, a variable 2-6 credit management research project, or a designated integrating course. The urban location and strong ties with the business sector provide numerous opportunities for application of theoretical developments to ongoing operations or projects.

The distribution of coursework required in different areas of concentration is as follows:

microeconomics and fulfill prerequisite requirements in statistics for either Business 709 or Economics 310.

- Students who are deficient in the areas of microeconomics or statistics at the time of admission (see above) will be expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. Deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. Major Professor as Advisor
A student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The student will be assigned an advisor matched by area of professional interests from the Program Faculty by the MHRLR coordinating committee during or prior to the first 10 weeks of enrollment in the program.

The major professor, in consultation with the student, reviews the student's academic background and career goals and designs an appropriate program of study consistent with degree requirements. In developing a program of study for a student who has no undergraduate background in either human resources or labor relations, care is taken to ensure a balanced exposure to different aspects of the field as well as an in-depth preparation for the student's particular goals.

A student is admitted as a candidate for the PhD degree after successful completion of the doctoral preliminary examinations.

Dissertation

The candidate must write a dissertation that demonstrates ability to formulate a research topic and pursue independent and original investigation.

Dissertation Defense

A formal oral defense of the dissertation by the student and certification of the dissertation by the dissertation committee are necessary steps to complete the degree requirements.

Time Limit

Master of Science in Chemistry

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus this departmental requirement to be considered for admission to the program:

- Undergraduate preparation in chemistry and related areas equivalent to a chemistry major which includes at least one year each of physical and organic chemistry with laboratories, and one course each in analytical and inorganic chemistry with physical chemistry prerequisite.

- Submission of scores from the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE). The Chemistry Subject Test is strongly recommended.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

See Special Non-Thesis Option below for additional requirements for admission to that option.

Standard Thesis Option

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering student is assigned a temporary advisor; a permanent advisor must be selected by the end of the first semester of study. The major professor serves as the student's research mentor.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits. Normally these include at least five 600-899 level courses, chosen by the student in consultation with the advisor. A minimum grade point average of 3.00 must be earned in formal coursework, not including research courses (990-996) or seminars (912, 931-935). The remaining credits are taken in research and seminars. The student must take Chemistry 900 (Chemistry Colloquium) and take or audit Chemistry 912 (Graduate Seminar) each semester in residence. This requirement may be modified for part-time students who may be employed during normal hours of the seminar and colloquium. Graduate School regulations require that a majority of all courses taken be at the 700-999 level.

Prior to initial registration, the student takes advisory examinations to assess that individual's preparation in analytical, organic, inorganic, and physical chemistry; in consultation with the major professor, the student plans a program based on the results of these examinations.

The student must also participate in at least one term of part-time teaching as a teaching assistant.

Thesis

The student writes a thesis, essentially a formal report of that student's research. Since the MS is largely a research degree, the quality of research reported in the thesis is an important measure of the student's success in the program.

Comprehensive Examination

The student must pass a final oral examination in defense of the thesis. At the discretion of the examining committee, this examination may include topics in addition to the thesis.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Special Non-Thesis Option For Students With Professional Experience In Chemistry

Admission

In addition to the general requirements noted above for the master's degree program, applicants must have a minimum of five years of professional chemistry experience beyond the BA or BS degree, including a sizable amount of research or development laboratory work. Since the Chemistry Department believes that the problem-solving experience of research is an indispensable part of graduate study, applicants will be interviewed by a faculty committee to assess the prior research experience as appropriate background for the program.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. For this option, the major professor is chosen (by the Graduate Subcommittee) before admission to the program, and serves as a member of the committee which assesses the prior research experience of the student. The major professor should be from the area of chemistry in which the student intends to concentrate the major portion of course efforts.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits, including no more than two credits of seminar. The remaining credits should be in formal courses. Registration for Graduate Seminar and Chemistry Colloquium, advisory examinations, course program, and core courses shall follow requirements for full- or part-time graduate students, as described for the Standard Thesis Option.

Papers and Comprehensive Examinations

The student prepares two survey papers exploring subjects in more depth than the coverage in coursework. Of these, one is in a major area and one is in a minor area. These must be approved by the student's examining committee, which consists of three faculty members representing the areas of the papers. One paper must be approved at least six months
Doctor of Philosophy in Chemistry

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus departmental requirements as given for admission to the master's program. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for admission to the PhD program in chemistry.

Reapplication
A student who receives the master's degree must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the PhD.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering student is assigned a temporary advisor; a permanent advisor must be selected by the end of the first semester of study. The major professor serves as the student's research mentor.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM.

The student plans an individual program of studies in consultation with the major professor. Coursework must include one of the following: a minor of 9 to 12 credits in a single department; a minor of 9 to 12 credits in two or more departments; a coherent program of at least 9 credits concentrated in an area of chemistry outside the student's principal area of emphasis. A Program of Studies, including coursework and proposed research, must be approved by the Department. A minimum grade point average of 3.00 must be earned in coursework in Chemistry, not including research (900-996) or seminars (912-935). Graduate School regulations require that a majority of all courses taken be at the 700-999 level. The Department has no formal language requirement but the student is responsible for familiarity with published literature in the area of that student's research. The student must also participate in at least one semester of part-time teaching as a teaching assistant.

The first stage of the student's program includes general preparation as in the master's program, as well as specialized courses in principal areas of interest and the initiation of research. Admission to the second stage of the PhD program is based upon satisfactory performance in courses, research, and in departmental examinations.

Upon entrance, the student takes proficiency examinations in analytical, inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry.

Departmental approval to continue in the doctoral program is attained by passing an advanced qualifying examination in the major area. This examination must be completed by the end of the fourth semester of study.

In the second stage of the program, the student concentrates on the development and execution of original research. Additional coursework may also be required to complete the program of studies.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The student must take a doctoral preliminary examination. This serves to qualify the student for formal admission by the Graduate School to candidacy for the degree.

Dissertation
Candidates must each present a dissertation reporting the results of independent, original research carried out under the direction of their major professor. At least three months before the Dissertation Defense, at a time when most of the experimental work has been completed, the student meets with the Examining Committee for a preliminary review of the research to be described in the dissertation.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, defend the dissertation in an oral examination. The candidate also presents a public dissertation seminar, describing research in completed form for the Department and others who may be interested.

A student who does not pass this examination within five years of admission to candidacy may be required to take another preliminary examination and be readmitted to candidacy.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within 10 years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

Doctor of Philosophy with an Interdisciplinary Specialty in Biogeochemistry

Under the auspices of the doctoral programs in Chemistry, Biological Sciences, and Geosciences and the research program of the Center for Great Lakes Studies, the Department of Chemistry offers doctoral training with an interdisciplinary specialization in Biogeochemistry. This specialization provides a multi-disciplinary program within the broad field of environmental and aquatic science.

Admission
Prospective students wishing to specialize in Biogeochemistry must initially be admitted to the Department of Chemistry doctoral program. Admission to the Interdisciplinary Specialization is determined by the Interdisciplinary Biogeochemistry Specialization Committee consisting of representatives from the participating departments and the Center for Great Lakes Studies. In addition to meeting departmental admission requirements, students are expected to have an undergraduate degree in chemistry or a closely related field and to have completed at the college level, at least two semesters of calculus, one semester of statistics, two years of chemistry and one year of physics. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for admission to the Ph.D. program.

Major Advisor and Research Committee
Entering students are assigned a temporary major professor to advise and supervise their studies. No later than the end of the third semester, students in this specialization are required to choose a permanent major advisor to direct their doctoral research and to form a graduate thesis research committee consisting of graduate faculty from the Departments of Biological Sciences, Chemistry, Geosciences and the Center for Great Lakes Studies.

Course of Study
All doctoral students are required to earn a minimum of 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. The curriculum of the Interdisciplinary Specialization includes a required Biogeochemistry Core course taken in the first year of graduate study, an annual seminar course requirement, and individualized course requirements selected by the student's graduate thesis research committee from a wide variety of course offerings in the sciences and related fields, based upon the student's background and doctoral research topic. At the end of the first year, students must pass a written qualifying examination based upon core course materials and their departmental major in order to continue in the Biogeochemistry Specialization.

Students are expected to pursue a program of highly original, interdisciplinary research in the broad field of environmental science, which synthesizes the linkages among the physical, chemical and biological components of the natural world. In addition to course work and research, students in the Interdisciplinary Specialization are required to obtain at least one semester of teaching experience as a teaching assistant in one of the natural science departments, and participate in local community outreach through presentations, instruction, or interactions with local secondary schools, or... other community involvement related to environmental issues. All students are required to obtain field experience as an integral part of their training program, e.g. through field research activities here or abroad, participation in sea-going research cruises, etc.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
In order to advance to candidacy for the Ph.D. degree, students must pass a written and oral doctoral preliminary examination, no later than at the end of their second year, demonstrating a comprehensive knowledge in the field of biogeochemistry and their own chosen area of specialization. Upon completion of their research, students must prepare and defend a dissertation, reporting the results of their research in a public forum.

Further Information
Admission, general program requirements, and additional information on degree and research opportunities can be obtained from the departmental office or from the UWM Center for Great Lakes Studies.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following requirements to be considered for admission:

- The program primarily enrolls individuals with backgrounds in Clinical Laboratory or a related field who have completed a bachelor's degree at an accredited institution. For students entering without a degree in a related area, the faculty determines deficiencies to be overcome prior to admission. Students may apply for admission at any time during the year; however, review of completed applications will take place twice annually, during the second week of November and March of each year for enrollment beginning the following semester. Applications received after these dates may be considered if space is available in the program.

- International applicants must have all application materials submitted no less than 8 months prior to the desired date of enrollment. Students may enroll on a full-time or a part-time basis.

- Applicants may be admitted to regular status if their grade point average is the equivalent of 2.75 or above (scale of 4.0). Averages below 2.75 may be considered for admission on a probationary basis, in which case particular attention is given to the last 60 hours completed in the undergraduate program, with special emphasis on performance in science courses. Probationary status is removed after successful completion of the first eight graduate credits with a grade point average of 3.0 or above.

- Graduate Record Examination scores on the General Test are required.

- Three letters of reference, preferably from academic and/or clinical sources, must be submitted.

- Along with the application form, the applicant must submit a letter of not more than 1,000 words stating career objectives and reasons for seeking a graduate degree in clinical laboratory sciences.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. Students are permitted a choice of research/specialty emphasis, and an advisor is assigned according to faculty advising loads.

Credits and Courses

The minimum degree requirement is 32 graduate credits. A minimum of 6 credits of core curricular requirements must be taken. In addition, a minimum of 4 credits in seminar (710), and a minimum of 8 credits in research (799) must be taken. Of the remaining 14 credits required for the degree, a minimum of 6 credits must be taken as elective subspecialty courses. offered by the program.

Thesis
The student must write an acceptable thesis based in part on original research and pass a final oral examination in defense of the thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

ELECTIVE CREDITS
The remaining 15 credits are selected by the student in consultation with his/her major advisor. A maximum of six credits outside the department may be counted toward the degree. A maximum of 6 credits below the 700 level may be counted toward the degree. A maximum of 6 credits in Commun 860 may count toward the degree. In addition, the following courses and credits may be counted toward the degree, but a maximum of 9 credits selected from the combination of Commun 998, Commun 999, and courses outside the department may count.

990 Research and Thesis (1 to 6 credits may count toward the degree)
998 Communication Internship (a maximum of 3 credits may count toward the degree)
999 Independent Study (a maximum of 3 credits may count toward the degree)

Students must complete either a comprehensive examination or a thesis.

Comprehensive Examination
If the comprehensive exam option is chosen, the student must pass a written and oral examination, given by a faculty committee chaired by the major professor, demonstrating proficiency in integrating knowledge within and among subject matter areas. The examining committee is chosen by the faculty advisor in consultation with the student. The written portion of the comprehensive examination is approximately 8 hours in length, requires preparation beyond coursework taken in the program of study, and may not be attempted before the semester in which the students will complete a minimum of 24 credits in the program, including all required course work. The oral examination follows satisfactory completion of the written examination and is conducted by faculty members of the examining committee.

Thesis Option
A thesis involves applied or basic research and is a proven method for developing specialized knowledge and skills that can enhance an individual's expertise within a substantive area of study. A thesis is recommended for students who intend to continue study toward the PhD degree or plan research-related employment. If the thesis option is elected, the student must initiate and write an original research project under the guidance of his/her major professor; the student also must pass an oral defense of the finished project conducted by his/her thesis committee.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Graduate Certificate in Mediation and Negotiation
The Department of Communication, in cooperation with the Master's in Human Resources and Labor Relations (MHRLR) and the School of Business Administration, offers the Graduate Certificate in Mediation and Negotiation. The program of study is designed to provide practical and theoretical knowledge for students who wish to pursue or advance careers that involve managing or resolving disputes in organizational, educational, community, or family contexts. The program is designed to meet the increasing need of business, organized labor, public sector and community organizations for people with skills in conflict resolution.

Using an interdisciplinary approach, the program offers a basic knowledge of mediation and negotiation between individuals and across organizations, allows some specialization in further course work, and is integrated with a final course involving either field-work or a research paper written under the direction of an expert in the area.

Students can complete the Graduate Certificate in Mediation and Negotiation while enrolled either part-time or full-time, and by taking courses during evenings and/or weekends. With the approval of the program, students admitted to either the MA in Communication or the MRLR degree program may apply courses taken to meet certificate requirements toward their degree.

Admission
Students applying for the Certificate Program in Mediation and Negotiation must hold a bachelor's degree and must have earned a 2.75 GPA overall or must furnish substantial evidence of ability to succeed in graduate level work. Students may apply to the Graduate School as candidates for the certificate program in non-degree status, or they may pursue the certificate while enrolled in another graduate program.

Credits and Courses
The certificate requires 12 credits, including 9 credits of course work and 3 credits of field work or research.

Required Courses:
Comm 665 Introduction to Mediation
Econ 753 Collective Bargaining

Elective Course: select one of the following
Comm 865 Theory and Practice of Mediation
IR 715 Arbitration and Graduate Certificate in Rhetorical Leadership

Leadership is a highly valued, yet always scarce resource in all areas requiring coordinated action: civil society, professional work, profit and non-profit venues, religious and social action contexts. Communication's "Rhetorical Leadership" certificate program prepares leaders with humanistic knowledge, skills and attitudes through five graduate courses.

"Rhetorical Leadership and Ethics" covers rhetoric's role in and potential for responsible leadership in multiple arenas; it is informed by the long history of debate over the legitimacy of studying rhetoric as a means of promoting joint action. "Theories of Rhetorical Communication" introduces certificate students to the vast, nearly three millennium-long theoretical range of the rhetorical tradition. "Communication and Social Order" examines how existing institutions and values get established and "naturalized" using symbolic action and conversely how they can be challenged strategically through rhetoric. The more advanced "Rhetoric of Constituting Community and Social Controversy" addresses explicitly the rhetorical range available to leaders, whether their main goal is constituting communities or promoting change in ways that the existing decision-making channels cannot accommodate. "Argumentation in Theory and Practice" integrates argumentative theory and practice in ways that are useful for potential leaders; it involves some performance-based learning that requires students to test their preferred theory alternatives in action.

Students must earn a minimum cumulative 3.00 grade point average and show a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher in the certificate courses taken at UWM. Five courses are required:

- Commun 672 Communication and Social Order, 3 cr
- Commun 735 Theories of Rhetorical Communication, 3 cr
- Commun 762 Argumentation in Theory and Practice (Integrative course), 3 cr
- Commun 772 Rhetorical Leadership and Ethics, 3 cr
- Commun 872 Rhetoric of Constituting Communities and Social Controversy, 3 cr

Students who have little experience in positions of responsibility will be encouraged to participate in a relevant internship during the course of their studies. The program will assist students in identifying appropriate opportunities.

For post-baccalaureate students, a maximum of 3 graduate credits may be transferred to count toward the certificate program's 15-credit requirements. Courses will be considered for transfer into the certificate program only if the applicant can provide ample, acceptable evidence that the course taken is substantially the same as one of the five courses that constitute the certificate program. The Rhetorical Leadership Committee will make such determinations, and its decision is final. No transfer credit is allowed for post-graduate students.

For those simultaneously enrolled in a degree program, up to 50% of the credits required for the certificate may count toward degree requirements, subject to approval of the degree program.

Non-degree students pursuing a "Rhetorical Leadership" certificate will have three years from initial enrollment in a certificate course to complete the certificate requirements. Degree students pursuing a "Rhetorical Leadership" certificate will have the same time limit to complete the "Rhetorical Leadership" certificate requirements as they have for completing the degree program.

The certificate will be awarded upon successful completion (i.e., once all grades for the certificate courses taken at UWM are officially recorded and show a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or more) of the certificate program requirements.

For more information or to apply for the certificate program, please contact the program coordinator.

The Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders offers a program of graduate study which prepares students for careers as speech-language pathologists in public schools, hospitals, rehabilitation centers, nursing homes, and university training programs. The program typically takes 2 calendar years to complete. Students usually prepare for service delivery in both school and healthcare clinical settings to maximize career flexibility. Occasionally, students may choose to focus career preparation on just one type of setting.

The master's degree program in speech-language pathology (M.S. in Communication Sciences and Disorders) at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee is accredited by the Council on Academic Accreditation in Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, 10801 Rockville Pike, Rockville, MD 20852, 301-897-5700 (http://professional.asha.org/academic/council/fmt). Students who complete the graduate program will meet the academic course work and clinical practicum requirements of the Standards for the Certificate of Clinical Competence in Speech-Language Pathology (CCC) issued by the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA).

The Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction (DPI) has approved the undergraduate/graduate program in communication sciences and disorders, and students considering careers in a school setting will be eligible for a Wisconsin license upon graduation with their master's degree.

Campus laboratory and instructional facilities include a speech and language clinic, a hearing evaluation center, and a communication science laboratory. Research and instructional laboratories contain videotape recorders, computers, and a variety of electrophysiological and electro-acoustical instruments.
Following two successful practicum experiences in the on-campus clinics, students are eligible for off-campus externships in medical, rehabilitation, and school sites. A successful practicum experience is one in which a student earns a grade of B or better. Because of recent changes in Chapters 48 and 50 of the Wisconsin State Statutes, students placed in these facilities are required to pass a criminal background check prior to the externship placement.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Undergraduate major in communication sciences and disorders
- A cumulative overall grade point average of 3.0 or better (scale of 4.0).
- Minimum grade point average of 3.0 or better in the undergraduate major courses.

- Submission of Graduate Record Examination scores.
- Submission of a written statement according to departmental guidelines.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the graduate studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. Entering students are assigned advisors according to faculty advising loads.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 45 credits, 33 of which are core curriculum requirements and must be in Communication Sciences and Disorders 670, 680, 701, 703, 704, 705, 706 OR 660, 708, 709, 710, 725, 801, and 999 OR 990. Additional credits are obtained in elective courses (4 credits of electives are required from among 620, 630, 690, 702, 717, 802, 804, 990, or 706 OR 660, whichever was not taken to fulfill the core requirement), for a total of 37 credits. The remaining credits will be taken in clinical practicum. The student, in consultation with the major advisor, plans the appropriate practicum courses for on-campus clinics and off-campus externships to meet ASHA certification, DPI and Wisconsin licensure requirements. Only clinical clock hours for practical clinical experiences in which the student has earned a grade of B or better will apply toward degree, certification, or licensure requirements. A student may earn up to 6 credits for a thesis if this option is selected.

Thesis

Optional. Credits earned during the completion of a thesis may be applied toward the required four credits of electives.

Research Experience

Students who do not choose the thesis option are required to engage in a one-credit research experience. This experience may involve (but is not limited to) a small-scale original study, a project related to the on-going research of a faculty member, a clinical case study, or a literature review. Students may work individually or in pairs. The final product can be either a research paper or a poster session presentation.

Knowledge and Skills Acquisition (KASA) Assessment

All students will be responsible for completion of the Knowledge and Skills Acquisition (KASA) assessment, which assesses student attainment of learning outcomes in a variety of content areas. Students who are judged by program faculty and staff to be deficient in one or more content areas will be required to take additional coursework or clinical practica until their deficiencies have been satisfied.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

In addition to the general master's program in criminal justice, concentrations in corrections, law enforcement, and administration are also available. The corrections concentration is designed to prepare individuals to assume administrative/management positions in correctional settings. The law enforcement concentration is designed to prepare individuals to assume administrative/management positions in law enforcement settings. The administration concentration combines coursework in public administration and criminal justice to prepare students for administrative positions within the criminal justice system, focusing on management careers in police, courts, and corrections.

The Department of Educational Policy and Community Studies offers a master’s program for educators who wish to deepen their knowledge base in dealing with urban issues of educational policy and practice. The graduate study enhances participants’ ability to analyze education in societal and community contexts as well as to analyze conflicting assumptions underlying crucial issues.

A core of four courses provides sociological, historical, philosophical and research frames of reference. Students select Educational Foundations or Multicultural Education as an area of concentration, although probing the complexities and issues of cultural diversity is a goal of each area. Students are encouraged to develop and understand their own frameworks of values and theoretical perspectives as applied to the realities of urban education. A faculty advisor will assist the student through the program, balancing flexibility and structure according to professional needs.

Master of Arts in Economics

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- An undergraduate major in economics and one semester of calculus.
  Alternatively, adequate preparation at the undergraduate level equivalent to two semesters of coursework in intermediate economic theory, one semester of statistics, and one semester of calculus.

- Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination General Test or equivalent quantitative courses is recommended. Test of English as a Foreign Language exam is required for applicants whose native language is not English.

- Two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with applicant's scholastic achievement and potential.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. Deficiencies in economic theory are made up through Economics 301 (Intermediate Price Theory) and 302 (Intermediate Income Theory); in statistics through Economics 210 (Economic Theory) and 302 (Intermediate Income Theory); in calculus through Math 211.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. In Economics, the newly admitted master's student is advised by the Graduate Study advisor.

OPTION A: THESIS OPTION

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 credits of graduate work. The student must select one area of concentration offered by the Department and must take at least two courses in this concentration in courses numbered 700 or above, or take Economics 506 and 606. The student must also select any two courses numbered 700 or above (except Economics 734, 990, 991, and 999) in other areas of economics. In addition, the student must take Economics 513, 701 and 702.

Thesis

Thesis
An acceptable thesis must be written on the student's area of concentration.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a final oral examination in defense of the thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

OPTION B: NON-THESIS OPTION

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 credits of graduate work. The student must select one area of concentration offered by the Department and must take at least two courses in this concentration in courses numbered 700 or above, or take Economics 506 and 606. Doctor of Philosophy in Economics

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program. A master's degree is not prerequisite for admission to the PhD program in economics.

- An undergraduate major in economics with a grade point average (both overall and in economics) of 3.0 (4.0 scale) and one semester of calculus or adequate preparation at the undergraduate level equivalent to two

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. Of the total credits required, a minimum of 42 must be taken in the Department: 12 credits in micro and macro economic theory; 12 credits in quantitative theory; and a total of 15 credits in two areas of concentration. An additional 9 to 12 credits may be chosen either in a minor field outside the Department or in electives either in or outside the Department, as detailed below. The student must also fulfill the research skill requirement below.

Minor field or electives: This requirement may be satisfied in one of two ways:

1. Minor field: 9 to 12 credits in a single department other than Economics; courses planned with a professor in the minor department and the examination, if required, is administered by the minor department.

2. Electives: 9 to 12 credits in courses from any departments, including Economics, but no more than 6 credits

73
Research skill. Research skill requirements are individually assigned by the graduate study advisor. Research skill requirement is fulfilled by courses in computer science, mathematics, statistics, mathematical economics (700 level or above), or econometrics (700 level or above).

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements. The PhD student meets the continuous portion of the residence credit requirement by completing 8 to 12 credits in each of two consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. Residence credit is not earned at the master's level or prior to award of the master's degree.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The student must pass doctoral preliminary examinations for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. The examinations are given in sections covering economic theory and the student's two areas of concentration. Students must take the sections in economic theory first.

Students may attempt any prelim exam twice. Any student failing a prelim exam twice may appeal to the Graduate Faculty for permission to take the exam for a third time if:

1. The student's request is accompanied by letters of support from at least two members of the faculty and where one of the faculty is a member of the prelim committee awarding the failing grade, and

2. The student is still able to satisfy the time limits outlined below. (Note: These conditions must be met before an appeal can be considered by the Graduate Faculty. Satisfaction of these conditions in no way obligates the Graduate Faculty to grant any appeal.)

Students may not take the field exams until they have passed both theory exams. A section is also included covering the minor if there is one; this section is administered by the department concerned.

The schedule specifying the time at which these examinations are taken is as follows:

1. A doctoral student with an MA in Economics from another institution must attempt both theory prelims at the conclusion of 3 semesters or 24 credits (whichever happens last) and must pass both theory prelims prior to the start of the 5th semester or at the conclusion of 24 credits (whichever happens last).

3. A doctoral student without an MA in Economics must attempt both theory prelims at the conclusion of 5 semesters or 36 credits (whichever happens last) and must pass both exams prior to the beginning of the 8th semester or at the conclusion of 48 credits (whichever happens last).

Dissertation
The candidate must write a dissertation which demonstrates ability to formulate a research topic and pursue independent and original investigation.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School PhD requirements, see the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

Counseling Program Description

The counseling program in the Department of Educational Psychology offers three distinct concentration areas: Community Counseling, Rehabilitation Counseling, and School Counseling. Given UWM's location in the largest urban area in Wisconsin, the counseling faculty is committed to training multiculturally competent community counselors, rehabilitation counselors, and school counselors to serve clients in urban environments. All three concentrations share a core preparation in the areas of counseling and educational psychology. As students make progress in their program of studies, their focus will take on a more specialized training with content specific courses and field placements where they will refine their counseling skills in practical settings.

The Community Counseling concentration prepares students for work in a variety of community settings such as mental health clinics, community agencies, counseling centers, colleges and universities, and business and industry. Students arrange their program of studies in consultation with their advisors so that the 48 credits earned toward a master's degree will meet selected state certification requirements.

The Rehabilitation Counseling concentration prepares counselors to assume a full range of professional responsibilities in a variety of rehabilitation agencies, organizations, educational settings and business and industry. The training model integrates theoretical.
applications of the human experience with practitioner skills with the ultimate goal of full inclusion and integration of all individuals with disabilities as equally valued members of society. The program of study includes a focus on the career developmental needs of persons with disabilities as well as full community participation. Equally, the faculty believes in and promotes health, wellness and prevention of disabilities and disease within society through its scholarly pursuits. Students arrange their programs of studies in consultation with their advisors so that the 48 credits earned toward a master's degree will meet requirements for certification as a rehabilitation counselor (CRC). The rehabilitation counseling concentration is aligned with the standards of the Council on Rehabilitation Education.

The School Counseling concentration prepares students to work as school counselors. The program is approved by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction. Effective for students admitted to begin their program on or after May 15, 2002, certification requirements have significantly changed. All students will receive K-12 certification, and an internship or a 2-year teaching experience will no longer be required. Students are trained to apply the principles of learning, human development, counseling, and research and measurement within the schools. Preparation is designed to enable students to deliver school counseling programs and services to schools and the community. Students arrange their program of studies in consultation with their advisors so that the 48 credits earned toward a master's degree also will satisfy Wisconsin State Certification requirements. Certification is available as a K-12 School Counselor and as a Bilingual Counselor.

The School Counseling Certification program is for students who already possess a master's degree. Certification students are admitted to the school counseling certification and enroll as non-degree candidates. They need to meet the requirements for school counselor certification, which are generally fewer than the credits required for the M.S. Final selection of courses is determined by consultation with an advisor. Certification is available as a K-12 School Counselor and as a Bilingual Counselor. The requirements for this certification program meet the certification standards of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

The three concentrations train counselors to work with a diverse group of clients in urban settings. Likewise, students are trained to deliver services as counselors in an ethical manner, as outlined by professional codes of conduct. The components of community, school, and rehabilitation concentrations are listed below. All three share in common courses comprising an Educational Psychology core of studies, a general Counseling core of studies, and a Concentration core. The Educational Psychology core provides knowledge for understanding research and professional scholarship, techniques of educational and psychological measurement, and typical human growth and development across the life-span. The Counseling core courses provide training in basic helping processes and relationships, career development, social and diversity issues in counseling, group work, appraisal of client issues, counseling theory, and the role of family systems. The Concentration core provides training in advanced strategies for helping clients change, and opportunities for increasing competency with specific populations through field placement. Fieldwork in Counseling, and Supervised Practicum in Counseling (for community and school students only), and Internship in Rehabilitation Counseling (for rehabilitation students only) all involve the refinement of more advanced and sophisticated counseling skills in placements in actual counseling settings. Students are required to spend 20 hours each week during the semester at their placement site (an exception to this hour requirement is described below for students interested in seeking experience in dual concentrations). Each concentration requires 48 credits.

Entering with a Baccalaureate Degree

The sequence of courses noted above is delineated for students entering the program with a master's degree in counseling. Students entering with bachelor's degree must also complete the following courses, or the equivalent:

- Couns 710 Counseling Theories and Issues
- Couns 711 Foundations in Career Development
- Couns 714 Essentials of Counseling Practice
- Couns 715 Multicultural Counseling
- Couns 800 Group Counseling Theory
- Couns 774 Fieldwork and 970 Practicum (1 year)
- Ed Psy 624 Educational Statistical Methods I
- Ed Psy 640 Human Development
- Ed Psy 742 Personality Theories and the Educational Process
- Ed Psy 631 Cognition: Learning, Problem Solving, and Thinking

Students entering with a master's degree must also have had these courses, or take them after entering the doctoral program.

Practica

Formal practicum experiences are required of all students, and consist of twelve (12) credits over four consecutive semesters. Students are encouraged to complete 1000 hours of practicum prior to internship. Students entering the program directly from the baccalaureate degree must complete an additional year of practicum (6 credits; Couns 774 and 970) prior to entry into the doctoral level practicum (Couns 975). At least one doctoral practicum site must provide students with experience in working with multicultural populations.

Internship

All Ph.D. students in the Counseling Psychology specialization must complete an internship. The internship occurs on a full-time basis over one year or half-time for two consecutive years. A minimum of 2000 clock hours is required. Students may not begin their internship until after completion of the doctoral preliminary exams and approval of the dissertation proposal.

Preliminary examinations must be successfully completed prior to application for internship. The student may not apply for internship sites unless the prelims have been completed. Dissertation proposals must be successfully defended prior to the uniform notification day; otherwise, students may be requested to withdraw from the selection pool.

The internship is the last phase of the Ph.D. program in Counseling Psychology. It combines previously developed competencies with new competencies gained under the internship. The internship takes place after course work and practica have been completed. The internship begins when the student has displayed proficiency/competency in a set of content areas previously established by the training program as necessary prerequisites for the internship, such as psychological foundations, knowledge of urban and multicultural competencies and research skills. Chronologically, the internship begins when a mutually agreed upon contract is formulated by the intern, university faculty, and internship supervising psychologists. Please see the Internship Manual for more information. Students are strongly encouraged to seek an internship accredited by the American Psychological Association.

Dissertation

Students are required to complete a dissertation on a topic appropriate for counseling psychologists, and related to urban settings. Students may consult the Urban Education Doctoral Program Handbook for more specific information on UEDP and Graduate School guidelines on dissertations. Following completion of formal coursework, students are required to maintain continuous registration, usually in Couns 990, until the dissertation is completed.

PhD Specialization in Educational Psychology

The doctoral specialization in Educational Psychology requires work in Educational Psychology Foundations and advanced work in either one of two curricular areas: Human Learning and Development or Research Methods. Students contemplating applying to the Educational Psychology specialization should contact the appropriate Area Chair of that curricular area (either Research Methods or Learning and Development) prior to completing their application.

Students who wish to change their area of specialization to Educational Psychology after admission to another specialization must seek an advisor in Learning and Development or Research Methods, and must submit a new program of studies for the newly selected area to the Educational Psychology Specialization Committee for approval. When approved, it must also be submitted to the Office of Doctoral Studies for approval by the Director.

In total, doctoral students specializing in Educational Psychology must earn a minimum of 54 credits beyond the Bachelor's level, at least 27 of which must be taken in residence. This is a minimum requirement, and many actual programs exceed this minimum. Up to 12 credits earned prior to admission to the Ph.D. program may be counted toward the required credit total. Students entering the Ph.D. program with a Master's degree may have other courses/requirements waived. However, a minimum of 36 credits (including thesis credits) must be earned following admission to the Ph.D. specialization in Educational Psychology. In addition to course work, the satisfactory completion of preliminary exams and a dissertation are required.

Learning and Development Emphasis

Student pursuing a Ph.D in Urban Education with a specialization in Educational Psychology and concentration in Learning and Development must meet all the requirements of the Ph.D in Urban Education with the Educational Psychology specialization. Students should contact the Learning and Development faculty for a list of courses that are currently available in the area.

PhD/APA Accredited Specialization in School Psychology
Following the established American Psychological Association scientist-practitioner model, the doctoral program prepares school psychologists across a base of theory, practice and research. Professional preparation in school psychology at the UWM provides students with a broad theoretical background, as well as empirically supported clinical skills through didactic, field placement, practica, and internship experiences. The program has a strong urban mission, and is dedicated to increasing knowledge, sensitivity, and awareness of practices best suited for individuals from diverse cultural, ethnic, and economic backgrounds. Principles of biological, psychological, cultural, and sociological sciences are emphasized, in particular applied to urban school, mental health, and educational settings.

Students without a master's degree are accepted at the master's level and fulfill the requirements for a master's degree. These requirements are completion of at least 30 graduate credits and a thesis or publishable paper or an original, independent research project. Upon completion of the master's degree, students advance to the doctoral level. This does not require reapplication. Those who have previously earned a master's degree are admitted at the doctoral level if they have completed a thesis or publishable paper. Those who have not completed a thesis or publishable paper as part of a master's degree must finish this requirement within the first 30 credits of enrollment in the doctoral program.

Acquisition of research skills is an expectation of all doctoral students reflecting the scholarly nature of a Ph.D. Formal course work serves as the initial vehicle through which students acquire research competencies. Course work covering quantitative and qualitative analysis, measurement, methodology and research design are all required. Ongoing involvement on research teams is expected. Doctoral students must have completed a master's thesis or publishable paper, and subsequently a dissertation that represents an original and independent research effort.

With the exception of the Master of Science in Computer Science, the graduate programs offered by the College of Engineering and Applied Science are college-wide programs, and the responsibility for these programs is vested in the graduate faculty of the College operating via an interdepartmental committee, the Graduate Program Subcommittee (GPSC).

The engineering master's program offered by the College is the Master of Science in Engineering.

The program provides breadth by requiring a program of coursework and depth through participation in research or design synthesis. The research or design synthesis effort is documented in a thesis that is presented and defended by the student at the final degree examination. For those with prior engineering/scientific work experience which includes appropriate report writing, the program offers a non-thesis option which requires additional coursework in lieu of thesis.

Since the program does not require a rigid set of courses, each student, in consultation with faculty, has the flexibility to put together a program of study which is compatible with the student's career objectives. The flexibility of customizing the program of study makes the Master of Science in Engineering Program suitable as a terminal degree as well as a stepping stone for doctoral level study.

The master's program in Engineering currently offers eight areas of concentration:

- Civil Engineering
- Electrical and Computer Engineering
- Engineering Mechanics
- Industrial and Management Engineering
- Manufacturing Engineering
- Materials Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Engineering Management (Jointly offered with Business Administration. See MS in Management for more information.)

The Master of Science in Computer Science is a departmental program and is offered by the Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science. The program is designed to provide the student with a broad background in important aspects of computer science. Areas of concentration include software engineering, computer systems, computer networks, data security, and artificial intelligence. The student may prepare for a career in the industrial, business, or government communities, or for doctoral studies.

There are six major areas in the PhD program:

- Civil Engineering
- Computer Science
- Electrical Engineering
- Industrial Engineering
- Materials Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering

In the various programs, there is enough flexibility to allow the student to develop a plan of studies tailored to meet individual needs. Evaluation of the study plan is based on its appropriateness as an engineering or computer science program, the availability within the University of appropriate course offerings, and the availability within the College of a faculty member who is qualified to serve as the student's major professor.

The PhD degree requires a minimum of 66 credits beyond the baccalaureate, including a dissertation. The student must also satisfy a residence requirement.

Students who wish to gain an advanced level professional learning experience with an industrial or government organization may select the internship course (997) subject to approval of the advisor, a participating industrial or government organization and of the GPSC and the CEAS Associate Dean. Internship registration must be for 6 credits and may be used towards fulfilling the residence requirement. Not more than 6 credits of internship registration will be counted toward the degree. Further details are included under the description of the Doctor of Philosophy degree program in this section.

Many of the courses leading towards the various master's degrees and the doctoral degree are offered in the late afternoon or evening; thus students can complete much of their coursework on a part-time basis.

MS/MUP Program

In cooperation with the Department of Urban Planning, the College of Engineering and Applied Science offers a Master of Science in Engineering/Master of Urban Planning program to prepare students for positions in transportation, public works or similar areas. Students in the program will concurrently pursue a Master of Science in Engineering degree and a Master of Urban Planning degree from the School of Architecture and Urban Planning. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree. Candidates seeking admission to the MS/MUP must apply to and be admitted to both programs. The requirements for admission to the Master of Urban Planning degree program are detailed in the Urban Planning section of the Bulletin.

Students are required to meet the College of Engineering and Applied Science requirements for the Master of Science in Engineering degree as well as the requirements for a Master of Urban Planning degree as set by the Department of Urban Planning. Students in the MS/MUP program are required to take 6 credits in the Department of Urban Planning as well as an additional 24 credits of core courses in the Department of Urban Planning. The total credit requirement for the MS/MUP program is 54 credits. Students in the MS/MUP program must also take and pass a comprehensive exam in Urban Planning.

Master of Science in Engineering

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus this College requirement to be considered for admission to the program:

Undergraduate major in engineering, mathematics or a natural science.
Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit.
No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The Graduate School requires that the student have a major professor to advise, supervise, and approve the Program of Study before registering for courses. The College will assign the incoming student to a temporary Program Advisor at the time of admission.

Program of Study
During the first semester or immediately after completion of 9 credits, a student in the Master of Science in Engineering program must select a thesis advisor who will be the student’s major professor. During the first semester the student, in consultation with the program advisor or major professor, develops a program of studies and submits it to the College Graduate Program Subcommittee. To make subsequent changes, the student must petition the Graduate Program Subcommittee prior to pursuing the proposed changes.

Master's Program Committee
The Program Committee is proposed by the major professor in consultation with the department. The Committee is to include at least two members from the major area and at least one from outside the major area.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirements are 24 credits for the thesis option and 30 credits for the non-thesis option as outlined below. The student, in consultation with the major professor, develops a plan of study consistent with the student’s professional interests; this plan has to be approved by the College Graduate Program Subcommittee (GPSC). Of the courses offered in the College only those numbered 400 and above may be taken for graduate credit for this degree. Independent study courses (699 and 999) may be included in the minimum course credit requirements provided GPSC approval has been obtained prior to registration in such courses. Typically no more than three credits of independent study are allowed in the MS Program. Guidelines on acceptable independent study courses are available in the CEAS Graduate Studies Office. A student may not use courses required for a baccalaureate degree for subsequent graduate credit.

Thesis Option. All students are encouraged to undertake the thesis option with the following exception: The Engineering Management area of concentration does not have a thesis option and students enrolled in Engineering Management must meet the criteria for non-thesis option. The degree requires a minimum of 12 credits in an approved technical program of studies, 9 credits of approved electives and 3 credits of thesis. At least 12 credits, not including thesis, must be in courses of 700 level or higher. At least 12 credits, including thesis, must be at UWM. The thesis may be written in absentia provided prior permission has been obtained from the major professor and the Associate Dean for Graduate Studies in the College of Engineering and Applied Science.

Non-Thesis Option. Students with prior or concurrent experience appropriate to their intended program may register for a non-thesis option subject to approval by the College Graduate Program Subcommittee. Students must apply for non-thesis option by the end of the second semester in the program. Student eligibility for the non-thesis option is based upon the evaluation of the student's dossier showing prior or concurrent experience carried out in industry; this evaluation is made by the College Graduate Program Subcommittee. Students majoring in the Engineering Management area of concentration must show the eligibility for the non-thesis option at the time of admission to the program. Students majoring in the Electrical and Computer Engineering area of concentration may be accepted in the non-thesis option without the requirement of the prior or concurrent work experience. Students in this option must undertake a minimum of 30 credits of work of which at least 21 must be in an approved technical program of studies and 9 may be approved electives. At least 15 credits must be of 700 level and above. Students majoring in Materials are not eligible for the non-thesis option.

Comprehensive Examination
Students in both the thesis or non-thesis option must pass a final comprehensive examination partially in defense of the thesis and/or relating to the prior experience shown on the dossier. For students in the Engineering Management area of concentration, successful completion of an approved capstone course may be considered as satisfying the requirement of passing a final comprehensive examination.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Certificate In Ergonomics

Those students who wish to earn the certificate in ergonomics and are not enrolled in a degree program at UWM can be admitted as non-degree graduate students in Engineering provided they meet one of the following requirements:

- A bachelor's or higher degree with a GPA of 2.75 or better in engineering, medicine, industrial hygiene, safety, physical therapy, occupational therapy, nursing, educational psychology, human kinetics.

- A bachelor's or higher degree with a GPA of 2.75 or better with evidence of at least one year of experience in ergonomics and/or occupational health and safety related area.

Admission as a non-degree graduate student in Engineering does not constitute admission to a Master's or a Doctoral degree program in Engineering.

Students wishing to obtain the Certificate in Ergonomics must declare their intentions by applying to the Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering Department prior to completion of two of the seven required courses. Master of Science in Computer Science

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements and one of the following program requirements to be considered for admission:

- Undergraduate major in Computer Science.
- Satisfactory completion of an introductory programming course (such as Comp Sci 152), 6 credits of coursework in Computer Science and Math 231, 232, 233, and Math or Elec Eng 234 or their equivalent. Under exceptional circumstances the Math prerequisites may be reduced to Math 231 and 232 with the approval of the Chair of the Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. The undergraduate/graduate preparation including mathematics equivalent to ElecEng 234 or Math 234, or the made-up deficiencies must be sufficient to assure the Graduate Program Subcommittee that the applicant is able to proceed with advanced work directed toward the doctoral degree.

- A grade point average of 3.0 on the basis of 4.0 in highest degree granted. An applicant with a master's degree in engineering having a GPA of less than 3.0, but at least equal to 2.75, may be admitted if substantial evidence can be submitted demonstrating that the applicant has the capacity to perform satisfactory doctoral work.
- All applicants are required to submit a brief (1 or 2 page) statement describing their professional goals and at least two letters of reference.

Reapplication

A student who receives a master's degree at UWM must formally apply for admission to the Graduate School as a doctoral student before continuing studies which will be credited toward the Doctor of Philosophy in Engineering.

Credits and Courses

The minimum degree requirement is 66 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree. The minimum credit distribution of coursework to be undertaken must be as follows depending on the option selected.

- 21 credits in the major area of concentration
- 9 credits in an approved minor area
- 6 credits in mathematics and/or quantitative methods

OPTION A: (THESIS OPTION)

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 21 credits of coursework and at least 6 credits of thesis (with no more than 4 credits of thesis in one semester). A student must take at least 15 credits of 700 (or higher) level courses. CompSci 704 is a required core course. In addition, the student must have completed the following six courses or their equivalents before the completion of the Master's program: CompSci 215, 217, 458, 535, 536 and 537. (No more than six graduate credits from this list may be applied toward the degree credit requirements).

Thesis

The student must write an acceptable thesis under the supervision of a faculty advisor. A minimum of 6 credits of thesis work, taken over at least 2 semesters, is required. Students who cannot complete their theses within this credit allowance will be required to register for additional thesis work in subsequent semesters until the thesis is completed. Once a student begins a thesis under the supervision of an advisor, the Chair of Computer Science must approve all changes, including a change to a new advisor.

Comprehensive Examination

The student must pass a final comprehensive examination which normally will emphasize the student's thesis work. However, the examination may also cover the student's coursework.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

---

OPTION B: (NON-THESIS OPTION)

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 30 credits with at least 21 credits at the 700 level (or higher). CompSci 704 is a required course. In addition, the student must have completed the following six courses or their equivalents before the completion of the Master's program: CompSci 215, 217, 458, 535, 536 and 537. (No more than six graduate credits from this list may be applied toward the degree credit requirements). As part of the above requirements, the student must complete a capstone project by registering for 3 credits of CompSci 999 under the supervision of a faculty advisor.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Engineering

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these College requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Bachelor's or master's degree in engineering or computer science depending on the program area selected.
- Applicants with BS or MS degrees outside of engineering or computer science may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. The undergraduate/graduate preparation including mathematics equivalent to ElecEng 234 or Math 234, or the made-up deficiencies must be sufficient to assure the Graduate Program Subcommittee that the applicant is able to proceed with advanced work directed toward the doctoral degree.
18 credits of doctoral thesis

12 credits of approved electives

The 6-credit requirement in mathematics and/or quantitative methods may be met by satisfactorily completing certain courses specified by the GPSC or by taking the minor in mathematics. When such courses also count for either the major or the minor area, the remaining credits may be taken as approved electives.

The major area of concentration must be in one of the six areas approved for the PhD degree in the College. These areas are: Civil Engineering, Computer Science, Electrical Engineering, Industrial Engineering, Materials, and Mechanical Engineering. The minor is normally in another area offered in the College or in the physical sciences or mathematics or in management sciences. Consideration of any other area as a minor requires the prior approval of the GPSC.

A minimum of 26 credits, excluding thesis and internship, if applicable, must be at the 700 level or higher.

A minimum of 33 credits, including thesis and internship, when applicable, must be completed while enrolled at UWM in the PhD degree program.

A maximum of 33 credits of coursework can be considered for transfer credits for prior graduate work including a master's degree earned at UWM or elsewhere provided the coursework taken falls within the appropriate areas. Students entering the program without a prior applicable master's degree are limited to a total maximum transfer of 9 credits for courses taken elsewhere. Independent study courses (699 and 999) may be included in the minimum course credit requirements provided GPSC approval has been obtained prior to registration in such course. Typically no more than six credits of independent study are allowed in the Ph.D. Program. Guidelines on acceptable independent study courses are available in the CEAS Graduate Studies Office.

The GPSC may require candidates to complete certain courses as part of the requirement for the specific major or to meet the mathematics and/or quantitative methods requirement.

Major Professor as Advisor
The Graduate School requires that the student must have a major professor to advise, supervise, and approve the program of study before registering for courses. The GPSC will assign the incoming student to a temporary Program Advisor at the time of admission. Prior to the completion of 12 credits (9 credits for part-time students), the student must select a major professor who will be the student's thesis advisor. The student in consultation with the major professor develops a proposed program of studies which is submitted to the Graduate Program Subcommittee for approval. For subsequent changes, the student must file a revised program of study for approval.

Internship Elective
Students interested in undertaking an internship may do so by taking not more or less than 6 credits in course 997. Registration for Internship may be used toward meeting the residence requirements. Not more or less than 6 credits of internship will be counted toward the degree. The internship normally involves a cooperative effort with industry or government agencies where the student is involved actively in advanced professional engineering activities.

Registration in the internship course must be subsequent to passing the Qualifying Examination and submission of an internship proposal outlining the scope and objectives of the activity. The internship proposal must be duly approved by the advisor, the organization where the internship is proposed, the GPSC and the CEAS Associate Dean for Graduate Studies. The College does not guarantee that every student interested in an internship will be placed appropriately. In the absence of suitable placements, students should plan to take other courses to fulfill the degree requirements.

Foreign Language
There is no foreign language requirement for the degree.

Residence
The program residence requirement is satisfied either by completing 8 or more graduate credits in two consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions, or by completing 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions.

Qualifying Examination
A qualifying examination must be taken to determine whether the individual is qualified for doctoral-level work. For students entering with a bachelor's degree, this examination, which will be written, may be taken after 18 credits of graduate work have been earned and must be satisfactorily completed before 30 credits of graduate work have been completed. Students admitted after completion of an appropriate master's degree must complete the examination satisfactorily before 12 credits of coursework have been earned at UWM subsequent to admission to the PhD program.

The examination will be for a given area, but will also include material on basic engineering principles. The examination will normally be offered twice a year during the regular academic year. A student may take the examination twice; if a passing grade is not obtained on the second attempt the applicant will not be permitted to proceed toward the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Doctoral Program Committee
The Program Committee is proposed by the major professor in consultation with the department. The Committee is to include at least five graduate faculty (three from major area, one from minor area, and one from another area). Outside members, particularly for those with internships, are desirable. The majority of the Committee members should be from the student's major field.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
A student is admitted to candidacy only after successful completion of the doctoral preliminary examination conducted by the Program Committee. This examination, which normally is oral, must be taken before the completion of 48 credits of graduate work toward the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Engineering and should be taken within the first seven years in the program. Prior to the examination the student must present a proposal for a doctoral dissertation project. The examination may cover both graduate course material and items related to the proposed dissertation project.

Dissertation
The student must carry out a creative effort in the major area under the supervision of the major professor and report the results in an acceptable dissertation. Registration for dissertation requires successful completion of the doctoral preliminary (Candidacy) examination and prior approval of the student's advisor, the doctoral committee, and the GPSC of a dissertation proposal which outlines the scope of the project, the method of approach, and the goals to be achieved. Any proposal that may involve a financial commitment by the University also must be approved by the Office of the Dean. Total dissertation project registration is for a minimum of 18 credits and any student registering for thesis must continue to register for 3 credits per semester during the academic year until the dissertation is completed.

Dissertation Defense
The final examination, which is oral, consists of a defense of the thesis project. It can only be taken after all coursework and other requirements have been completed.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School PhD requirements, see the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. Applicants should contact the Graduate Program Office for additional information and deadlines.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a Major Professor to advise and supervise the student's work as specified in Graduate School regulations. The coordinator of the student's concentration serves as an initial advisor.

Credits and Courses
Students admitted to the master's program earn the degree by completing a minimum of 24 credits of graduate coursework in English, writing a final project, and passing an oral examination at the conclusion of their coursework.

Although students must enroll initially in one of the five plans of study described below, students who demonstrate a capacity for doctoral work, and wish to earn a PhD at UWM, are advised to proceed as rapidly as possible to doctoral status. Ordinarily students are not allowed to proceed beyond 30 credits without having been admitted to the doctoral program. No more than 27 credits earned at the master's level may be included in the 54 credits required for the PhD.

Regulations concerning final projects and oral examinations

1. Students should consult with their advisors before completing 24 credits to determine a final project. Ordinarily, it is a revised and expanded course or seminar paper of at least 30 pages. The project should demonstrate the student's skills in research, critical analysis, argumentation, and prose style. For students in Plan C (Creative Writing), the project is a substantial portfolio, the exact character of which is determined in consultation with the student's Master of Arts Committee. For students in Plan D (English Language and Linguistics) specializing in Teaching ESL to Adult Learners, the project will consist of some documentation (a paper, a videotape, a set of lesson plans, etc.) of the outcome of the pedagogical investigation undertaken during the student's internship. The project serves both as a concluding effort at the master's level and also as an indication of a student's potential for doctoral study.

2. In consultation with the student, the graduate coordinator appoints an M.A. Examining Committee. At least two of the three members must be English Graduate Faculty. The M.A. Examining Committee administers the final Oral Examination, covering the project and a separate reading list of at least 30 texts, to be selected by the student and approved by the Committee.

3. The project must be submitted and the oral examination completed within one year after the completion of 24 credits. Students should remember that a maximum of 27 credits at the master's level is applicable to the PhD 54 credit requirement.
4. The Examining Committee offers a recommendation regarding the student's qualifications for further graduate study at the doctoral level. The Committee Chair puts this recommendation in writing and places it in the student's academic file.

5. Students who fail the oral examination may be required to revise their final project, retake the examination, or both. The oral examination may be retaken only once. No additional credits may be earned for the revision of the project after a failed examination. For further information regarding the M.A. project and examination, see the English Graduate Program Handbook.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Admission
Students in the UWM Master of Arts degree program in English may apply to the Department of English Graduate Policy Committee for admission to one of the six doctoral concentrations. Admission must be recommended by three members of the Graduate Faculty.

An application for admission also must be submitted to the Graduate School. Admission to the Creative Writing doctoral concentration must be approved by the Creative Writing Advisory Committee before Graduate Policy Committee consideration.

Applicants with master's degrees from other institutions are evaluated on the basis of standard application materials: GPA, GRE scores, statement of purpose, three supporting letters, and a sample of expository prose. Such applicants are admitted to doctoral study provisionally and are required to complete an Academic Review within six weeks of finishing 12 credits.

The Academic Review is a one- to two-hour meeting with three faculty members of the English Graduate Faculty. At least two members come from the student's concentration. The Review covers the student's academic progress in doctoral coursework, two unrevised course papers, and a list of 20-25 books chosen by the student in consultation with the reviewers. See the English Graduate Program Handbook for further details regarding the Academic Review. Applicants should contact the Graduate Program Office for additional information and deadlines.

Credits and Courses
The Ph.D. program requires 54 credits beyond the B.A., including no more than 27 credits earned at the master's level. Course distribution requirements vary according to the doctoral concentration a student enters.

Doctoral Concentration
Students applying to the English doctoral program must indicate their preference for one of the following doctoral concentrations: Literary Studies; Rhetoric and Composition; Creative Writing; Linguistics; Modern Studies; Professional Writing. The Coordinator of Graduate Studies and a Program Coordinator for each concentration provide initial advising for the student in course enrollment and in selecting a Major Professor for long-term advising. Although a continuing doctoral student can change concentrations, such changes require approval by the Coordinator of the new concentration and the Coordinator of Graduate Studies, and may require a substantial amount of additional coursework.

Because course requirements change frequently, students should regularly consult with Program Coordinators or the Coordinator of Graduate Studies regarding doctoral concentration requirements. The following listings reflect current curricular requirements:

General Restrictions
Doctoral students may not accumulate more than 12 credits in U/G courses and not more than 6 credits in independent study without the approval of the Coordinator of Graduate Studies. No more than 18 credits may be taken in courses outside the Department. Note: for doctoral students in the Linguistics concentration, the maximums are 24 credits in U/G courses, 6 credits of independent study, and 27 credits outside the Department.

Advising
Students are required to consult periodically with their Major Professor. The Major Professor helps the student to define an area of special interest within the concentration for the preliminary examination. The Major Professor also assists the student in the selection of appropriate coursework and may chair the Preliminary Examination Committee.

Foreign Language Requirement
All Ph.D. candidates are required to demonstrate proficiency (reading knowledge) in a foreign language. The choice of a language must be approved by the student's advisor. If a student has not met this requirement in other ways (see English Graduate Program Handbook), a student must pass a two-hour written examination in the translation of a piece of literature or criticism. A student may use a dictionary and/or grammar book. The exam must be arranged in advance with the Coordinator of Graduate Studies and must be taken before the preliminary examination. If a student’s Major Professor considers proficiency in more than one language necessary to the student's specific plan of study, exams in more than one language may be required. The exam may be retaken until proficiency is attained.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The doctoral preliminary examination consists of a written examination and an oral examination designed to demonstrate the breadth of a student’s knowledge and the ability to conduct advanced research in one or more areas of study. The written and oral examinations draw from field bibliographies with rationale (500 word maximum) prepared by the student and approved by the student's preliminary examination committee and the advisory committee of the student's plan. The written examination must be at least eight hours long, and it is frequently taken as a two-day, take-home, open book exam. It may be taken at the University or at home, if the committee agrees on the location. An oral exam of two hours covering issues raised during the written exam and/or focusing on the proposed dissertation must follow the written exam within 7-10 days.

Students take the preliminary exam after completing all doctoral course work or with no more than three credits of doctoral course work remaining. Students cannot take the exam if they have any incomplete or unreported grades or a GPA less than 3.0. The exam must be finished within one semester after all course work is completed, excluding summer session. Students may receive a one semester extension for additional course work from the Coordinator of Graduate Studies. Students who fail the preliminary examination may not proceed to the dissertation. The exam may be retaken only once. See the English Graduate Program Handbook or the Coordinator of Graduate Studies for specific guidelines for governing the preliminary examination process. Students enrolled in the doctoral program as of September 2000 should consult the Coordinator of Graduate Studies as to their options under these rules or the previous preliminary examination rules.

Dissertation
The dissertation topic, together with a brief prospectus, must be approved by the Graduate Policy Committee. The student’s major professor or a member of the dissertation committee must present the topic and prospectus to the Graduate Policy Committee. See the Coordinator of Graduate Studies and the English Graduate Program Handbook for specific guidelines for selecting a doctoral committee and preparing the dissertation proposal. The Department considers 200 pages a reasonable length for the dissertation.

Dissertation Defense
The completed dissertation is subject to an oral defense, to be arranged by the Coordinator according to Graduate School regulations. A copy of the dissertation is kept in the Department office.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School PhD requirements, see the PhD chapter of the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

Master of Arts in Foreign Language and Literature

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these program requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- An undergraduate major in a foreign language, linguistics, or comparative literature equivalent to such a major at UWM or a combination of courses considered by the Coordinating Committee as adequate preparation for graduate study in the major language/literature or linguistics. Superior knowledge of at least one foreign language.
- Minimum GPA of 3.0 in the undergraduate major (or equivalent) in the foreign language, linguistics, or comparative literature.
- Submission of three letters of recommendation supporting application.

- Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements by the end of the first full semester of enrollment. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations.

The Coordinating Committee assigns the incoming student an initial advisor who assists the student in assessing competencies, interests and needs, and in establishing a tentative plan of study. On the basis of the plan of study and in consultation with the student, the initial advisor recommends an Advisory Committee to the Coordinating Committee; no more than two of the three members of this committee may be from the same department. At the time when the Coordinating Committee appoints the Advisory Committee, the Coordinating Committee also approves the student's plan of study. After the student satisfactorily completes 12 credits, the initial plan of study is reviewed and at this time the student may request changes in the Advisory Committee.

Credits and Courses
No credits carrying a grade below B- may be counted toward meeting the MAFLL degree requirement of 30 credits.

Standard Track:
Thirty graduate credits are required, 6 of which must be in core seminars in the Foreign Language and Literature curricular area with the remaining 24 selected from any graduate courses in the comparative literature, foreign language, and linguistics areas appropriate to the student's objectives. The student develops a program of study in consultation with the major professor and the other two members of the Advisory Committee. The program normally includes two core seminars as foundations in basic aspects of languages and literatures, up to three interdisciplinary courses to give the program breadth, five to eight courses in an area of language, literature, or linguistics to permit concentration in the student's major area of interest.

Translation Track
Thirty graduate credits are required, at least 15 at the 700 level or above, distributed as indicated below. Students may not count credits earned as advanced undergraduates in the Translation Certificate Program toward the MAFLL degree. Admission is based in part on a qualifying examination administered by the coordinator and the appropriate member of the translation program coordinating committee.

REQUIRED PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE:
MAFLL 730 Translation Internship, 3 cr

Since Graduate School regulations allow the transfer of only 12 non-degree graduate credits to a master's program, students are advised to apply for degree candidacy in the MAFLL program before completion of 12 credits of course work.

Thesis
Up to a maximum of 6 graduate credits may be earned by presentation of a satisfactory thesis.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a comprehensive examination which has both a written and an oral component. If the student fails the examination, it may be repeated once, but no sooner than three
MAFLL/MLIS Coordinated Degree Program

In cooperation with the School of Information Studies, MAFLL offers a MAFLL/MLIS program to prepare students for specialized positions in libraries. Students enrolled in this program will concurrently pursue a MA degree in Foreign Language and Literature and a MLIS degree. Candidates for the coordinated degree program will be expected to fulfill the degree requirements of both graduate programs. Degrees will be awarded simultaneously.

Certificate in Translation

The Certificate in Translation offers professional training to students in French, German and Spanish who wish to pursue careers in translation or in areas of government or business requiring professional use of a foreign language.

Students who wish to earn the Certificate must hold a bachelor's degree and must have earned a 2.75 GPA overall or must furnish substantial evidence of ability to succeed in graduate level work. They may apply to the Graduate School as candidates for the Translation Certificate in non-degree status or they may pursue the Certificate while enrolled in another graduate program. Certificate coursework may be applied toward an MA degree in the MAFLL Program. Required foundation coursework may be taken either at the undergraduate or graduate level, but no work taken at the undergraduate level may count toward the MA degree.

A degree in the foreign language of concentration, or advanced study in that area, is desirable. In addition, admission to the program is based in part on results of a proficiency examination, administered by the Program coordinator and the appropriate member of the Advisory Committee. Following standard translation practice, students will translate a text from their second language into their native language.

Program Requirements

Students must complete 12 credits of foundation courses (as U or G) and 12 credits of graduate credits in required certificate courses. Students must earn an overall GPA of 3.0 or better in the 12 credits of certificate courses and an overall 3.0 GPA in foundation courses (both U and G) and certificate courses combined.

Foundation Courses, 12 credits

These courses serve as necessary background to pursuing the Certificate. They may be taken at either the undergraduate or the graduate level. If taken at the graduate level, they will count in the Certificate GPA.

a) Language-Specific Courses (9 credits)

Students wanting certification in more than one language must take the language-specific courses for all languages in which they are seeking certification. The certificate may be earned in other languages, depending upon the availability of faculty for language-specific independent study and approval of the coordinator.

MA Option in MAFLL:

The Certificate Program in Translation includes 12-15 credits in U/G courses and 9-12 credits in G-only courses. Certificate students who have taken all 24 credits for the certificate (12 credits in foundations, 12 credits in program requirements) for G credit and who have been accepted into the MAFLL Program can earn an MA with a concentration in French, German, or Spanish translation by completing 6 additional credits and passing a comprehensive examination. Fifteen credits in G-only courses are required for an MA in the MAFLL program (30 credits total). For the MA, the following additional courses are required:

- CompLit 820: Translation Theory

Since Graduate School regulations allow the transfer of only 12 non-degree graduate credits to a master's program, students are advised to apply for degree candidacy in the MAFLL program before completion of 12 credits of coursework toward the Certificate.

The Department of Geography offers master's programs of study across a range of systematic, regional, and technical fields, and an innovative Ph.D. program focused on the urban environment. The department's strengths lie in three areas of expertise that are incorporated into the programs at both master's and Ph.D. levels. These areas are:

- Urban Development. This area primarily emphasizes the role of economic systems as well as cultural and social forces that shape the landscape and dynamics of urban areas. Courses examine such issues as urban growth and change, race and ethnicity in the city, cultural and physical aspects of urban planning process, and the geography of urban political decision-making.

- Physical Geography and Environmental Studies. This area addresses the interactions among natural forms and processes on the earth's surface and human connections with those natural phenomena. Course work in this general area discusses the distribution and analysis of earth surface landforms and processes (geomorphology), soils (pedology), plants and animals (biogeography) and long-term atmospheric patterns (climatology). Emphasis is placed on the relationship between the physical environment and people, incorporating studies of, for example, natural hazards, conservation, and environmental change, and paying particular attention to the manifestations of these relationships and processes in the urban environment.

- International Interests: Department faculty members have varied international interests and experience, for example, in Africa, Canada, the Caribbean, China, Latin America, South Asia, and Western Europe. In addition to these departmental strengths, individual faculty members apply their expertise in topics such as remote sensing, GIS, and cartography to problems of the city.

While the master's program offers a more traditional structure within which students can strengthen their knowledge of the discipline and one or more of its subfields, the department's unique Ph.D. program is designed to be especially attractive to forward-looking students interested in the urban environment who seek a flexible, versatile, 21st century graduate education with a strong emphasis on interdisciplinarity. The Ph.D. program's urban-environmental theme is inclusive and encompassing of processes and problems associated with the intersection of human and natural environments, strongly focused on "the city" as the entity of engagement. The program breaks with longstanding tradition in the field of geography in stressing a balance between specialized analytical research and synthetic research, between traditional academic research and community engagement, and between research and teaching. It relies heavily on Geographic Information Science (GIS) as a research tool and as an organizing framework.

Facilities and Resources

The University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee is the repository of the venerable American Geographical Society Library, an internationally renowned research resource. The Department of Geography boasts a large instructional Map Collection, which functions as a federal government depository for maps; and a Soils and Physical Geography Laboratory, which supports research projects among several UWM departments.

Microcomputer facilities used by the Geography Department for instruction include two PC/WINDOWS workstation labs. Software installed in these labs includes geographic information systems, remote sensing, mapping, illustration, photo editing, desktop publishing, statistical, database management, and word processing packages. Several university DEC Alphas, other microcomputer laboratories, and multimedia facilities also are available for graduate student research.

Other research resources at UWM available to the Geography Department staff and students include the Cartography and GIS Center, the Great Lakes WATER Institute, the Center for Urban Initiatives and Research, the Center for Latin America, the Center for International Education, the Center for Urban Transportation Studies, the Center for Women's Studies, the Institute for Survey and Policy Research, and the Information and Media Technologies Division.

MA/MLIS Coordinated Degree Program

In cooperation with the School of Information Studies, the Department of Geography offers an MA/MLIS coordinated program to prepare students for positions as map librarians. Students in the program will pursue concurrently a Master of Arts in Geography degree program and a Master of Library and Information Science.
degree program, with an emphasis on Map Librarianship. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree.

For students in this program, all requirements and standards of the Geography concentration are exactly as described in this section of this Bulletin, with the single exception that Library Science 683, Cartographic Resources in Libraries, counts as one of the required seminars.
For more information on this program, see the Library and Information Science section of this Bulletin.

Master of Arts/Master of Science in Geography

The MA normally is awarded to those who concentrate in cultural or human geography, whereas the MS is awarded to those who concentrate in physical geography. Students must elect to pursue either the MA or MS option during their first semester in the program. A minimum of 6 credits in physical geography or natural science courses appropriate to the student's area of study are required for the MS.
Students may also elect to complete their degree through either a thesis or non-thesis track.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Evidence of general intellectual ability and compelling interest in geography.
  An undergraduate major in geography is desirable as evidence of such ability and interest but is not required. Past coursework will be compared to the core requirements of the UWM Geography bachelor's degree in order to determine any deficiencies that need to be satisfied as a condition of acceptance.

- Submission to the Geography department of three letters of recommendation supporting application.

- Submission of recent GRE scores.

- Departmental approval, based on thorough evaluation of applicant's potential for professional development.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The Chair of the Graduate Student Administrative Committee is a temporary advisor; within the first semester the student selects an advisor in the student's specialization.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits with an average GPA of 3.0. The student, in consultation with the advisor, plans a program of studies to include 4 credits in Geography 525 (Geographic Information Science); 3 credits in Geography 547 (Spatial Analysis); 3 credits in Geography 810 (Introduction to Techniques of Research and Presentation); 3 credits in Geography 870 (Contemporary Geographic Approaches); and 9 credits in graduate level (700 and above) courses approved by the student's advisor (at least 3 of these credits must be in one Geography 900-level course). The student also must attend Geography colloquia regularly while in residence and must present her/his thesis research at a departmental colloquium.

Thesis Track

The student, through the advisor, must present a proposed thesis topic and Advisory Committee to the Graduate Faculty of the Department for its approval. For students electing the MS option, the Faculty will also judge the appropriateness of the thesis topic for that degree. The student must then write a thesis acceptable to the major professor for presentation to the Advisory Committee (two faculty in addition to the advisor). The defense date for the thesis must be set at least two weeks prior to the Graduate School deadline for completion of all work. The thesis must be approved by the advisor and delivered to the committee at least six weeks prior to the defense date. Students must submit the thesis to the advisor in sufficient time to meet the committee deadlines. Exceptions to these deadlines under unusual circumstances must be approved unanimously by the student's committee.

In addition to submission of the final thesis to the Graduate School (according to its required procedure), the candidate must present the Geography Department with a professionally hand-bound copy that meets Graduate School specifications for quality. This copy will remain on file in the department.

Non-Thesis Track

This track is intended for students who are not interested in continuing their graduate education beyond the Master's, and plan to seek professional employment. The MA degree will normally be awarded upon completion of this track. Those who wish a MS degree must formally petition the Graduate Faculty in writing, providing a rationale as to why that degree is appropriate to their program. The student must complete 3 credits of graduate work (approved by the student's advisor) as either:

a. two (15 page/3750 word minimum) research papers (Geog 999) or

b. a graduate internship (Geog 698 or Geog 889)

Comprehensive Examination

In combination with the thesis defense (or after completion of the work for the non-thesis track), the student must pass a final oral examination over the field of geography, administered by the student's Advisory Committee. Scheduling this examination during the summer is not permitted except under unusual academic circumstances and with the approval of the department faculty.

Time Limit

This program is designed to be completed in two years of full-time attendance. The Graduate School requires that all degree requirements be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Geography

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements to be considered for admission to the program. Students from a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds may be admitted. They must present the following credentials:

- Master's degree.
- Statement of interest in the program.
- Substantial evidence of scholarly potential and commitment.
- Three letters of recommendation,
  submitted to the Geography Department.
- Recent (within five years) GRE scores.

In some instances where the applicant's record demonstrates exceptional promise, the Department will consider applications for admission to the Ph.D. program directly from a BA/BS degree. Such admission does not constitute a waiver of any of the requirements indicated below.

The Graduate Program Committee, during the admission process, will evaluate an applicant's academic background and will assign deficiencies based on a comparison of his/her background and the proposed specific area of study as outlined in the student's statement of interest. In general, the department seeks students with: (a) potential for planning and successfully completing an independent scientific research project, as evidenced by a master's thesis and/or other appropriate materials; (b) basic statistical analysis skills; (c) interest and/or ability in evaluating problems related to the urban environment with a spatial framework; and (d) interest in examining research questions within a multi-disciplinary (human/physical) team environment.

Reapplication
A student who receives the master's degree from UWM must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D.

Major Advisor and Committee
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations; the student may not register for any courses without that advisor's prior approval. The Chair of the Graduate Student Administrative Committee is a temporary advisor; within the first semester the student selects an advisor within the area of specialization. Each student, preferably after completion of the first year of study, also will select four additional members of the faculty/qualified professions to form his/her advisory committee. A majority of the committee members must be core geography faculty members. Affiliated faculty members from other departments may serve as major advisors.

Graduate Student Orientation
All new students are expected to participate in the department orientation program, offered during the week prior to the start of fall classes. If a student enters the program in the spring, s/he must participate in this program during the subsequent fall semester. New students will be paired with an experienced student mentor during their first year. Instructional opportunities sponsored by the Center for Instruction and Professional Development (CIPD) and the Preparing Future Faculty (PFF) initiative will be offered to all teaching assistants and other interested students enrolled in the doctoral program.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM with a minimum GPA of 3.0.

Under the guidance of the advisory committee, the chair of which serves as the student's major professor, the student plans a program of study leading to the development of a special interest. - Geog 7xx Land Use Analysis (under development)
- Geosci 730 Modeling Techniques for Hydrogeology
- UrbPlan 721 Cities and Regions: Planning Analysis
- UrbStd 725 Methods of Urban Community Development

Practicum (one course)
Students must complete Geog 885 Practicum, a collaborative experience in which students apply accumulated theoretical and analytical skills to practical problems. Ideally, student should enroll in the practicum after their first full year of courses, but no later than their fourth semester, after they have completed the majority of CORE requirements. The practicum may take one of the following two forms:

- An applied research experience involving community-based problem solving
- The development of educational curricula and/or instructional outreach materials on topics pertaining to urban environmental sustainability.

Foreign Language Requirement
If appropriate to the proposed area of study, the student's committee will require that s/he acquire the necessary competence in a foreign language. The major professor will supervise the completion of this requirement with input from the committee as necessary.

Elective Courses
Courses taken from geography or cognate fields to achieve the total of 54 credits required for the Ph.D. degree. Students must have the approval of their advisors for the elective courses.

Dissertation
The candidate must write an acceptable dissertation that demonstrates formulation, design, and independent execution of a significant research project. The dissertation must make an original contribution to knowledge in the field of geography. It may focus on geographical theory, methodology, data, or analysis, or it may involve collaborative approaches, interdisciplinary syntheses, and integrative solutions appropriate to the focus of the student's graduate program of study.

Portfolio Evaluation
By the end of the first full academic year in the program, each student will undergo a formal portfolio evaluation by the members of the faculty in order to determine the student's readiness to continue in the program. This evaluation will include inspection of all written work produced in courses, commentary by relevant instructors, and any other materials the student chooses to submit. The possible outcomes of this review will be: (a) PASS (student continues with the normal second year of their program); (b) FAIL (student is recommended for academic dismissal); or (c) PROBATION (student is counseled to take specific courses or other actions to achieve the necessary readiness to continue in the program). In the case of a recommendation of Probation, the student will be re-evaluated after an additional semester. If this second review does not result in a decision to PASS, the student will be recommended for academic dismissal.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements of one continuous academic year of full-time graduate studies at UWM. This can be satisfied by completing 8 to 12 graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, or 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. Residence credit cannot be earned at the master's level or before the master's degree is awarded.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
Each student will undergo a comprehensive written and oral examination by the end of his/her sixth semester in the program. The student's committee, advisor, and proposed dissertation topic must be approved formally by the Geography departmental faculty prior to the scheduling of these exams. A Proposed PhD Program/Plan of Study must be filed with the major professor prior to the preliminary examination. Successful completion of these exams leads to candidacy, when work on the dissertation can commence.

The student's advisor, as chair of the advisory committee, will organize and administer the examination. The content of the examination will be determined by the area of the student's interest. The scope of the examination will be determined by the student's advisory committee. A student judged qualified by the majority of the five-member advisory committee will be admitted to candidacy. A student judged not qualified by the majority of the advisory committee will not be admitted to candidacy at the time of the examination but will be given an opportunity to retake the examination once, after a waiting period of at least one semester. At the discretion of the advisory committee, the second examination will be either a complete reexamination or a partial examination over the parts in which the student failed to qualify. A student receiving a negative vote of the advisory committee after the second examination will be recommended for academic dismissal. The student will be informed of the reasons for failure to qualify.

Presentations
Each student must make two presentations at department colloquia. The first presentation will be scheduled early in the student's program; it is designed to give the student experience in making formal presentations. The second presentation will communicate the student's dissertation research topic and preliminary results.

Dissertation
As mentioned above, the candidate must write an acceptable dissertation. The defense date for the dissertation must be set at least two weeks prior to the Graduate School deadline. The dissertation must be approved by the major professor and delivered to the student's advisory committee at least six weeks prior to the defense date. A student must submit the dissertation to the advisor in sufficient time to meet the committee's deadline. Exceptions to these deadlines under unusual circumstances must be approved unanimously by the student's committee.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, defend the dissertation before the advisory committee. If the candidate passes the defense, the advisory committee will recommend to the Graduate School that a degree of Doctor of Philosophy be conferred.

Submission of Completed Dissertation
In addition to submission of the final dissertation to the Graduate School (according to its required procedure), the candidate must present to the Geography Department a professionally hard-bound copy that meets Graduate School specifications for quality. This copy will remain on file in the department.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School Ph.D. requirements, see the Ph.D. section of the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

Special Issues for Directly Admitted Students
Students directly admitted to the doctoral program after completion of their bachelor's degree will not earn a master's degree during the course of their studies. Further, formal doctoral status (which affects stipend rates and the ability to fulfill the residency requirement) will not be granted until the student has completed 24 credits in the program. Lastly, no more than 12 dissertation credits can be used to satisfy the 54-credit doctoral degree requirement.

For additional information on Graduate School Ph.D. requirements, see the Doctoral Student and Advisor Handbook.

Cross-listed Courses

The following courses may be used to fill certain
The Department of Geosciences offers graduate work emphasizing applied aspects of the hydrologic, geological, and geophysical sciences. The geological sciences concentration prepares students for careers in such areas as engineering and environmental geology, hydrogeology, geophysical exploration, mining and petroleum geology.

The MS degree program trains students equally for professional practice and continued graduate study. The typical course of study takes two years to complete. The PhD degree program, with interwoven components in lithospheric and hydrospheric science, is problem oriented rather than specialty oriented: this program is designed to produce scholars and practitioners capable of applying their training to achieve sound and pragmatic solutions to real problems in the earth sciences. Students in the doctoral program will normally spend a minimum of two years of formal course work, not including dissertation research.

The Department has a variety of geological and geophysical field equipment including a drill rig, portable water sampling and analytical systems, and marine and land-based seismic and electrical resistivity systems. In addition, the Department maintains the following equipment directly or through its association with the UWM Center for Great Lakes Studies: x-ray diffractometer and spectrometer, atomic absorption unit, gas and ion chromatographs, liquid scintillation counter, cold region environmental chambers, operating well field, seismograph, Paleomagnetics laboratory, and recirculating flume.

Supporting facilities in the University include a computing center, scanning electron microscope, a cartographic laboratory, the Saukville Field Station 50 km north of the campus, the Center for Great Lakes Studies, and the Urban Research Center.

The Department also maintains the extensive geological collections of the Greene Geological Gallery and cooperates actively with the Milwaukee County Public Museum.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Undergraduate preparation consisting of one year each of: college chemistry, college physics, and calculus; one summer of field training in geology for students majoring in geology.
- Undergraduate grade point average of 3.0 (4.0 scale).
- Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (General Test).

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. A geology student who lacks field training must acquire the training not later than the summer following initial enrollment.
Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The student is assigned a temporary advisor at the time of initial enrollment and requests a faculty member to serve as the thesis advisor after selecting an area of specialization.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits, at least 24 of which must be earned in formal course credits and up to 6 of which may be earned through an acceptable thesis. A graduate student is allowed to register for a maximum of nine 990 research credits, no more than 6 of which may be counted toward the 30-credit requirement.

All students in their second or later year are required to present a progress report annually to the Department.

Proposal for Thesis
Prior to the formal undertaking of thesis research, the student must prepare a written proposal for the thesis problem including an estimate of costs to be incurred. Copies of the proposal are to be distributed to the faculty advisor and the Department reading file. One copy is to be placed in the student's permanent Department file. An abstract of the proposal is to be distributed to each Department faculty member for comment and criticism.

Thesis
The student must write an acceptable thesis embodying the results of original research completed under the direction of the advisor.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a comprehensive examination, either oral or written or both. In part a defense of the thesis, the examination covers the student's entire graduate program of studies. At the option of the student, the part of the examination consisting of the presentation of the results of thesis research may be open to other graduate students.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Geosciences

Admission
To be considered for admission to the program, an applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following program requirements:

- Hold a master's degree in one of the natural sciences, engineering, or mathematics or have equivalent experience, and

A student who holds a master's degree from UWM must formally reapply for admission to The Graduate School before continuing studies toward the Ph.D.

Course of Study
Doctoral students must earn 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, of which 24 credits may be taken from formal course-work completed as part of the master's study. At least 21 graduate credits beyond the master's degree must be earned in formal coursework. Coursework must include at least 8 graduate credits in courses taken outside of the Department in areas relevant to the student's research interests; these minor courses are selected in consultation with the student's advisor. Students are strongly advised to take courses from each of their committee members prior to taking the doctoral preliminary examination. An assessment of the student's complete course needs will be made during the first semester of study.

Quantitative Skill
A working knowledge of a computer programming language and statistics appropriate to the student's field of study is required. Undergraduate courses taken to meet this requirement may not be used to fulfill the Department's minor requirements.

Doctoral Committee
Prior to the doctoral preliminary examination, the membership of the Doctoral Committee must be established. The Committee must consist of the following: the doctoral student's advisor as chair (or co-advisors as co-chairs); at least three additional graduate faculty from the Geosciences Department; and at least one member from one of the student's minor departments. The student is required to meet with the Doctoral Committee at least once each year.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The doctoral preliminary examination is administered in two parts: a series of written exams and an oral exam. The written and oral exams are taken after the residency requirement is fulfilled. The dissertation proposal shall be defended within one semester of completion of the written and oral exams. Students who successfully pass all three elements of the doctoral preliminary examination are admitted to doctoral dissertation status.

Annual Presentation of Results
Each dissertation is required to make a 30-minute presentation of research results at a Geosciences Colloquium each year. Dissertations are also required to make a 50-minute colloquium presentation of the results of the completed doctoral research prior to the dissertation defense.

Dissertation
The candidate must present a written dissertation reporting in the student's own style the results of independent, original research carried out under the direction of the major professor.

The dissertation must be reviewed by a Reading Committee consisting of the major professor and at least two other members of the dissertation committee. Information regarding dissertation deadlines, preparation, and review of the dissertation is available from the Student Services Office of The Graduate School.

Dissertation Defense
The defense consists of (1) the dissertation defense, and (2) may include questions related to the dissertator's major and minor fields of study. If the dissertation is defended and the oral examination is passed to the satisfaction of at least three-quarters of the Doctoral Committee, the candidate is passed and recommended for the degree.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

Additional Requirements and Information
Detailed information about program requirements is provided to each student following admission and is available from the Department office. For additional information on Graduate School Ph.D. requirements, see the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook or the Doctoral Student and Advisor Manual, available in Mitchell 261.

Doctor of Philosophy with an Interdisciplinary Specialization in Biogeochemistry
Under the auspices of the doctoral programs in Chemistry, Biological Sciences, and Geosciences and the research program of the Center for Great Lakes Studies, the Department of Geosciences offers doctoral training with an interdisciplinary specialization in Biogeochemistry. This specialization provides a multi-disciplinary graduate degree program within the broad field of environmental and aquatic science.

Admission
Prospective students wishing to specialize in Biogeochemistry must first be admitted to the Department of Geosciences Doctoral Program. Admission to the Interdisciplinary Specialization is determined by the Interdisciplinary Biogeochemistry Specialization Committee consisting of representatives from the participating departments and the Center for Great Lakes Studies. In addition to meeting departmental admission requirements, students are expected to have an undergraduate degree in geosciences or a closely related field and to have completed at the college level, at least two semesters of calculus, one semester of statistics, two years of chemistry and one year of physics. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for admission to the Ph.D. program.
Major Advisor and Research Committee

Entering students are assigned a temporary major professor to advise and supervise their studies. No later than the end of the third semester, students in this specialization are required to choose a permanent major advisor to direct their doctoral research and to form a graduate thesis research committee consisting of graduate faculty from the Departments of Biological Sciences, Chemistry, Geosciences and the Center for Great Lakes Studies.

Course of Study

All doctoral students are required to earn a minimum of 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. The curriculum of the Interdisciplinary Specialization includes a required Biogeochemistry Core course taken in the first year of graduate study, an annual seminar course requirement, and individualized course requirements selected by the student's graduate thesis research committee from a wide variety of course offerings in the sciences and related fields, based upon the student's background and doctoral research topic. At the end of the first year, students must pass a written qualifying examination based upon core course materials and their departmental major in order to continue in the Biogeochemistry Specialization.

Students are expected to pursue a program of highly original, interdisciplinary research in the broad field of environmental science, which synthesizes the linkages among the physical, chemical and biological components of the natural world. In addition to course work and research, students in the Interdisciplinary Specialization are required to obtain at least one semester of teaching experience as a teaching assistant in one of the natural science departments, and participate in local community outreach through presentations, instruction, or interactions with local secondary schools, or other community involvement related to environmental issues. All students are required to obtain field experience as an integral part of their training program, e.g. through field research activities here or abroad, participation in sea-going research cruises, etc.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination

In order to advance to candidacy for the Ph.D. degree, students must pass a written and oral doctoral preliminary examination, no later than at the end of their second year, demonstrating a comprehensive knowledge in the field of biogeochemistry and their own chosen area of specialization. Upon completion of their research, students must prepare and defend a dissertation, reporting the results of their research in a public forum.

Further Information

Admission, general program requirements, and additional information on degree and research opportunities can be obtained from the departmental office or from the UWM Center for Great Lakes Studies.

Course of Study
To earn the Ph.D., a student must have accumulated at least 54 graduate credits, at least 30 of them taken at the post-master's level. (Precise numbers of credits and actual course requirements while in Ph.D. status will be determined after a review of the applicant's previous coursework.) Doctoral students may not accumulate more than 6 credits in U/G courses, nor more than 6 credits in independent study without the approval of the Director of Graduate Studies. Of the 54 credits, at least 9 must be in fields other than History. No more than 18 credits in courses outside of History may be counted toward the doctoral degree.

Doctoral Concentration
Students applying to the History doctoral program must indicate their preference for one of the following doctoral concentrations: Modern Studies, Global History, Urban History. A doctoral student may change concentrations after admission only with the approval of the Director of Graduate Studies. The following list of courses includes those taken at both the master's and doctoral level; with the approval of the Director of Graduate Studies, some of these requirements may be met by work from previous institutions.

Courses Required For All Concentrations
All students must take three methods courses at the 700 level. Those currently offered include:

- History 712 Historiography and Theory of History, 3 credits
- History 713 Historical Research Methods, 3 credits
- History 716 Professional and Pedagogical Issues in History, 3 credits
- History 717 History and the New Media, 3 credits

All students must also take History 980, Dissertation Research (6 credits minimum), and 12 credits of electives (may include additional dissertation credits).

Modern Studies Concentration
Modern Studies focuses on the modern period of world history and on the application of current theoretical and interdisciplinary perspectives for the study of the modern period and of “modernity” itself. Typically, scholarship in this category may appropriate concepts and methodologies from other academic fields, and may involve literary theory, feminism and gender critique, traditions of the avant-garde, cultural studies, Marxism, neoconservatism, modern and postmodern art and architecture, film, media studies, and theories of post-industrial society. Students in the Modern Studies concentration are encouraged to participate in the university's Center for 21st Century Studies and its thematic programs that explore contemporary cultural and social phenomena, and to consider taking elective courses in the English Department's Modern Studies Concentration.

Those choosing this concentration must take English/History/MAFLL 740 or 741, Backgrounds of Modernism I or II (3 credits), and colloquia and seminars in modern history, and other appropriate seminars and colloquia in Modern Studies and related disciplines (21 credits).

Global History Concentration
Global history focuses on the study of phenomena that transcend single nations or regions, including the environment, religion, ideology, labor, migration/diaspora, war, peace, industrialization, colonialism and imperialism, social movements and political conflicts, slavery, class, women, gender, science and technology, popular culture, trade and finance, demography, politics, nationalism, and international relations. Students in Global History may emphasize African, Asian, European, Latin American, Middle Eastern, or United States history in a global context, analyzing historical issues within localities, regions, and nation-states, or concentrate on transnational dynamics and phenomena. In their inquiries, they will often cross geographic, disciplinary and conceptional boundaries, question or perhaps challenge existing regional or chronological frameworks, and develop new approaches to understanding global developments and interactions.

Those choosing this concentration must take History 839, Approaches to Global History (3 credits), and colloquia and seminars in Global History, and other appropriate seminars and colloquia in history and related disciplines (21 credits).

Urban History Concentration
Urban history is the study of urban areas, including cities, suburbs, and metropolitan regions around the world and throughout recorded human existence. Students of urban history examine all aspects of urban life. They study how the physical landscapes and social structures of urban areas have been produced and have changed over time. They examine how people respond to the problems and opportunities that arise in urban contexts, and they study the cultural activities that take place in urban areas. The evidence and sources on which urban historians draw are diverse. They include quantitative documents produced by government and other research entities; the records of the proceedings of municipal entities, voluntary, religious and political organizations; manuscript collections from private organizations and individuals, oral interviews, and reports from the media such as newspaper collections.

Those choosing this concentration must take History/Urban Studies 980, Growth of Urban Society (3 credits), and colloquia and seminars in Urban History, and other appropriate seminars and colloquia in History and related disciplines (21 credits).

Advising
The Director of Graduate Studies provides initial advising for the student in selecting courses and assists in selecting a Major Professor for long-term advising; the Director may assign a provisional graduate advisor before students select a Major Professor.

Students are required to consult periodically with, and have their schedules approved by, the Director of Graduate Studies, the provisional advisor, or the Major Professor. The Major Professor helps the student to define a dissertation topic and assists the student in choosing appropriate courses and in selecting members of the student's Preliminary Examination and Doctoral Committees. The Major Professor normally chairs the student's Preliminary Examination and Doctoral Committees.

Foreign Language or Data Analysis Proficiency
Students must demonstrate proficiency in one or more relevant foreign languages by passing a written examination in the translation of source materials or historical analysis. If a student's Major Professor considers proficiency in more than one language necessary to the student's specific plan of study, exams in more than one language may be required.

With the approval of the Major Professor, a student may substitute proficiency in another skill relevant to historical study; in these cases, proficiency will be demonstrated through relevant course work.

Minor
Students are not required to elect a minor field, but they may wish to supplement their concentration in this way. Depending on the particular course array, students may need to take more than 54 credits to complete both the major and minor requirements. Those who wish to take a minor have three options:

Option A: Minor in one field
Working with a minor professor, students take 8-12 credits in a single department, leading to a minor examination.

Option B: Interdisciplinary Minor
Students take 8-12 credits in two or more departments, selected for their relevance to the student's area of concentration. The minor will be defined in consultation with the student's Major Professor and the Director of Graduate Studies.

Option C: Minor in Public History
This 21-credit minor is appropriate for students planning a career in archives, museums, historic preservation, or other related specialties. It is not available to students who already have a specialization or degree in public history at the master's level. Students in this minor are required to take 12
Credits as follows:

- History 700  Introduction to Public History, 3 credits
- History 701  Internship in Public History, 6 credits
- History 715  Research Methods in Local History, 3 credits

Students must take History 700 in the first semester of their first year. The remaining 9 credits in public history must be selected from courses that pertain to the area of public history in which the student wishes to specialize.

For students interested in careers as archivists, electives should be selected from the following courses:

To meet the continuous-year portion of the residence credit requirement, students must complete 8 to 12 graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, or 6 or more graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions. In exceptional cases, modifications of the residence requirement may be requested, subject to the approval of the History Department and the Graduate School.

The Master of Science degree in Kinesiology is a research-oriented program, multidisciplinary in nature, encompassing five human movement science disciplines: Biomechanics, Exercise Physiology, Motor Control, Psychology of Physical Activity, and Sociology of Physical Activity. Each of the five subdiscipline areas is supported by a research laboratory and at least one graduate faculty member holding a PhD and conducting ongoing research in the area. Six graduate faculty supervise thesis research, advise graduate students, and deliver the graduate curriculum.

The majority of our current students and graduates are physical therapists, occupational therapists, nurses, and other allied health professionals. The program is designed to accommodate the needs of such professionals who often work full-time outside of the university environment.

At present, the program annually supports six half-time teaching assistants. In addition, a limited number of research assistantships become available on a year-to-year basis as faculty procure research grants and contracts.

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- A bachelor's degree in kinesiology, biology, nursing, occupational therapy, physical education, psychology, sociology, physical therapy, zoology or equivalent preparation.
- Undergraduate coursework in the two subdiscipline study areas selected by the student as indicated in the letter of application (e.g., exercise physiology and sociology).
- Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. Applicants with undergraduate majors in areas other than those noted in this section may be admitted on a similar basis.
- Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.
- An applicant who does not meet minimum departmental or Graduate School entrance requirements, but meets Graduate School requirements for a probationary admission (see the Admission on Probation section of this Bulletin) should contact the Graduate Coordinator for additional probationary entrance requirement information.

Major Professor as Advisor
The Graduate School requires that each student have a major professor to advise, supervise and approve the program of study before registering for courses. The Graduate Coordinator may serve as the temporary advisor to incoming students.

Credits and Courses
The minimum degree requirement is 33 graduate credits for Option A and C students and 35 graduate credits (minimum of 26 credits of coursework offered by the Department of Human Movement Sciences) for Option B students. Option A and C students must take 9 credits of core courses: Introduction to Human Kinetics, Statistical Analysis in Human Kinetics, and Survey of Human Kinetics Research. Option B students must take 6 credits of core courses: Introduction to Human Kinetics and Statistical Analysis in Human Kinetics.

Students are expected to complete coursework in three of the five subdiscipline areas of study. All students are expected to identify a primary subdiscipline of interest and at least one supporting subdiscipline area. Students are encouraged to take supplemental graduate courses in other UWM graduate programs.

Option A: Thesis Option
Students prepare a research thesis, which will earn 6 credits within the required 33 graduate credit minimum. Each student is responsible for identifying a major professor and a thesis committee before completing 12 graduate credits. The thesis committee should consist of a minimum of three graduate faculty: the major professor from the student's primary subdiscipline, a departmental faculty member from the supporting subdiscipline, and one other departmental or other UWM graduate faculty member. The thesis committee approves a program of studies designed to lead the student into the thesis research area. To make subsequent changes, the student must petition the departmental Graduate Program Steering Committee prior to any intended change.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a comprehensive oral examination in defense of the completed thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Option B: Non-Thesis Option
Of the 35 graduate credits required, students must successfully complete 2 credits of Hum Kin 891 - Research Seminar; 1 unit with major professor and 1 unit with professor representing supporting area.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a comprehensive written examination.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Option C: Research Project Option
In exceptional cases, such as students who already hold a terminal degree (e.g., M.D. or PhD), degree candidates may petition the Graduate Program Committee to prepare a research project. The research project will receive 3 graduate credits and will qualify the student for graduation. The project must be written in compliance with departmental format requirements.

Comprehensive Examination
The students must pass an oral examination in defense of the completed project.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

The College of Letters and Science offers an interdisciplinary graduate program leading to a Master of Liberal Studies. The MLS curriculum consists of small introductory seminars, special topics courses conceived exclusively for the program, electives taken in specific departments, and a final thesis or independent project. All courses are taught by graduate faculty drawn primarily from the College of Letters and Science and augmented by other interested instructors from across the University. Such faculty diversity allows students to expand their cultural and intellectual horizons through a carefully structured course of study that encourages multiple perspectives on important issues and integration of knowledge across disciplines.

The MLS program is housed in the internationally respected Center for Twenty-first Century Studies, which ensures access to leading scholars, outstanding facilities, special lectures and other events. Each fall a limited class of new scholars, outstanding facilities, special lectures and other events. Each fall a limited class of new students is admitted in order to maintain an intimate learning environment, and all courses are offered during evenings or weekends. Although the MLS is not a traditional graduate degree that focuses on a single academic field or set of professional skills, its emphasis on critical thinking, imaginative reflection, ethical consideration, and effective communication carries substantial value in both private and public life.

Master of Liberal Studies

Admission
To be considered for admission to the Master of Liberal Studies, an applicant must meet the requirements for admission to the Graduate School. For non-native speakers of English, demonstration of English proficiency for the MLS requires a TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) score of 600 on the old exam or 250 on the new, or a score of 7.0 on the IELTS (International English Language Testing System) exam, as well as a score of 50 on the TSE (Test of Spoken English). In addition, the applicant must submit an essay (two pages) describing why s/he is interested in pursuing graduate study in an interdisciplinary program and describing the educational background and life experiences that s/he brings to the program. An interview with the director of the program also is required.

Major Professor as Advisor
As specified in the regulations of the Graduate School, a major professor will be assigned to every person enrolled in the program to advise and supervise his or her work. Those admitted to the program will consult with the Director of the Master of Liberal Studies program for assistance in identifying an appropriate advisor. The responsibility of the advisor will be to assist in selecting a cohesive sequence of courses and developing a rationale for that sequence. The major advisor must approve the program of study.

Credits and Courses
Twenty-seven credits are required for the MLS degree, distributed as follows:

- Core courses (8 cr.). All students must take a required introductory two-course sequence (4 credits for each course) designed to orient the individuals to the program, to establish a common base of knowledge in an interdisciplinary context, and to create a sense of intellectual community among the participants, many of whom may be re-entering the world of formal education.

- Special topics courses (6 cr.). Participants must complete at least two courses from an array of special topics courses in a seminar format (3 credits each) offered under the LibrlSt curricular area number.

- Elective courses (9 cr.). Participants select elective courses to total 9 credits from special topics courses offered under the MLS curricular area code, graduate courses offered within departments, and independent study (LibrlSt 799). Although the core and special topics courses that are designed specifically for the Master of Liberal Studies will be emphasized in all programs of study, participants may wish to take graduate courses offered by departments or to undertake independent study in order to pursue specific interests.

Transfer credits
Individuals with prior graduate course work may receive permission to count up to 9 credits of that work toward the Master of Liberal Studies if the Advisory Committee accepts the courses as relevant to the program of study and if the courses meet Graduate School requirements for transfer. Liberal Studies core courses and the culminating project course must be taken at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

The School of Information Studies prepares students for careers in library and information professions. The School provides students with the opportunity to develop attitudes associated with progressive information services, and to develop an understanding of the value, role, and application of modern technology as it relates to library operations and the transfer of information. The School's graduate program is fully accredited by the American Library Association.

In harmony with the mission of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, a major urban research institute, the School of Information Studies strives to make significant contributions towards extending and enhancing the quality of life in a technologically oriented, and knowledge-based society. The MLIS program prepares students with strong academic skills and information science through research and publication.

The purpose of the MLIS program is to prepare librarians and information professionals who are able to manage change in an urbanized, technologically oriented, and knowledge-based society. The MLIS program provides a systematic course of study which enables individuals with a strong service orientation to apply principles of library and information science, use current methods and tools, and recognize the value of research.

Graduates of the Master of Library and Information Science degree program are expected to demonstrate the following competencies:

1. To apply scientific principles in developing and managing information resources designed to meet user needs and interests.
2. To analyze, describe, and organize resources for effective and efficient retrieval and dissemination of information.
3. To utilize knowledge of information sources, services, and systems to meet the informational needs of users.
4. To apply management principles in planning, developing, marketing, and evaluating library and information services.
5. To work in specialized areas of library and information service, utilizing knowledge obtained from concentrations within the School and in other disciplines.
6. To build upon current knowledge of information and communication theories and technologies in planning, design, development, and delivery of information services.
The master's degree program is designed to support each of these objectives with appropriate coursework and educational experiences.

The School of Information Studies in collaboration with the School of Education offers post-bachelor's programs leading to State of Wisconsin licensing as Initial Instructional Library Media Specialist, Instructional Library Media Specialist, and Instructional Library Media Supervisor.

Students admitted to the Master of Library and Information Science degree program can incorporate in their degree program the courses for these licenses to the extent that these courses satisfy the degree requirements, either as required core courses or as electives. On the other hand, students who do not intend to pursue the MLIS degree, but who wish to apply to the Certification program as graduate non-degree candidates, must meet the eligibility requirements as established by the School of Education Certification Office. In addition, licenses will be granted only to those persons who are eligible to hold a Wisconsin license to teach in the elementary or secondary schools or who have completed an approved elementary or secondary classroom teacher preparation program. For additional information about these licenses and their relationship to the master's degree, consult the Assistant Dean of the School of Information Studies.

The advanced courses offered by the School of Information Studies may be elected on a non-degree basis by post-master's students who wish to continue their professional education or special competence in some phase of urban library and information services. See section below titled the "Certificate of Advanced Study in Library and Information Science" for a formal program of post-master's education. The School's graduate courses are also open to graduate students in other fields of study, provided that they have completed the appropriate basic courses (or their equivalent).

- Applicants from foreign institutions are required to submit the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) score. The minimum acceptable score is 550 (213 CBT). A score of 6.5 or higher on the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) may be submitted in lieu of the TOEFL.

- Two letter of recommendation from persons who can testify to the applicant's likelihood of success in the master's program in library and information science. References from former teachers or employers are preferred.

No prior coursework in library/information science is required. A student whose undergraduate grade point average is below 2.75 for completing the proficiency requirement:

Proficiency Requirement in Library and Information Science
This course of study requires students to demonstrate proficiency in the field of library and information science. There are two options for completing the proficiency requirement:

- Passing a comprehensive examination or completing and successfully defending a thesis.

Comprehensive Examination
Students choosing the comprehensive examination option must successfully pass a written comprehensive examination. A student who fails the examination the first time may repeat it once. However, a student who fails the examination may not select the thesis option.

Thesis Option
Students choosing the thesis option must take at least three credits of thesis coursework in addition to the 36 credits required for the comprehensive examination option, making the minimum credits required for the thesis option 39 credits. However, only 3 credits of thesis coursework may count towards the total degree credit requirement of 39. Those who already have a graduate degree must complete a minimum of 33 credits for this option.

Students who choose the thesis option in the coordinated master's degree programs also need to take an additional 3 credits of thesis coursework. Thus, while total degree credits vary among the coordinated master's programs, the Master of Library and Information Science component of each requires 33 credits of SOIS coursework, three of which would be taken as thesis credit. Students pursuing thesis options in both programs will be required to fulfill each program's thesis requirement and complete two separate theses.

Students in the thesis option also must take a minimum of three credits of research methods. More may be required by individual circumstances, but only the first three credits may count toward degree credit requirements. Either 540-890, Research Methods in Library and Information Science, or a comparable course chosen in consultation with the major professor, can contribute towards satisfaction of this requirement. Students must complete the five core courses in addition to the research methods requirement before defense of the thesis proposal can occur.

Students may select the thesis option at any point in their course of study, but are encouraged to make this decision and form their thesis committee as early as possible to avoid the necessity of taking additional coursework. The faculty advisor assigned to each student upon admission may serve as the student's thesis advisor, but is not required to do so. It is the student's responsibility to enter into a mutually agreed upon advising relationship with a thesis advisor in SOIS, who then serves as chair of the thesis committee.

Likewise, a student may withdraw from the thesis option and pursue the comprehensive examination option; however, the student would need to meet the registration and other requirements for the comprehensive examination set forth in SOIS policies and procedures as published in the SOIS Bulletin.

Students must pass an oral examination in defense of the thesis. The thesis defense may be repeated once.

Time Limit
Students in the 36-credit program must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment. Students in the 30-credit program must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Certificate of Advanced Study in Library and Information Science
Attainment of this certificate can be identified as an advanced educational step for individuals who have demonstrated the capabilities and competencies needed by the profession. Such persons can respond to the rapid changes in the field of library and information science through this planned academic program of specialization.

Admission
Applicant must apply to the Graduate School for admission to the master's program of specialization in the 30-credit component program, or to the School of Information Studies at the time of initial enrollment. Students in the 30-credit program must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

- A Master of Library and Information Science degree, or a master's degree in a closely related field such as computer science or educational technology, from an accredited university.
- Candidates with little or no background in library science will be required to take some courses from the MLIS program.
- Two letters of recommendation.
- A statement from the applicant which would describe the individual's area of interest and career plan and identify the professional objectives which the applicant would hope to achieve through participation in the Certificate of Advanced Study in Library and Information Science.

Course of Study
The student must complete 15 credits. Courses are planned by the candidate and faculty advisor and approved by the Dean of the School of Information Studies as an individual program suited for the needs and professional objectives of the student.

- A minimum of 12 of these credits must be taken in the School of Information Studies.

MASS COMMUNICATION

College of Letters and Science

Degree Conferred: MA in Mass Communication

Phone: (414) 229-4436

E-mail: pritchar@uwm.edu

Web site: http://www.uwm.edu/Dept/JMC/

The Department of Journalism and Mass Communication offers a Master of Arts degree designed to bridge the gap between professional work in mass communication and critical thought about the media. About half of the MA program's students work full time, often in journalism, public relations, or other communication-related areas. The MA program is designed so that working students may earn an MA by taking evening courses and completing a thesis.

The blend of professional and scholarly concerns that is evident in the design of the program and its courses reflects the interests and background of the faculty. All of the faculty in the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication worked in the mass media before moving into the academic world. Students and faculty alike use Milwaukee as a living laboratory for studies of media processes and effects.

The faculty of the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication have national reputations in teaching and research. Areas of faculty expertise include media audiences, journalistic practices, communication law and history, public relations, environmental communication, media ethics, cultural studies of media, and political communication.

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Present an overall undergraduate grade point average of 3.00 or above.
- Submit three letters of recommendation from persons capable of judging the applicant's capacity for success in a graduate program of study.
- Submit scores from the General Test section of the Graduate Record Examination.
- Submit a sample of original writing in English — a piece of academic or professional work, or a brief essay about a topic of the applicant's choice.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. Applicants may be considered for admission on probation. See the Admission on Probation section of this Bulletin.

International students, in addition to satisfying the Graduate School's requirements for English language proficiency, must submit TOEFL scores sufficiently high to meet program standards.

Advisors
Each student will be assigned a faculty advisor upon enrollment in the M.A. program. Students consult with their advisors about which courses to take and about any other matters related to graduate study. Before students enroll in thesis/project credits, they must ask a faculty member to be their major professor. The major professor does not need to be (and often is not) the faculty member initially assigned to be the student's advisor. The major professor guides the student in preparing a thesis/project proposal, provides advice on the thesis/project research, and chairs the thesis/project committee.

Courses and Credits
Students must take 30 graduate credits, at least 24 of which must be in courses offered by the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication. Two courses are required of all students:

- Mass Comm 700 Introduction to Graduate Study in Mass Communication
- Mass Comm 701 Mass Communication Theory and Research Design

Students also must also take at least two 800-level seminars offered by the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication, at least one of which must be either 810, 815, 830, or 840.

Thesis/Professional Project
All students write a thesis based on original research. Before beginning work on a thesis, the student must ask a member of the Mass Communication graduate faculty to supervise the thesis (i.e., to serve as "major professor"). The major professor chairs the thesis committee, which also includes two other members of the graduate faculty, one of whom may come from a department other than Journalism and Mass Communication.

The major professor advises the student on the appropriate format for a formal thesis proposal, which must be approved by the thesis committee. After the thesis proposal has been approved, the student carries out the proposed research.

The thesis committee evaluates the written thesis and conducts an oral examination at which the student defends his or her research. A student receives credit for the thesis only if all three members of the committee approve the thesis.

Comprehensive Examination
A comprehensive examination is required for all students not electing the thesis or professional project option. The student must pass a written and oral examination, given by a faculty committee chaired by the major professor, demonstrating proficiency to integrate knowledge within and between concentration areas in the program. Comprehensive examinations are 10 hours in length, require preparation beyond coursework taken in the program of study, and may not be attempted before the semester in which the student will complete all required coursework in the program.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering graduate student is assigned a temporary advisor by the Graduate Department Program Coordinator.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 to 36 credits, depending upon which option the student chooses: either 24 credits from mathematics courses, at least 18 credits of which are numbered 700 or above; or 30 credits from mathematics courses, at least 12 credits of which are numbered 700 or above; or at least 36 credits in mathematics courses open for graduate credit. Under the 30-credit option, up to 9 credits may be in approved courses from outside the Department. Under the 36 credit option, up to 12 credits may be taken in approved courses from outside the Department.

Thesis
A thesis is optional. A student choosing the thesis option must enroll in Math 790. A maximum of 3 credits of thesis may be counted toward the degree requirements. An acceptable thesis will represent an original contribution and may involve applications, a novel exposition, or computational aspects of a mathematical problem or theory. The student must pass an oral defense of the thesis.

Examination or Project
Each student who does not elect the thesis option must satisfy one of the following requirements:

- Pass a written comprehensive examination.
- Present a satisfactory oral and written report on a comprehensive project done under the supervision of a faculty advisor.

Students electing the project should register for 1 to 3 credits of the MS Seminar 791.

Time Limit
Under the 24 or 30 credit option, the student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment. Under the 36 credit option, the student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

B. Industrial Mathematics Option

Objective
The objective of the master's program in industrial mathematics is to enable students to acquire the fundamentals of applied mathematics in areas of classical and numerical analysis, differential equations and dynamical systems, and probability and statistics. At the same time, the connection of these fields to modeling of physical, biological, and engineering phenomena will be stressed by requiring credits outside of the Department of Mathematical Sciences. The students are to obtain practical experience in mathematical modeling during an internship or applied project.

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements as well as the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- A bachelor's degree in an area of mathematical science, computer science, physics, engineering, or a related field.
- Completion of three semesters of undergraduate calculus plus at least 6 credits of acceptable mathematics courses requiring calculus.
- Knowledge of a higher-level programming language.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies. This major professor will function as a project advisor, will oversee the internship project, and approve the final project or thesis. The entering graduate student is assigned an advisor by the chair of the Industrial Mathematics Committee.

Credits and Courses
A student must have had, prior to entering the program or before graduating, courses in differential equations, numerical analysis, probability and statistics, optimization, linear algebra, and advanced calculus. The extent to which this requirement is fulfilled will be determined by the major professor and the Industrial Mathematics Committee. An entering student who has not had these courses must take them during the first year in the program. In order to graduate, a student must have at least 36 classroom credits including:

1. At least 18 credits from among the mathematics courses approved for the program, including a year sequence of courses in mathematics at the 700 level or above, preferably 701/702, or 701/715.
2. At least 6 upper level credits in application areas (e.g., physics, engineering, business) outside of the Department. Students already proficient in an application area may, with the approval of the advisor, substitute mathematics courses.
3. At most 6 credits for a thesis or final project related to an industrial problem, and
4. A working knowledge of an advanced scientific programming language.
Approved by the Industrial Mathematics Committee.

Thesis or Final Project
A thesis or final project is required. A student may enroll in Math 790 for 3 credits for up to 2 semesters while completing the thesis or final project. The student must pass an oral defense upon its completion.

Time Limit
Full-time students, without deficiencies, could be expected to complete the program in two years. All degree requirements must be completed within seven years of initial enrollment.

C. Atmospheric Sciences Option

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements to be considered for admission to the program. Entering graduate students should have a general background in both mathematics and physics; given the intrinsic multi-disciplinary nature of the atmospheric sciences, no specific undergraduate course work is required. However, applicants should have an adequate mathematical background that includes calculus, vector analysis, ordinary and partial differential equations, and linear algebra. Students lacking this background may be admitted provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. Deficiencies must be made up within three enrolled semesters of graduate study.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student’s studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. This advisor will be assigned upon enrollment in the program by the chair of the Atmospheric Sciences Committee.

Credits and Courses
The minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits, 12 of which must be in the atmospheric sciences 700 number sequence, 6 of which will be approved graduate elective credits, and 6 of which will be in one of the following mathematics sequences: 521/522, 601/602, or 701/702.

Thesis
A thesis is optional. Students who choose the thesis option must enroll in Math 790 and Math 990 for the final 6 credits of the required total. An acceptable thesis will represent an original contribution to knowledge in the atmospheric sciences. Upon completion of the thesis, students must pass an oral examination to defend the thesis.

Comprehensive Examination
In the non-thesis option, students must pass a written comprehensive examination that tests basic knowledge of the atmospheric sciences.

Time Limit
Full-time students, without deficiencies, can be expected to complete the program within two years. All degree requirements must be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Mathematics

Admission
Applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus departmental requirements as given for admission to the master's program. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for admission to this PhD program.

Reapplication
A student who receives the master's degree must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the PhD.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The entering graduate student is assigned a temporary advisor by the Department Graduate Program Coordinator.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. The student, in consultation with the major professor, must select both a primary and a secondary area of specialization. The primary area may be chosen from one of the following seven fields with minimum credit requirements as shown. The secondary area may be chosen from another of these fields or may be chosen from another appropriate department. Minimum course requirements for all work in both areas of specialization require approximately two full years of study.

Algebra field. 12 credits in algebra; 3 in complex analysis; 3 in real analysis; 3 in topology; 3 in applied mathematics; 3 outside the field.

Analysis field. 3 credits in algebra; 6 in complex analysis; 6 in real analysis; 3 in topology; 3 in applied mathematics; 3 outside the field.

Applied mathematics field. 3 credits in algebra; 6 in complex analysis; 3 in real analysis; 12 in applied mathematics; 3 outside the field.

Probability and statistics. 3 credits in complex analysis; 6 in real analysis; 12 in probability and statistics; 3 in applied mathematics.

Topology field. 3 credits in algebra; 3 in complex analysis; 3 in real analysis; 12 in topology; 3 in applied mathematics; 3 outside the field.

Industrial mathematics field: 3 credits in algebra or topology; 3 in complex analysis; 3 in real analysis; 9 in applied mathematics; 6 in probability and statistics; 6 in approved courses outside the 600 and 601 curricular codes.

Atmospheric sciences field: 12 credits in atmospheric sciences (synoptic, dynamic, cloud/radiative, air pollution); 9 in applied mathematics or probability and statistics; 3 in analysis.

Foreign Language
Except for students in the atmospheric sciences field, each student must pass a written examination in one foreign language; the examination is administered by the Department's Language Committee. Acceptable languages are French, German, and Russian; exceptions may be permitted upon written request of advisor.

Computer Proficiency
The student shall pass an examination on a higher programming language and/or other appropriate advanced computer skills; the examinations administered by the Department's Computer Committee. The Computer Committee may accept advanced computer science course work in lieu of the examination.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
When the student is sufficiently prepared — normally when the student has earned 24 credits in specified areas above the 700 level — a doctoral preliminary examination to determine the student's knowledge and achievement is taken. For students in mathematics, the exam evaluates the student's general knowledge of mathematics, as well as the student's knowledge of the major area of concentration. Students in atmospheric sciences are examined in three areas: at least one from the 190 curricular area code and at least one from the 600/601 curricular area codes. Students must pass this examination to continue in the program. With permission of the examination committee, the student may repeat this examination once. If the student does not have a master's degree in mathematics before this examination, the committee will determine whether the student's performance is sufficient to qualify for the master's degree.

Doctoral Dissertation Proposal Hearing
After passing the language requirements and the doctoral preliminary examination, the student participates in a doctoral dissertation proposal hearing. At this hearing, the student is examined on the student's chosen area of research and a dissertation topic is approved.

Dissertation
The primary requirement for the PhD in mathematics is the candidate's completion, under the supervision of the Department advisor, of an original and significant mathematical investigation presented in the form of a dissertation. The investigation is to be in the field of algebra, analysis, applied mathematics, probability and statistics, topology, or atmospheric sciences. A dissertation for the industrial mathematics field must involve an industrial problem requiring a mathematical solution.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, present a colloquium based on the dissertation and must pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation. If the candidate does not successfully defend a thesis within five years of admission to candidacy, the candidate may be required to take another doctoral preliminary examination and be readmitted to candidacy.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

---

Minor Area for Other PhD Majors
A doctoral student planning a physical science major other than mathematics may fulfill requirements for mathematics as the minor area of concentration by completing 12 credits of approved mathematics courses with a grade of B or better, at least 6 credits of which must be in courses 700 or above.

A doctoral student planning a non-physical science major may fulfill requirements for mathematics as the minor area of concentration by completing 12 credits with a grade of B or better in approved mathematics courses 300 or above.

For additional information on Graduate School Ph.D. requirements, see the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

Students should consult the Department of Music for specific information regarding these concentrations.

MM/MLIS Coordinated Degree Program

In cooperation with the School of Information Studies, the Department of Music offers a MM/MLIS coordinated degree program to prepare students for positions as music librarians. Students in the program will concurrently pursue a Master of Music degree program (with a concentration in Music History and Literature) and a Master of Library and Information Science degree program. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree. For more detailed information on this program see Concentration in Music History and Literature later in this section and the Library and Information Science section of the Bulletin.

In addition, auditions, entrance exams, other prerequisites, and portfolio reviews are required as follows:

- Concentration in Instrumental or Vocal Performance, Chamber Music Performance, and Collaborative Piano

Applicant proposing concentration in Music Performance or Collaborative Piano must demonstrate outstanding performance skills. An on-site audition is required; in extreme cases, recorded examples of an applicant's performance may be accepted in lieu of an in-person audition. Applicant should contact faculty in the appropriate performance area to inquire about specific audition repertoire and procedures.

The recital must be presented at UWM and at one off-campus, public venue.

Transfer of Credits — Master of Music to Performer's Certificate
The program does not allow transfer of credits from other institutions. However, students who have already completed coursework in vocal performance at the graduate level at UWM may transfer up to 14 credits from the UWM Master of Music degree program into the Performer's Certificate program. Courses which may transfer into the Performer's Certificate Program include: Voice, up to 9 credits; Song Literature, up to 2 credits; Vocal Pedagogy, up to 1 credit; and Opera Apprenticeship, up to 2 credits.

Transfer of Credits — Performer's Certificate to Master of Music
Upon completion of the Performer's Certificate, students may opt to pursue a Master of Music degree in vocal performance, but this may not be done concurrently with the certificate program. A separate application for the M.M. is required. Students complete the M.M. degree by adding the necessary academic coursework (Music 710 Graduate Studies in Music, Music 711 Graduate Seminar in Music History, Music xxx, graduate theory elective) and by successful completion of the graduate final comprehensive examinations in music history and music theory. Students who enroll in voice lessons as part of the M.M. are

Time Limit
The program is designed to be a two-year program. However, students may, upon approval of the Program Committee, opt to take a third year. Students may also take, upon approval of the Program Committee, a leave of absence of up to one year in the course of the program.

The Master of Science degree program in Nursing is accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education. The program is designed to prepare nurses for advanced nursing practice in the community and in institution-based settings. The community health framework in place since 1978 has been expanded to provide the basis for a variety of options for advanced practice nursing. The program offers three clinical tracks: clinical nurse specialist, family nurse practitioner, and post nurse practitioner. An area of clinical specialization is selected by the student according to personal interests and career goals, and serves as the basis for a formal program of study submitted by the student and approved by the student's advisor on entering the program.

Study in the Master's program prepares students to participate in planning and implementing nursing services to meet the special needs of clients particularly in urban communities. Graduates are also prepared to participate in research. Graduates of the Master of Science program will be eligible to sit for a variety of certification examinations as approved by the Wisconsin Board of Nursing.

The PhD program in Nursing at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee was approved by the University of Wisconsin System Board of Regents on February 9, 1984, and prepares nurses as scholars to conduct independent and collaborative research, to develop and test theory relevant to nursing, and to improve the quality of care by expanding the body of nursing knowledge. Scholars will be prepared to serve the urban community and improve the general accessibility and acceptability of health care.

Specialization is achieved through an approved program of study and includes program elements of course work, dissertation, and direction of faculty advisors. This specialization is focused on a particular area of nursing practice and the social context within which it occurs.

The Center for Nursing Research and Evaluation, the Institute for Urban Health Partnerships, the Center for Cultural Diversity and Health, and the Nursing Learning Resource Center are among the resources of the College of Nursing.

Master of Science in Nursing
Admission
The admission requirements of the Master's program in Nursing are consistent with those requirements specified by the Graduate School of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. In addition, students must also meet the following requirements for the College of Nursing:

- A bachelor's degree in Nursing from a professionally accredited program, with a minimum undergraduate grade point average of at least 2.75 (4.0 scale).
- Completion with a grade of C or higher of an upper-level undergraduate course in statistics within the five years immediately preceding admission.
- Current registration as a professional nurse in the State of Wisconsin.
- Completion of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) within the last five years. The master's program admission requirement of the GRE will be waived for students who have completed a master's degree.
- Three (3) letters of recommendation for graduate study in nursing, two (2) of which are from persons most knowledgeable about the applicant's recent academic and work experiences. Personal interview with a faculty member may be requested.
- Completion of an autobiographical sketch.

These data are used by the Admissions Subcommittee as indicators of academic potential. Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The student is assigned to an advisor at the time of admission.

Reapplication
A student who receives the master's degree must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the PhD.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student is expected to select a major professor to supervise the student's studies as specified in the Graduate School regulations. Incoming students are assigned an initial program advisor. Before completion of two semesters of full-time study or the equivalent in earned credits, the student selects a major professor, whose appointment is subject to the approval of the College of Nursing Graduate Admission and Progression Committee. The student, in consultation with the major professor, establishes a formal plan of study that is submitted to the College of Nursing Graduate Admission and Progression Committee for approval. For subsequent changes, the student must file a revised plan of study for approval by this committee.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirements are 61 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 31 of which must be earned in residence at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. The College of Nursing requires a minimum of 49 graduate credits beyond the master's degree in nursing or master's graduate core courses.

Post baccalaureate students admitted to the doctoral program will not be granted a master's degree in nursing unless all requirements for the master's degree in nursing are met.

Minimum Grade Requirement
For the continuation in the program, in addition to general Graduate School requirements students must achieve a minimum grade of B- in all required courses.

Minor Field
The student must complete a minor of 8 to 12 credits, 6 or more of these credits to be earned from courses in departments outside the College of Nursing. Such courses are selected for their relevance to the student's area of specialization, and are to be taken in the substantive content of the selected minor field.

Language Requirement
Foreign language competency may be required at the option of the student's major professor.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The student must pass a doctoral preliminary examination to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for degree. The doctoral examination is comprised of a written and an oral component, taken in that sequence, with each component requiring a passing grade for successful completion. The examination is an integrative experience that is designed to validate the student's mastery of the content of the doctoral program curriculum and readiness to conduct independent research within the student's area of specialization as identified in the formal plan of study.

Dissertation
The candidate must write a dissertation, which demonstrates ability to formulate a research topic and pursue independent and original investigation under the direction of the major professor.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation. A candidate who does not pass this examination may apply for reexamination within one year from the initial examination date. This reexamination may occur only one time. A candidate who does not pass this examination within program time limits may be required to undergo another comprehensive preliminary examination and readmitted to the program and/or candidacy.

Time Limit
The student must complete all requirements for the degree within seven years from the date of initial enrollment in the program. The student must complete all requirements for the degree within four years from the time of attainment of dissertator status.

• Applicants may be admitted to regular status if their grade point average is the equivalent of 3.0 or above (scale of 4.0). Averages below 3.0 but above 2.75 may be considered for admission on a probationary basis. Probationary status is removed after successful completion of the first 9 graduate credits if a grade point average of 3.0 or above is achieved.

• Three letters of reference, preferably from academic and/or clinical sources, must be submitted.

• Along with the application form, the applicant must submit a writing sample. This writing sample may be a paper submitted in a college course, a manuscript submitted for publication, a brochure/description of a clinical program, or another form of written material authored by the applicant within the past five years.

The Department of Dance offers graduate study leading to the Master of Fine Arts in Performing Arts—Dance. The program offers opportunity to hone technical skills, to explore personal intuition, imagination, and craft both in creating dance works and also in performing them, and to focus on critical areas of dance core studies.

Graduate choreographic projects may be pursued both on and off campus. Students may arrange to set works for schools, churches, galleries, community projects, and local dance companies, and are encouraged to discover new dance environments and resources. Two on-campus dance spaces, the Fine Arts Theatre and the Mitchell Hall Chamber Dance Theatre, may be available for selected works during the year.

A block of evening course work during the fall and spring semesters, and summer graduate course offerings make the degree accessible to those whose full-time professional employment schedules require them to study at these non-traditional times.

Admission

Applicants who meet Graduate School requirements plus these program requirements may be admitted in good standing:

- Admission to the Performing Arts-Dance curriculum is by audition or by the submission of a videotape of past or current performance or choreographic work. Students may arrange for an on-campus audition by telephoning the department.
- Applicants lacking in course background may be admitted with deficiencies on the condition that deficiencies be made up; credits earned in making up deficiencies do not count toward the master's degree.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement in Performing Arts—Dance is 48 credits, of which at least 6 must be in complementary studies. Students may distribute the required 48 credits of course work as follows:

- Dance Techniques (modern, African, ballet, yoga), 6-14 cr.
- Creating and Performing Dance Works, 12-18 cr.
- Core Dance Studies, 12-18 cr.
- Electives in Complementary Studies, 6-14 cr.
- Final Project, 4-8 cr.

Total Required: 48 Credits

Final Project

Each student must undertake a final project of either one or two semesters duration (4-8 cr.). The project must be approved by the major advisor. The project may involve an array of challenging roles and/or production of choreographic work created by the student. These may occur in a variety of approved performance settings which may include on- or off-campus sites. The quality of performance and/or choreography will determine whether the degree is granted. This evaluation is made by the graduate faculty after the presentation of the final project. No comprehensive examination is required.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Film

The Department of Film offers a graduate program in film and video production concentrating on individual and collaborative film and video projects. Students in the graduate program work closely with film and video faculty as well as faculty members from a complementary area of study. The curriculum is designed for serious and talented students who are preparing for careers as professionals in film and video production as artists and artist-teachers. Facilities include a complete production studio including all tools and services necessary for in-house film and video. Students are expected to originate and produce finished projects on a regular basis, culminating in a thesis presentation. A portion of graduate study includes intern study with area media-related organizations and/or enterprises in order to develop specialized skills in actual practice.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements and the requirements listed below to be considered for admission to the program:

- An undergraduate major in film including at least 40 studio production credits and at least 45 credits outside the major.
- Submission of original films and other media-related work demonstrating a thorough familiarity with all technical aspects of 16mm film production and creative promise.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

An applicant whose grade point average or quality of work does not meet Graduate School and program standards may be considered for admission on probation.

Transfer of Credits

An applicant who holds graduate credits in film from another institution may, upon admission and with program and Graduate School approval, be permitted to transfer to this program 40% of the total number of graduate credits required for the MFA program.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. In addition to an advisor from the Film Department Graduate Faculty, each student must select and gain consent from a faculty member representing the determined area of complementary study to advise the student on the construction of this program and its integration with the student's major course of work.

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 48 credits, at least 12 of which must be in complementary courses. The distribution of coursework required is as follows:

- 12 credits in Complementary Studies (G or U/G courses)
- 9 credits in U/G or G Film Courses
- 6 credits in Professional Practice
- 6 credits in Graduate Thesis Studio
- 3 credits in Film Studies*

*Students electing the Film Studies option for complementary studies will have this course counted as one of the four necessary to complete the 12-credit complementary studies requirement. They must then increase their U/G or G Film courses by 3 credits to 12.

The student must earn at least 12 of the above credits through full-time attendance on campus in a single semester.

Thesis Presentation

Upon recommendation of the major professor and advisory faculty, the student presents a thesis exhibition program of work executed since admission to the program. The exhibition may be held either during the semester in which the student completes coursework for the degree or in the following semester.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of the initial enrollment.

The Department of Philosophy offers a program of graduate study leading to the degree of Master of Arts. The general purpose of this program is to provide students with the background and stimulus for critical and original philosophical thoughts. The program is designed to serve both those students who wish to pursue a Doctor of Philosophy degree in philosophy and those students who wish either to terminate their formal philosophical studies with the Master of Arts degree or to integrate a graduate level of study in philosophy with graduate studies in other academic areas.

Master of Arts in Philosophy

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Undergraduate major in philosophy or other academic background judged suitable by the Department.
- Submission of scores on the General Test of the Graduate Record Examination.
- Three letters of recommendation concerning academic qualifications.
- A sample of written work is recommended but not required.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. At time of admission, the student's program will be supervised by the Graduate Advisor.

A student planning to work beyond the master's program should select, in consultation with the advisor, courses which will develop broad philosophical competence. A student intending to terminate studies with the master's degree may plan a more specialized program.

Advisory Committee

During the first year in attendance, the student chooses an advisor and an advisory committee of three faculty members. The student's advisor serves as chair of this committee. The choice of committee is made in consultation with the student's advisor, and submitted to the Department's Graduate Studies Committee for approval. No later than the second week of the student's second semester the committee meets with the student to discuss the individual's background in philosophy and goals in this program. By the end of the student's second semester the committee has conferred with the student's instructors and meets with the student to discuss that individual's progress in the program. At that time the student, together with the committee, plans the balance of the student's work in the program and how all requirements can best be met. The committee continues to gather information on the student's class work from the instructors, and at least once each semester meets with the student to discuss the student's continuing progress, future plans in the program and the meeting of departmental

History Requirement

Students taking Option A or B will be required to demonstrate competence in history of philosophy by passing 430 and 432 with a grade of B or better. The Graduate Studies Committee may certify competence if the student has as an undergraduate taken 430 and 432 at UWM within the past five years or has taken their equivalent as determined by the Committee. The determination may include an equivalency exam. Students selecting the language and linguistics concentration need only meet the requirement for 432.

Logic Requirement

The student is required to demonstrate competence in logic by passing 511 or 712 with a grade of B or better. The Graduate Committee may certify competence if within the last five years the student has taken 511 or 712 or has taken an equivalent course as determined by the Committee. The determination may include an equivalency exam.

Degree Alternatives

The Department of Philosophy offers three alternatives by which the Master of Arts degree in philosophy may be obtained: Option A, the non-thesis option; Option B, the thesis option; and a language and linguistics concentration with a thesis. There is no foreign language requirement for the completion of the Master of Arts degree in philosophy, though students are encouraged to develop proficiency in a foreign or classical language.

Option A: Non-thesis Option (30 Credits Plus Exam)

Credits and Courses

Minimum degree requirement is 30 credits in coursework, 21 of which must normally be in philosophy, 9 of which may be in related fields. All 30 credits must be earned with grades of B or better; and at least 12 must be in graduate seminars. (The Philosophy Department Graduate Studies Committee may permit students to count Philosophy 681 toward meeting this requirement, when the content and level of difficulty are equivalent to that of a graduate seminar).

A student proposing a program of study involving more than 9 credits of independent study, or fewer than 21 credits in philosophy courses, must gain specific approval of the student's advisory committee.

Every student choosing the non-thesis option takes a written exam of no longer than four hours on a philosophical area chosen by the student in consultation with the advisory committee. At least one full semester before the student is to take this exam, a specific list of primary and secondary sources to be covered on the exam is degree requirements must be completed within the student. The committee provides the student with sample questions.

Thesis
Not required.

Time Limit
This program is designed to be completed in two years of full-time attendance. However, all degree requirements must be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

---

Option B: Thesis Option (30 Credits Plus Defense)

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 30 credits, including the writing of a thesis, plus its defense. Of the 30 required credits, 21 credits must normally be in philosophy, and 9 may be in related fields. All 30 credits must be earned with a grade of B or better, and at least 12 credits must be in graduate seminars. (The Philosophy Department Graduate Studies Committee may permit students to count Philosophy 681 toward meeting this requirement, when the content and level of difficulty are equivalent to that of a graduate seminar.) A student proposing a program of study involving more than 9 credits of independent study, must gain specific approval of the student’s advisory committee.

The thesis is to be written on a language related subject chosen in consultation with the student’s advisory committee. The student and the committee are to meet sufficiently often so that the committee may adequately supervise the writing of the thesis. Upon completion of the thesis the student is required to defend the thesis orally.

Thesis
Required (as above); Philosophy 990 may be taken only once.

Time Limit
This program is designed to be completed in two years of full-time attendance. However, all degree requirements must be completed within five years of initial enrollment.

Language and Linguistics Concentration with Thesis (30 credits Plus Defense)

Credits and Courses
Linguistics 464 or an equivalent is a prerequisite. Minimum degree requirement is 30 credits, including the writing of a thesis, plus its defense. Of the 30 credits at least 18 credits must be in philosophy with the remainder in linguistics. Philosophy 516 and Linguistics 466 and 564 are required, unless the student has taken these courses at UWM within the past five years or has taken their equivalent as determined by the Graduate Studies Committee. All 30 credits must be earned with a grade of B or better and at least 6 credits must be in graduate philosophy seminars. (The Philosophy Department Graduate Studies Committee may permit students to count Philosophy 681 towards meeting this requirement, when the content and level of difficulty are equivalent to that of a graduate seminar.) A student proposing a program of study involving more than 9 credits of independent study, must gain specific approval of the student’s advisory committee.

The thesis is to be written on a language related subject chosen in consultation with the student’s advisory committee. The student and the committee are to meet sufficiently often so that the committee may adequately supervise the writing of the thesis. Upon completion of the thesis the student is required to defend the thesis orally.

Experimental work in condensed matter physics is also being done in the areas of low-temperature physics, unconventional superconductivity (including high Tc), heavy fermions, materials synthesis and floating zone single crystal growth, oxides, magnetism, ultrasonics, and neutron diffraction. Theoretical work in condensed matter physics also includes research in quantum transport phenomena and electromigration in mesoscopic systems, and superconductivity.

Experimental work in modern optics is being done with ultrafast lasers to study the dynamics of physical, chemical, and biological systems on the molecular and cellular level.

Master of Science in Physics

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

Letters of Recommendation. Three letters of recommendation are required from persons familiar with the applicant's academic work.

Graduate Record Examinations. Both the General Test and the Subject Test in Physics are strongly encouraged (but not required).

Undergraduate major in physics or related fields. Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit.

No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The newly admitted student is assigned to a temporary advisor.

Students in the master's program who are planning to terminate their physics studies with a master's degree should plan and prepare a program of study with the Department Master's Program Advisor.

Option 1: Thesis Option

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits, 18 of which must normally be in physics and 6 of which may be in related fields. Of the 18 credits earned in the Department, at least 6 must be in physics courses numbered above 700, with the remainder in courses at least above 500; research, seminar and independent credits do not satisfy the 700 requirement. Six credits are earned through the thesis.

Thesis
The student must write an acceptable thesis.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a comprehensive oral examination, in part a defense of the thesis.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.
Option 2: Non-thesis Option

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits, 18 of which must normally be in physics and 6 of which may be in related fields. Of the 18 credits earned in the Department, at least 6 must be in physics courses numbered above 700, with the remainder in courses at least above 500; research, seminar and independent credits do not satisfy the 700 requirement.

Thesis
Not required.

Comprehensive Examination
The student must pass a comprehensive written or oral examination. The non-thesis master's Oral Examination should evaluate the student's achievements in graduate courses and fulfillment of the goals of the student's program of study. In particular, students should be familiar with the materials in the "core" courses (Physics 515, 531, 532, 711 and 720).

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Physics

Admission
Applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus departmental requirements as given for admission to the major's program. A master's degree is not a prerequisite for this PhD program.

Reapplication
A student who receives the master's degree must formally reapply for admission to the Graduate School before continuing studies toward the PhD.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. The student plans an individual program of studies in consultation with the major professor. Coursework must include a minimum of 12 credits in physics graduate courses in the 700-999 levels (not including 711, 720, 721, or 990). A student may elect to complete one of the following minor programs: a minor of 9 to 12 credits in a single department; a minor of 12 credits in two or more departments. Traditional fields for the minor are mathematics, other natural sciences, computer sciences and engineering. In planning a minor in a single department, the student is advised by the minor professor; in planning a minor in two or more departments, the student is advised by the major professor. The program of study is to be chosen with the major professor and the departmental academic graduate committee.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Written Qualifying Examination
Prior to taking the oral doctoral preliminary examination, the student must pass a written qualifying examination which evaluates the student's general background in graduate level physics. This examination is based on subject matter at least as advanced as the material covered by the non-thesis master's comprehensive examination. A student may not continue in the physics graduate program after 4.5 years without having passed this examination.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination and Doctoral Proposal Hearing
The student must prepare a written proposal and pass an oral examination to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. The oral examination primarily seeks to determine the student's preparation for independent research and the suitability of the proposed dissertation program. This examination shall be taken no later than four semesters after passing the written qualifying examination. However, no student will be required to take the oral examination earlier than the sixth semester of graduate work at UWM.

Dissertation
The candidate must present a dissertation addressing the results of original and independent research investigation representing substantive creative contribution.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School PhD requirements, see the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

The Department of Political Science offers graduate programs of study in political science with concentrations in five fields: American politics; comparative politics; international relations; political theory; and public administration and public policy.

The master's program is designed to provide students with a basic grounding in the scope and methodology of the discipline, while at the same time allowing maximum flexibility in developing a program of study that will meet students' career objectives. It is recommended that students preparing themselves for PhD work emphasize empirical theory, quantitative skills and strategies and techniques of conducting research. Students may select coursework to help them prepare for such career fields as governmental service, public and private education, community service, and private industry. In developing an appropriate and coherent program of study, each graduate student works closely with the major professor and committee of advisors.

The Department accommodates the master's student who attends part time by scheduling sufficient graduate-level courses in the late afternoons and evenings to enable the student to earn a master's degree through part-time attendance.

In the PhD program the departmental emphasis is on conceptual and quantitative work. The Department requires that the student be broadly trained and accordingly encourages each student to take advantage of offerings in related disciplines to strengthen expertise in political change. The graduate of the program is qualified for a career in university teaching, in government service or in the private sector where the analytical skills and knowledge of the social scientist are required.

Graduate degrees are conferred on the basis of a level of achievement which is acquired by independent reading and research as well as by taking courses. They are never conferred solely on the basis of prescribed courses and residency requirements.

Master of Arts in Political Science

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Undergraduate major or substantial work in the field of political science.
- Undergraduate grade point average of at least 3.0 (4.0 scale).
- Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with applicant's scholastic ability and achievements.
- Submission of Graduate Record Examination scores. Applications will not be considered until scores are received.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The incoming student is advised by the chair of the departmental Graduate Committee; as the student develops specialized interests within the discipline, the student selects a major professor from within that area of specialization.

Credits and Courses
Minimum degree requirement is 24 graduate credits, 18 of which must be in political science and 6 of which may be in related fields; 18 credit hours of coursework must be taken at the 700 level or above. The Graduate Committee of the Department will consider requests that individual students' programs contain fewer credits at the 700 level or above.

All students will take three courses dealing with the scope and method of political inquiry. (Students entering during the spring or summer semester should take the three courses sequentially as soon as they are offered).

1. Pol Sci 700 should be taken during the first semester.
2. Pol Sci 701 should be taken during the first semester.
3. Pol Sci 702 should be taken during the second semester.

Master's Paper
A formal thesis is not required. However, each student shall prepare and defend orally a paper which demonstrates conceptual ability and research competence in some recognized area (sub-field) of political science. It is expected that the master's paper will be prepared in a scholarly fashion, normally conforming to the format characteristic of journal articles published in the chosen area of study. A statement setting forth additional guidelines and criteria of evaluation will be made available.

For full-time students it is expected that the master's paper will be successfully defended prior to the completion of three semesters of graduate work. Consequently, the Department encourages students to choose paper topics for graduate seminars which may serve as the basis for the master's paper. Postponement of the oral defense of the master's paper beyond three semesters requires the approval of the Graduate Committee.

Comprehensive Examination
An oral defense of the master's paper is required. Master's papers will be defended orally before a three-person committee composed of one of the student's advisors and two other faculty members selected by the chair of the Department in consultation with the student and the advisor.

The committee will be selected at least one full semester prior to anticipated submission of the master's paper. The student must obtain committee approval of the research topic and methodology immediately following the selection of the committee.

A student may enroll for 3 credit hours of independent study for final preparation of the paper, subject to the approval of the Master's Committee.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus these departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- Master's degree in political science.
- Evidence of a high standard of achievement in graduate work at the master's level.
- Submission of Graduate Record Examination scores, except for applicants receiving a MA degree from UWM.

In some instances where the applicant's record demonstrates exceptional promise, the Department will consider applications for admission to the PhD program directly from the BA degree. Such admission does not constitute a waiver of any of the requirements indicated below.

All applicants for admission to the PhD program will be evaluated on the basis of their prior academic record, scores on the Graduate Record Examination, and three letters of recommendation.

Major Professor as Advisor
The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. The incoming student is advised by the chairman of the departmental Graduate Committee; as the student develops specialized interests within the discipline, the student selects a major professor from within that area of specialization.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 graduate credits beyond the bachelor's degree, 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM at the doctoral level.

Areas of Concentration
In consultation with the major professor students plan a program of studies through which a high level of competence is gained in two substantive fields (hereafter referred to as "major" or "prelim" fields). The department offers five fields of study:
- American Politics
- Comparative Politics
- International Relations
- Political Theory
- Public Administration and Public Policy

Competence in these fields is demonstrated by a written and oral preliminary examination. In addition to the fields listed above, students may petition the graduate committee to be examined in an alternative field. This must be a coherent field that is not covered by one of the existing prelim areas.

Distribution Requirement
To ensure broad exposure to the discipline, students must take a minimum of three courses outside of their prelim fields, at least two of which must be in a single field. Courses used to satisfy this requirement must be taken from the departmental offerings in the five substantive fields described above. Courses that bridge two or more fields of study cannot be used to satisfy this requirement if one of those fields falls within a student's prelim areas.

The major portion of work should be in political science courses numbered 700 or above. If approved by the Graduate Committee, a limited number of 300-699 level courses may also be included, although this is normally permitted only if necessary to overcome some deficiency in the student's prior preparation.

Core Research Requirements
Attainment of the PhD denotes a high level of competence in research skills relevant to the discipline of political science. Thus, all students must complete the core departmental research seminars Political Science 700, 701, and 702. Since skills learned in these courses are important elements in dealing successfully with subject matter presented in other seminars, students should enroll in these seminars immediately upon entering the graduate program.

Students must earn at least three additional credits in research methodology from courses offered by the Department of Political Science or other departments. Students using a course from outside the Department of Political Science to satisfy this requirement may enroll on a "Credit/No Credit" basis, where the grade of "Credit" demonstrates satisfactory completion of the requirement. Upon successful petition to the departmental Graduate Committee, a student may gain exemption from this requirement, based on course work completed in the five years prior to entering the graduate program. Students who receive this exemption must still complete at least 27 credits in residence. Credits earned to meet the research requirement may count toward the 54 credits of work required for the PhD if they carry graduate credit and are taken for a grade.
In some cases, competence in foreign language skills is necessary for significant disciplinary research. Students may fulfill the research requirements, beyond Political Science 700, 701, and 702 through demonstration of a reading knowledge of one foreign language. Competence is established through examination, by an appropriate UWM language department. The student must perform at a level equivalent to six semesters of college-level work in the language.

Each student's plan for satisfying the core research requirement must be approved by the Graduate Committee. The student submits a letter, approved by the advisor, which describes the combination of courses at UWM and/or elsewhere which the student plans to complete. The Committee, after reviewing the proposal, approves the plan or recommends modifications.

Evaluation of Student Progress

The Department annually evaluates the progress of each student, in order to identify areas of strength and weakness as an aid to the student and the student's major professor in planning the program of study. This evaluation is also used to determine whether or not the student should be encouraged to pursue further graduate work.

Residence

The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination

The student must pass a doctoral written and oral preliminary examination covering both of his or her fields of study. The preliminary exam is taken during the semester following the completion of coursework.

Dissertation

The candidate, working under the supervision of the major professor and the candidate's dissertation committee, must write an acceptable dissertation. A dissertation prospectus must be written during the last semester of coursework and will be defended at the end of the following semester as part of the preliminary examination. Guidelines for preparation of the dissertation are available from the Graduate School and from the departmental Graduate Committee Chair; and guidelines for the dissertation prospectus are available from the departmental Graduate Committee Chair.

Dissertation Defense

The candidate must, as a final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation. The candidate who does not successfully defend a thesis within five years of admission to candidacy may be required to take another comprehensive preliminary examination and be readmitted to candidacy.

Time Limit

All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School Ph.D. requirements, see the PhD section of the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

The Department of Psychology offers doctoral training in clinical and experimental psychology and master's-level training in two specialties: health psychology and behavior analysis. Within experimental psychology, training is offered in the areas of physiological psychology/neuroscience, conditioning and learning, cognition and perception, social psychology, and developmental psychology. The Department refers students interested in counseling psychology, guidance, and school psychology to the Department of Educational Psychology in the School of Education.

Students seeking the PhD may apply for admission to either the clinical or the experimental doctoral program. Transfer from clinical to experimental, or vice versa, requires reapplication to the Department of Psychology. Beginning students without master's degrees are accepted at the master's level, where they must first complete requirements for a master's degree, following the general psychology track. Students who have earned a master's degree elsewhere are admitted at the doctoral level, provided that a thesis has been completed. Although it is possible for the academic portion of the doctoral program to be completed in four years, many students, particularly in the clinical program, require five or more years. Students are expected to be enrolled full time and to earn their PhD's within seven years of initial enrollment, exclusive of the one-year internship required in the clinical program.

Students seeking master's-level training only may apply for either the health psychology or the behavior analysis specialties. Transfer from health psychology to behavior analysis, or vice versa, requires reapplication to the Department of Psychology. It is possible to complete requirements for the MS in two or three years of full-time study. Part-time study is allowable, as long as the MS is earned within seven years of enrolling.

Students may not earn more than two degrees from the Department of Psychology. Therefore, students who earned a bachelor's degree in psychology from UW-Milwaukee are not eligible to apply for admission to the doctoral program unless they earned a master's degree in psychology elsewhere.

All students are expected to know the facts, methodologies, and theories of psychology, and special emphasis is placed on developing research competence. Students receive training at the Department's research laboratories and clinic. Additionally, UWM's metropolitan location offers access to many off-campus sites, including the VA Medical Center, Milwaukee Children's Hospital, and the Medical College of Wisconsin.

Master of Science in Psychology

Application

Application must be made to both the Graduate School and the Department of Psychology. In addition to materials required by the Graduate School, the applicant should send — or have sent — to the Graduate Admissions Committee of the Department of Psychology, transcripts of all undergraduate and previous graduate work (although the Graduate School requires official copies, the Department accepts unofficial copies); GRE examination scores; letters of recommendation; and the completed departmental application form. Applicants are admitted only at the beginning of each academic year. Applications should be submitted by December 31 for the most favorable consideration.

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following departmental requirements to be considered for admission to the program:

- The completion of an undergraduate major in psychology.
- Submission of scores on the General Test and the Subject Test of the Graduate Record Examination.
- Positive recommendation by the Admissions Committee.

Admission is based on evaluations of an applicant's entire record. In evaluating each application, the Admissions Committee examines such factors as test scores, courses taken, involvement in independent research and study projects, and letters of recommendation.

Students without an undergraduate major in psychology may be considered for admission provided the following courses are completed: introductory statistics, a laboratory course in research methods of psychology, and an advanced laboratory course in psychology. Students with one of these courses may be admitted, but the two remaining courses must be completed within three semesters of enrollment. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree. Students satisfying only this very minimal requirement should understand that additional work may be required to enroll in specific graduate-level courses.

Advising and the Major Professor

Graduate School and departmental regulations require students to have a major professor to direct their research activities. It is important for students to start their research early in their graduate studies, and students are encouraged to secure a major professor as early as possible. Students may be assigned to a major professor they have chosen during the admissions process, or they may be admitted and assigned temporarily to the Graduate Program Coordinator, until they are able to find a permanent major professor who matches their research interests.

Before the end of the second semester, the student must form an advisory committee of three departmental faculty members, including the student's major professor. Students are free to change their major professor at any time. The Department also provides a Graduate Program Coordinator, who advises about courses and program requirements and who approves programs of study. The Department's Graduate Program Coordinator is also available to help an incoming or continuing student without a major professor to choose one, and to help students who wish to change their major professors to... find new ones.

Credits and Courses

There are three options: (1) the general psychology track, which is for students admitted to the doctoral program in experimental or clinical psychology; (2) the specialty in health psychology; and (3) the specialty in behavior analysis.

General Psychology Track

Students are admitted to the general psychology track with the understanding that they will be continuing in the doctoral program. The minimum requirement for the MS is 26 graduate credits of psychology, 20 of which must be earned in formal coursework (excluding practica) and 6 of which must be earned through an acceptable thesis.

Thesis

The student, under the direction of an advisor, must develop an acceptable thesis based on empirical research. The student must pass an oral examination in defense of the thesis.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within three years of initial enrollment.

Specialization in Health Psychology

The specialization in health psychology offers training in research and theories relevant to health promotion, stress and its management, the patient in the treatment setting, management of pain, and management of chronic illness, as well as causes and consequences of disorders such as coronary heart disease, stroke, cancer, and arthritis. The program of studies consists of core health psychology coursework, research coursework, psychology breadth coursework, and an optional field placement.

Course of Study

The course of study consists of at least 36 credits, distributed as follows:

- Twelve credits are required in core health psychology courses. All students must take 955 (Seminar in Health Psychology). Students must also choose any three of the following courses:
  - 754 Proseminar in Biomedical Psychology
  - 756 Psychophysiology
  - 711 Current Topics in Psychology: Psychopharmacology
  - 833 Neurophysiology
  - 854 Behavioral Neuroscience
  - 954 Seminar in Physiological Psychology

- Research coursework consists of 15 credits, including
  - 510 Advanced Psychological Statistics

  - 932 Seminar in Evaluation Research and 6 credits of 790 Master's Research.

Breadth coursework consists of 9 credits, chosen from among the following:

- 705 Information Processing
- 706 Psychology of Language
- 707 Psychology of Reading
- 712 Introduction to Clinical Psychology
- 714 Conditioning and Learning
- 741 Systems of Psychotherapy
- 912 Seminar in Psychopathology
- 914 Seminar in Learning
- 915 Seminar in Operant Behavior

- 934 Social Psychology of Gender
- 940 Seminar in Short-term Psychotherapy
- 960 Seminar in Child Psychology
- 961 Seminar in Child Clinical Psychology
- 980 Seminar in Aging

The MS specialty in health psychology emphasizes the application of psychological theories to health-related issues. Although students are exposed to theories and applications in coursework, the field placement option offers a further opportunity to learn by doing. Students are encouraged to take at least 3 credits of 812 (Field Placement in Psychology) in their area of interest.

Computer Literacy

The student must demonstrate proficiency in basic computer literacy (word processing, spreadsheets, statistical packages, and graphics packages) by passing an examination or completing a relevant course with a grade of at least B.

Thesis or Project

The student, under the direction of an advisor, has the option of developing either an acceptable thesis based on empirical research or an acceptable project (a review or theoretical paper). In either case, students must demonstrate their ability to formulate a research idea and pursue indepenedent and original investigation. The student must pass an oral examination in defense of the thesis or project.

Time Limit

The student must complete all requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Specialization in Behavior Analysis

Behavior analysis emphasizes environmental control of the individual organism. The specialization in behavior analysis introduces students to this science and its application through coursework in conceptual foundations, basic principles, and research methods. Students may focus on either basic or applied research, and conduct either laboratory or field research.

Course of Study

The course of study consists of at least 31 credits, distributed as follows:

- Thirteen credits in behavior analysis, which must include
  - 502 Applied Behavior Analysis

Nine credits in 790 Master's Research

Thesis

The student, under the direction of an advisor, must develop an acceptable thesis based on empirical research. The student must pass an oral examination in defense of the thesis.

Time Limit

The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Psychology

Admission

A master's degree in psychology that includes a thesis derived from empirical research is a prerequisite for admission to the doctoral level of the graduate program. Students who receive their master's degree in the general psychology track at UWM have satisfied this requirement and are advanced to the doctoral level of the program given the positive recommendation of the Department. Students with other master's degrees in psychology must meet general Graduate School requirements and departmental requirements as given for admission to master's-level study. If a thesis has not been completed as part of the master's degree, the student must complete the equivalent of a thesis before being designated a doctoral-level student.

Advising and the Major Professor

As with master's level study, Graduate School and departmental regulations require students to have a major professor to direct their research activities. It is important for students to start their research early in their graduate studies, and students are encouraged to secure a major professor as early as possible. Students who have earned a UWM master's degree may continue with the same major professor, but this is not required. Entering students may be assigned to the major professor they have chosen during the requirements for the major or intra-departmental minor.

Students in the clinical program satisfy their major by completing a sequence of required courses, including professional ethics, issues, and research methods in clinical psychology; developmental psychopathology; systems of psychotherapy; two courses in assessment; and empirically supported interventions. Students in the clinical program complete one intra-departmental minor in addition to their major.

In addition to classroom courses, students majoring in clinical psychology must also complete: a sequence of practicum courses for a minimum of 400 hours of training in assessment, diagnosis, therapy, and professional practice; and later a pre-doctoral, extramural, full-time (2000 hrs.) internship.

Clinical and experimental students may establish intra-departmental minors in the areas listed above as major areas within the experimental program. Experimental students may also have an intra-departmental minor in psychopathology by completing courses in the clinical area that do not require practicum experience. Students may establish an intra-departmental minor in quantitative methods with the approval of their committee and the faculty in this area.

5. Foreign language/research skill requirement. Students must demonstrate their competence in either a foreign language or a research skill.

6. Extra-departmental minors (required for experimental students; optional for clinical students). Experimental students must, and clinical students may complete, in another department, a coherent program of at least 8 graduate credits (undergraduate/graduate courses apply) relevant to but not substantially overlapping coursework in the Department must be completed in another department. The program is planned in consultation with a professor in the other department who agrees to serve as the student’s advisor for the minor. This faculty member is usually on the student’s doctoral committee, and documents that the extra-departmental requirement has been satisfied. Computer science or foreign language coursework other than that used to satisfy the foreign language/research skill requirement may be applied to this requirement.

7. Additional course requirements (clinical students only). Clinical students must complete a course in multicultural counseling issues and two advanced research methods courses.

Residence
The student must meet minimum Graduate School residence requirements. Please note the requirement of earning at least 27 graduate credits at UWM after attaining doctoral student status. For more information on residence requirements, see the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
Students must pass a doctoral preliminary examination to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. Students begin the examination only after their preparation has been reviewed by the Department's Graduate Program Committee. For experimental students, the examination covers the departmental major and minor(s). For clinical students the examination focuses on the departmental major.

Clinical Internship Requirement
After the doctoral preliminary examination has been passed, clinical students are eligible to begin a required extramural, one-year, full-time (2,000 hrs.) internship.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must write a dissertation that demonstrates the ability to formulate a research topic and pursue independent and original
For all courses numbered 300-699, undergraduates are eligible to enroll with the consent of the instructor. Courses numbered 700 and above are for graduate students only.

Courses numbered 700 and above are for graduate students only.

Final Oral Examination
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment (four years if entering with a master's degree), excluding internships.

For additional information on Graduate School Ph.D. requirements, see the PhD section of the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

The College of Letters and Science and the School of Business Administration offer and present jointly the Master of Public Administration (MPA). The program is designed to provide theoretical and practical preparation for careers in public and non-profit administration with three areas of concentration - municipal management, general public administration, and non-profit management.

MPA/MUP Program

A coordinated degree program has been designed to allow students to obtain both the Master of Public Administration and the Master of Urban Planning degrees concurrently.

This program is intended to combine professional training in planning with applied administrative and managerial skills. The MPA/MUP requirements are described later in this section.

Master of Public Administration

Admission

An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements and hold a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university to be considered for admission.

There are no fixed prerequisites in terms of prior academic training; but background in public administration, American governmental institutions, economics, statistics, and computer applications in social science is beneficial. Each student's academic preparation is evaluated at the time of application. A personal interview may be required.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

The MPA program requirements to be considered for admission are:

- An undergraduate grade point average of at least 3.0 (4.0 scale).
- Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with applicant's academic ability and achievement.
- Submission of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT).

Candidates seeking admission to the MPA/MUP program must apply to and be admitted to both programs. The requirements for admission to the MUP program are detailed in the Urban Planning section of this Bulletin.

Major Professor as Advisor

The student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies as specified in Graduate School regulations.
student who is not assigned to an advisor at the time of admission should immediately contact the Program Director.

Credits and Courses
The Master of Public Administration degree requires satisfactory completion of 39-42 credits of prescribed graduate study and appropriate coursework.

Required courses

Minimum Grade Requirements in the Core Courses
In order to demonstrate mastery of the critical Core Course material, MPA students must achieve a grade point average of 3.0 in the six Core Courses, and, regardless of average, students must earn a grade of B- or better in each Core Course. If a grade of C+ or lower is earned in any Core Course, that course must be repeated in an effort to earn the minimum grade of B-. If the student's grade point average in the six Core Courses is below 3.0, the student must repeat one or more Core Courses in which a grade of lower than B was earned in an effort to establish a grade point average of 3.0 in the Core. (For purposes of this requirement, the grade point average for the Core Courses will be calculated on the basis of only the highest grade earned; that is, the grade earned in the first attempt at a Core Course will not be averaged with the grade earned in the repeat.)

Master of Public Administration - Degree Requirements

1. Required Core Courses (18-21 credits)

Students entering the MPA program will be placed, at the discretion of the MPA Director, in one of two tracks (A or B) within the core. The minimum degree requirement is 39 credits for Track A students and 42 credits for Track B students.

Students seeking placement in this track will need to meet with the MPA Director to discuss this possibility and will be required to provide documentation of current public or nonprofit sector work experience.

Track B
Students with no significant public or nonprofit sector work experience are required to enroll in and successfully complete the Government/Nonprofit Administrative Internship course (Pol Sci 921). As part of the requirements for this course, Track B students are required to obtain, with the assistance of the MPA Director, one or more internships in either the public or nonprofit sector while enrolled in the MPA program.

The School of Social Welfare offers a program of graduate studies in social work. The mission of the MSW program is to provide scholarly leadership for the profession of social work through teaching, research, and service. Reflecting the metropolitan mission of UWM and the School of Social Welfare, the MSW Program particularly focuses on metropolitan social problems with a commitment to social and economic justice, cultural diversity, and the empowerment of individuals, families, groups, and communities to effect change. The primary MSW curriculum goals are to educate and train social work practitioners who demonstrate the values and ethics of the profession and who are competent for advanced specialized practice and scholarly pursuits at the MSW level. Additional goals for the social work programs are: to engage in the development and dissemination of social work and interdisciplinary research and discourse which addresses the prevention and amelioration of social and psychosocial problems; to address social and economic injustices by enhancing public understanding; and, to advocate for the prevention and resolution of contemporary social problems, particularly for populations at risk.

The two areas of specialized curriculum concentrations are: (1) Children and Families and (2) Physical and Mental Health. Within the concentration, students elect one of two practice methods areas: Direct Social Work Practice or Macro Practice, or they may elect to combine macro and direct practice by choosing double methods. Students may additionally complete one of two certificate programs: Marriage and Family Therapy, or School Social Work. The MSW program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education and prepares students for state certification requirements. The School of Social Welfare offers students access to the University computer system, special interview training rooms, and specialized audiovisual materials.

Within the MSW Program, the Professional Foundation courses serve as the base for the concentrations of the Advanced Curriculum. Students enter into the Advanced Curriculum studies upon completion of the Professional Foundation requirements through course work or exemption. With careful faculty advising, students are able to develop a course of study that builds upon their individualized interests, experiences, and strengths. The full-time program is designed for completion within 2 years; the structured part-time program for completion within 4 years.

4-Year Part-Time MSW Program
The structured 4-year part-time MSW program provides students with the opportunity to complete their degree requirements on a part-time enrollment basis. Applicants for this program must meet general Graduate School and MSW admission requirements, and are required to complete the MSW degree within the four-year period, taking a minimum of 2 courses per semester of enrollment. The part-time program conforms to all course sequencing requirements of the full-time program. Full- and part-time students are required to follow prescribed sequencing of course work.

Specialized Concentrations
Students are required to select a specialized area of concentration for the advanced curriculum studies.

Children and Families
The social work profession has a long history of commitment to ensuring the welfare of children. Furthermore, professionals recognize the family system as being significant in the lives of children and other members, but that it represents a significant social institution, essential to communities and to society as a whole. Many of the strengths and challenges experienced by vulnerable populations emanate from and, in turn, influence the family system. This concentration focuses on the study of family systems, child and family welfare, interventions to enhance the lives of children and families, and specific issues facing today's children and families (e.g., substance abuse, poverty, violence, etc.). Students enrolled in this concentration develop the advanced practice knowledge and skills necessary to provide services to children and families in a wide variety of settings. Certificate programs in Marriage and Family Therapy and School Social Work are offered within this concentration.

Physical and Mental Health
The physical and mental health concentration is designed to prepare students for advanced practice in a variety of settings, including hospitals, nursing homes, health planning agencies, public and private mental health agencies. This concentration exposes students to the issues and technologies appropriate to the delivery of services to individuals and families, small groups, and the community, including preventative health care education. Course work provides students with an understanding of a range of chronic and acute physical and mental disorders — including substance abuse and violence-related concerns — and the roles of public and private organizations in the delivery of health related services.

Master of Social Work

Admission
Application must be made to both the Graduate School and the School of Social Welfare.
Program application materials are available for the Fall semester only. All applications must be completed and submitted on or before January 2. Applicants must meet Graduate School and program requirements for admission, including:

- Undergraduate grade point average of 2.75 or better.
- Completion of at least 21 semester credits in the social and behavioral sciences (i.e., psychology, sociology, political science, economics, anthropology, and/or their equivalents).
- Completion of one semester course with content related to the biological determinants of human behavior.
- Submission of a program application which includes three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's personal and professional background and potential for success in the social work
Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that these deficiencies include no more than the satisfactory completion of two courses. Deficiency requirements must be satisfied within one semester of enrollment in the Advanced Curriculum. Deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the School of Social Welfare. Course credits acquired by satisfying deficiencies are not counted as program credits required for the degree.

Faculty Advisor
All students must have a faculty member within their area of specialized concentration to advise and supervise their studies as specified in Graduate School regulations. Students must develop, in consultation with the advisor, a written plan of study, including selection of the specialized concentration and practice method areas. Students who are not assigned an advisor at the time of their admission should contact the Assistant Dean of the School of Social Welfare for assignment. Students may elect to change advisor contingent upon the new advisor's appropriateness to the area of specialized concentration, the advisor's acceptance of additional advisees, and formal notification to the office of the Assistant Dean of the School of Social Welfare.

Minimum Credit Load Requirements
Students enrolled in the structured 4-Year Part-Time Program must register for a minimum of 2 courses per semester of enrollment. Students registered for field education must concurrently register for the appropriate practice methods courses (see prerequisites listings). Arrangements for field education can only be made in consultation with the Field Education Coordinator, as specified in the educational policies of the School of Social Welfare.

Non-degree Students
UWM non-degree students may earn credits which, if appropriate, may be counted toward a degree at a later date. Non-degree students may enroll in 12 credits of the Professional Foundation courses with the exception of field education (721), and in courses for 12 credits of which prerequisites can be satisfied. Non-degree students may not enroll in field education or advanced curriculum practice methods courses (711, 713, 721, 722, 811, 820, 821, 822, 915). Students should contact the Graduate School for information and regulations on non-degree status as well as the advising office in the School of Social Welfare prior to enrolling for social work courses under the non-degree classification.

Credits and Courses
The MSW Program requires a minimum of 29 graduate credits for students admitted to the Advanced Curriculum. Students may be required to complete up to 21 credits to fulfill the Professional Foundation. Course work taken as the Professional Foundation (see below) cannot be counted as part of the 29 Advanced Curriculum credits. The minimum 29 Advanced Curriculum credit requirements are distributed as follows:

8 credits of Field Instruction (722/821/822)
8 credits of Social Work Practice Methods (711 or 713/811* or 915/820)
4 credits of Social Work Research (793/794)
5 credits within selected area of concentration (711 or 753/851)
4 credits of electives

(*Requires sections to be selected from within the specialized concentration area, for total concentration credits of 10)

Professional Foundation
Students admitted into the graduate social work program without having earned a bachelor's degree from an accredited social work program within the past 5 years are required to fulfill the Professional Foundation prior to Advanced Curriculum course work (see below for exemptions). The purpose of the Professional Foundation is to orient students to the profession and to provide a knowledge, values and skills base in preparation for the Advanced Curriculum. Course work in the Professional Foundation is not included in the 29 Advanced Curriculum credits required for completion of the MSW degree. The Professional Foundation courses are:

604 Social Systems and Social Work Practice
662 Methods of Social Welfare Research
665 Cultural Diversity and Social Work
705 Individual Behavior and Social Welfare
708 Social Work Methodology I
709 Social Work Methodology II
721 Field Instruction I
750 Social Welfare Policy Development and Implementation

Exemptions
Students who have, within the 5 years preceding admission, completed course work which substantially duplicates Professional Foundation courses may apply to the Director of Social Work Programs for an exemption from the relevant courses (This procedure applies to 604, 662, 705, 750). Exemption examinations are also offered on a scheduled basis for these courses. Students will not be exempted from some Foundation courses (708, 709, 665); exemption of the field experience (721) may be permitted under special employment experience circumstances and only by permission of the Field Coordinator's office. Students interested in securing an exemption should request course exemption forms upon notification of admission to the program.

All requests for exemptions must be made at the time of initial enrollment. Exemption requests will not be accepted following the end of the first semester of coursework.

Time Limit
Students admitted directly into the Advanced Curriculum must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment; students required to complete any portion of the Professional Foundation must complete all degree requirements within seven years of initial enrollment.

Certification Programs

School Social Work
Certification requirements for a school social worker include the following: an MSW degree, a minimum of 18 credits of professional education, completion of an approved program, and two years of social work experience working with children and youth. The school social work program consists of the following:

Marriage and Family Therapy
The Certificate in Marriage and Family Therapy (MFT) prepares social work students for beginning practice in marriage and family therapy. The MFT Certificate is designed to meet the educational requirements for membership in the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy. (Final acceptability rests solely with the membership committee of AAMFT.)
Students wishing to complete the Certificate should register their intention with the Coordinator of the MFT Certificate Program prior to beginning their graduate studies.

Completion of the Certificate sequence requires an additional 9-11 graduate credits beyond the MSW requirements. Specifically, students complete 9 credits of family studies, 9 credits of marriage and family therapy, 9 credits of human development, 4 credits of research, and 3 credits of professional issues. Students working towards MFT Certification are assigned to field placements in settings which provide the opportunity for practice with families.

The Master of Arts (MA) degree program in Sociology at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee offers a flexible and diverse program of study to students who wish to specialize in one of the profession's subfields. The master's program was established in 1964 and has annually enrolled 15-25 graduate students. Since its inception, the program has trained students now employed in human services and institutions of higher education.

In addition to the MA degree program, the Department of Sociology participates in an interdisciplinary Doctoral Program in Urban Studies in conjunction with the Department of History and the Urban Studies Program. The Urban Studies Doctoral Program has three areas of specialization: Urban Development, Human Service Organization and Race, Class, Gender and Ethnicity, and is rapidly building a national reputation as a leading urban program.

Cross-listed Courses

The following courses may also be used to fulfill certain curricular requirements of the graduate program in Social Work.

History 460 (The Poor in America: An Historical Examination.) 3 cr, U/G.

UrbSty 986 (Urban Public Policy and Social Institutions.) 3 cr, G.

Master of Arts in Sociology

Admission

An applicant who meets general Graduate School requirements and the following departmental requirements may be admitted in good standing:

- Undergraduate major in sociology or related field.
- Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's academic background.
- Completion of undergraduate courses in statistics, research methods, and sociological theory.

An applicant lacking background coursework may be admitted with deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses. The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as credits required for the degree. Deficiencies may be made up by taking the appropriate courses in the und graduate program or by passing the appropriate CLEP examinations.

Applicants whose grade point averages are below the minimum 2.75 required by the Graduate School may be admitted on probation if there is substantial evidence of their ability to do satisfactory graduate work. Performance during the first semester of enrollment must convince the members of the Graduate Committee of the students' capacity to do graduate work.

The Department of Sociology requires at least three letters of recommendation. The Department provides a cover sheet that should accompany all letters of recommendation. The form is signed by both the applicant and the person providing the reference. Letters should be sent to the Chair, Graduate Admission, Department of Sociology, P.O. Box 413, Milwaukee, WI 53201. Those applying for financial assistance, including teaching assistantships, should submit Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores. The Graduate School highly recommends GRE scores for students who apply for a University fellowship. GRE scores also are helpful if students do not meet the minimum grade point requirement set by the Graduate School.

Financial Aid

The major source of financial assistance for graduate students in Sociology is employment as a teaching assistant. Applications for teaching assistantships for the Fall semester should be received by March 1st; applications received after that date will be considered only in the event that all positions are not filled. To apply for a teaching assistantship, students should send a letter to the Chair, Graduate Committee, Department of Sociology, P.O. Box 413, Milwaukee, WI 53201, expressing interest in the position. Appointments are made at 33% of full-time work for first-year graduate students and usually involve conducting four discussion sections per semester. The stipend for a non-doctoral T.A. with a 33% appointment is at least $5,964. Tuition is remitted for all teaching assistants with a 33% or higher appointment. T.A.'s are required to carry a minimum of six graduate credits per semester.

Graduate students also are eligible for University Fellowships that are awarded by the Graduate School on a competitive basis. Additional information on the types and availability of fellowships may be obtained directly from the Graduate School.

Advising Procedures
Upon admission, the Graduate Committee Chair assigns each student to an interim advisor. The interim advisor assists students in planning their course programs, and in scheduling other degree requirements. When the MA student begins to formulate a topic for a thesis, a master's paper, or an MA examination, the student seeks someone on the Sociology Graduate faculty if he/she will serve as the chair of the student's committee. This person then becomes the student's main advisor for the remainder of the time in the program.

Credits and Courses
The MA in Sociology requires a minimum of 30 graduate credits. Three credits of Sociol 990, Thesis, are required for students who write a thesis or Master's paper. Students who choose the examination option take 3 credits of electives in lieu of Sociol 990. The 27 remaining credits must include five core courses, one from each of these areas: sociological inquiry, theory, research methodology, statistics, and research practicum. Normally, this requirement is fulfilled by taking:

- 700 Proseminar in Sociological Inquiry
- 715 Systematic Sociological Theory
- 750 Research Methods in Sociology
- 760 Advanced Statistical Methods in Sociology
- 989 Practicum in Sociological Research

The student, in consultation with the advisor, will select 12-15 elective credits, of which at least three must be earned in Sociology seminars. Up to six graduate credits may be taken outside the department in courses related to the individual's plan of study. No more than six credits of undergraduate/graduate courses (excluding those previously taken by the student), taken at the graduate level, may be applied toward meeting degree requirements. No more than six credits may be taken in Sociol 999, Reading and Research.

A student with an exceptional background in one or more of the required classroom courses may request that 700-level course requirements be waived. Sociol 989, Practicum in Sociological Research, may be waived for students who have an officially approved MA proposal by the time they have completed 12 credits. In this case, three credits of Sociol 990 will be required in its place. Sociol 989 also will be waived for students who will take an examination rather than write a Master's paper or thesis for the degree. Elective credits are substituted in this case and for any other courses that are waived.

Good Standing
To retain good standing in the Department of Sociology, an enrolled graduate student must maintain a minimum 3.0 cumulative GPA and demonstrate progress toward completion of the course and/or thesis requirements each semester.

Incompletes
Although it occasionally may be necessary to take incompletes, it is important that they be removed early in the following semester. Incompletes are a negative consideration in evaluating students for teaching assistantships and fellowships. Moreover, incompletes not completed within one year from when the Incomplete grade was assigned will be recorded administratively as a permanent incomplete (PI).

Thesis, Master's Paper, or the MA Examination Options
The student must write and defend an acceptable thesis, a master's paper, or write an examination in fulfillment of the requirements for the Master of Arts degree in Sociology.

Thesis or Master's Paper
The thesis or master's paper is intended to be a relatively limited research exercise, focused on a manageable topic. It does not necessarily have to involve original research. It is completed through enrollment in Sociol 990. Acceptable thesis or master's paper options include, but are not limited to, collection of data for hypothesis testing or exploratory research, secondary analysis of available data, theoretical critique, conceptual analysis and library research on a clearly defined problem. In general, students are encouraged to utilize existing data rather than collect new data unless they are confident that they have adequate resources (including time) to collect data sufficient for their purposes.

Students are urged to discuss, with one or more faculty, their general area of interest for a possible thesis or master's paper by the beginning of their third semester of residence. By the end of the third semester, students should complete a proposal for the MA thesis or paper. This entails selection of members of the committee and distribution of the student's proposal to the faculty. The proposal, about 5-10 pages, is reviewed and approved by the committee at a scheduled hearing. This proposal shall be part of the student's file.

Students must prepare the thesis or master's paper under the direction of their committee, receive approval that it meets professional standards, and defend it at an oral examination. The master's paper is normally the length of a journal article (about 30 pp.). Students who choose to write a thesis should obtain a copy of the Master's Thesis and Doctoral Dissertation Format Requirements from Graduate Student Services, Mitchell 261. The thesis must be prepared according to these format requirements.

When the thesis or master's paper is complete, the student shall circulate an abstract to all faculty, to be part of the student's permanent record.

MA Examination
The Master of Arts examination option is based on a bibliography developed by the student in consultation with his/her committee. The bibliography will represent both classical statements and recent debates in at least one area of sociological specialization. Students are encouraged to develop the bibliography by the end of the third semester of residence.

The examination itself will be a set of three questions developed by the MA committee, from which the student must choose two. The student will have two weeks to write a take-home examination. The advisor and two other faculty members will grade the examination. Within two weeks of the completion of the written examination, there will be an oral examination on the same material. At that time, the MA examining committee will decide whether or not the student passes the examination. Should the student fail, a second attempt may be permitted.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

URBAN EDUCATION

School of Education

Degree Conferred: PhD in Urban Education
Phone: (414) 229-4729
FAX: (414) 229-2920
Web site: http://www.uwm.edu/Dept/UrbEd

The School of Education offers an interdepartmental program of study leading to the PhD. Students must choose a specialization in either Adult and Continuing Education, Educational Administration, Curriculum and Instruction, Educational and Media Technology, Educational Psychology, Counseling Psychology, School Psychology, Exceptional Education, Multicultural Studies, Social Foundations of Education, or Art Education.

The program is designed to permit students to integrate their particular curricular areas of interest and specialization with a broader field of education, including urban education. Each specialization is departmentally focused, and students must satisfy the admissions and curriculum requirements indicated for their particular specialization. Recognition of the specialization is acknowledged by official designation on the student's transcript.

Each of the eleven specializations offers the doctoral student an opportunity to pursue study in a specific program area. For example, Adult and Continuing Education emphasizes governance and leadership issues within urban adult education organizations. Educational Administration explores governance and Leadership issues of urban schools. The Art Education specialization prepares art educators for careers in higher education. Curriculum and Instruction provides program emphasis in a content area (e.g., reading), education level (e.g., early childhood), a general area (e.g., curriculum theory) or special area (e.g., guiding instructional improvement). Educational and Media Technology emphasizes the use and importance of information technology and applying the technology to learning. Educational Psychology provides program emphasis in the areas of learning and development, and research and statistics. Exceptional Education provides program emphasis in departmental interest areas (e.g., handicapping condition), or a cross-disciplinary interest. Both the Counseling Psychology and School Psychology Specializations are accredited by the American Psychological Association and emphasize the preparation of research practitioners to work in urban settings. Multicultural Studies emphasizes integrating intercultural theory and practice in urban educational and community settings. The Social Foundations of Education specialization provides students with the conceptual tools with which to examine the complex interrelationships between school and society, education and culture.

All graduates should have a broad understanding of the issues, problems and trends related to education, including urban education, and the application of these to their major. Students must develop a minor area of study in a discipline outside the specialization.

The program requires each participant to develop research skills ranging from logic in inquiry to development of specific methodological skills in qualitative and quantitative methods. The PhD is a research degree and not only a professional preparation degree. Therefore research is an integral part of the program. Mastery of these skills is demonstrated through course work, research projects and the dissertation. Graduates apply their skills, in institutions of higher education, public or private school settings, federal, state or local governmental agencies, community organizations, and the private sector.

Writing Sample
Applicants must submit a writing sample completed within the last five years. The writing sample must be single authored, at least 1500 words, and must be selected from ONE of the following options:

- Master's Thesis
- Undergraduate Senior Thesis
- Technical report
- Term Paper

Recommendations
An applicant must have a minimum of three appropriate persons write a recommendation and comment meaningfully and knowledgeably on the likelihood that the applicant can successfully complete an advanced scholarly program of studies for the PhD degree. It is helpful if the majority of references are written by college/university faculty. If an applicant is unable to secure academic references because of elapsed time, other references should be as current as possible. In any case, individuals preparing references should be selected who can comment with confidence on the applicant’s academic qualifications. Reference forms must be forwarded directly by the writers to the Office of Doctoral Studies. Complete information is provided in application materials available from the Office of Doctoral Studies.

Application
Applicants are required to articulate their urban and research interests and goals in application materials. An intended concentration within the PhD must be specified at time of application.

- Applicants who fail to satisfy these admission requirements will not be recommended for admission. However, satisfying these minima does not guarantee admission.
- Applicants who are not recommended for admission will be provided an opportunity to request a reconsideration.

Individual specializations may expect prior coursework in that area. Applicants may contact the Director for specific information. Openings in the program are limited. Applicants should submit all application materials no later than January 1 for admission the following September. Applicants must contact the Office of...
Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 54 credits beyond the bachelor's degree (although students ordinarily take more than 54), at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UW (i.e., on the UWM campus).

In consultation with the major professor, the student designs a program of studies that enables the student to gain the knowledge and skills appropriate to the student's goals.

The program of studies includes the following:

1. The Doctoral Seminars
   All doctoral students must take three 3-credit seminar courses devoted to content involving education in an urban environment. One of these seminars is taken as part of the department specialization.

2. Research Requirement
   a. All doctoral students must take EdPsy 724, Educational Statistical Methods II (prerequisite is EdPsy 624) and CurrLns/Ad Ldsp 729, Qualitative Research and Field Studies in Educational Settings.
   b. All doctoral students select additional advanced level (800 or above) coursework (minimum 6 credits) from either a qualitative track or quantitative track.
   c. All doctoral students must take a research design course approved by their advisor and the Director of Doctoral Studies.
   d. Department specialization requirements may exceed those specified here.
   e. All students demonstrate knowledge in this area by writing a preliminary examination research question and successfully defending a dissertation.

3. Designated Specialization
   Students indicate a specific area of specialization, by applying for one of the nine transcript-designated specializations in either Administrative Leadership and Supervision, Art Education, Counseling Psychology, Curriculum and Instruction, Educational and Media Technology, Educational Psychology, Exceptional Education, Multicultural Studies, or School Psychology. Students may be required to meet the specific admissions and program requirements for their intended specialization in addition to meeting the PhD admissions and program requirements. (Please see the accompanying explanation and requirements for each specialization.)

4. Minor
   Students are required to complete a minor consisting of courses in a related discipline that supports the student's program of studies. The student may choose either Option A or Option B.

   Option A. A minimum of 8 credits in a single department outside the School of Education. A minor professor approves these courses, sits as a member of the student's doctoral committee, and contributes to the student's doctoral preliminary examination.

   Option B. A minimum of 12 credits in two or more departments, with a minimum of 6 credits outside of the School of Education. The remaining credits may be taken within the School of Education, but must be taken outside of the department of specialization.

Foreign Language Requirement
There is no foreign language requirement. However, individual students may be required to demonstrate proficiency in a foreign language if such proficiency is determined to be necessary by a student's committee.

Residence
The residency requirement is satisfied through the successful completion of 9 or more credits in each of two consecutive semesters, excluding summer, or by completing at least 6 graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, excluding summer.

It is the student's responsibility to notify the Office of Doctoral Studies when residency requirements have been met. Such notification must be in writing and must include the semesters, year(s) and number of credits taken during each of the applicable semesters.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The student must pass a doctoral preliminary examination to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for the degree. The examination covers the area of specialization, urban education, the minor, and research methods.

Dissertation
The candidate must present a dissertation reporting the results of an original research study appropriate to the student's program. Prior to beginning the research, the candidate must present an acceptable dissertation proposal and defend it at an oral hearing.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as the final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
Students who do not complete all degree requirements within seven years from the date of admission to the doctoral program will be recommended for dismissal to the Graduate School.

Other Requirements
This is only a summary of the doctoral program requirements. A complete list of requirements is available from the Office of Doctoral Studies. Doctoral Committees may specify course requirements which exceed the minima described here.

Although a Master's Degree and certification as a principal are prerequisites to certification as a School Superintendent in Wisconsin, doctoral students may satisfy the requirements for both licenses within their Ph.D. Program of Study. Advisors will design such programs based on individual student need.

Any post-master's courses taken prior to admission while enrolled as a non-degree student in the Specialist Program for School Superintendent Certification do not have to be repeated, subject to advisor and UEDC Director approval. All such credits may be applied toward the 30 credits required in the area of concentration except that in no case may a Ph.D. area of concentration contain fewer than 9 upper level graduate credits (excluding dissertation credits) taken after admission to doctoral study. Individuals who have not completed at least 6 credits of accepted graduate course work within the 5 year immediately prior to admission must take a minimum of 15 credits.

Doctoral Committee Membership

The dissertation advisor is an Urban Education doctoral advisor and member of the Department of Administrative Leadership. At least two other committee members must be from the Department of Administrative Leadership.

Exit Requirements

Contingent upon successful completion of program requirements, the doctoral preliminary examination, and the dissertation defense, the Chair of the Department of Administrative Leadership must give final approval for the inclusion of "Urban Education: Adult and Continuing Education" on the student's transcript.

Educational Administration Specialization

A dissertation with an Educational and Media Technology emphasis is required. The dissertation advisor must be approved as such by the Urban Education Doctoral Program and the faculty of the School of Information Studies. At least one other committee member must be from the School of Information Studies. There must be at least two committee members from the School of Education.

Exit Requirements
Contingent upon completion of program requirements, the doctoral preliminary examination, and successful defense of the dissertation, the Dean of the School of Information Studies must give final approval for the inclusion of "Urban Education: Educational and Media Technology" on the student's transcript.

Educational Psychology Specializations
See the Educational Psychology section of the Bulletin for course descriptions in Counseling and Educational Psychology.

The Department of Educational Psychology provides three doctoral specializations:

- Counseling Psychology (APA accredited)
- Educational Psychology (includes Learning and Development, Research Methodology)
- School Psychology (APA accredited)

Admission
Students wishing to specializing in one of the three specializations offered in Educational Psychology (Counseling Psychology, Educational Psychology, or School Psychology) must apply and be admitted to the doctoral program in Urban Education (UEDP). Applicants should indicate on their application the specialization they wish to pursue in the doctoral program.

Applications are reviewed by the Admissions Committee of the Urban Education Doctoral Program as well as the graduate faculty of the Department of Educational Psychology (i.e., Counseling Psychology, Educational Psychology, or School Psychology). Faculty in the Department of Educational Psychology have admission authority for each specialization. Students are reviewed on the basis of letters of recommendation, academic credentials, GRE scores, and intended professional goals, and may undergo a personal interview. Admission decisions also are influenced by space limitations, and a match between student interests and faculty expertise.

Subsequent to admission, the student must submit a program of studies (in one of the three areas) developed in conjunction with the advisor.

When the program of studies is approved by the PhD specialization area, the student must submit the program of study to the Office of Doctoral Studies for review and approval by the Director.

Prior to admission, or within the first 30 graduate credits after admission to the PhD specialization, the student must complete a research project, e.g., a master's thesis or publishable paper.

Common Requirements in Educational Psychology Foundations
The Counseling Psychology, Educational Psychology, and School Psychology specializations require a common core of research and statistics, learning and development, and doctoral seminars.

Research and Statistics: A minimum of 15 graduate credits in research and statistics is required, of which 6 credits must be taken at the 800 level or above. Students must take a course in research design, EdPsy 724 Statistics II, and CurrIns 729 Qualitative Research, and an additional 6 credits in a quantitative track.

Learning and Development: A minimum of 12 graduate credits in learning and development is required. Three (3) credits must be taken in development, and 3 credits must be in learning. A minimum of 6 credits must be taken at the 800 level or above.

Urban Education PhD Seminars: Nine (9) graduate credits in urban education seminars are required. Common to all specializations in the Urban Education Doctoral Program is a unique emphasis on working within urban contexts.

Program Requirements in Common for the PhD Specializations in Counseling Psychology, Educational Psychology, and School Psychology

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
Upon completion of formal coursework, doctoral students complete written doctoral preliminary examinations. The examination is constructed by the student's doctoral committee and reflects the major study areas of the student, including research and statistics, psychological foundations (the minor area for counseling and school psychology), educational psychology foundations (e.g., Counseling Psychology, Educational Psychology, or School Psychology). An urban knowledge base may be incorporated into one or more questions. Students also must prepare an oral defense of the examination.

Dissertation Requirements
PhD candidates are required to write a dissertation in the area of specialization (Counseling Psychology, Educational Psychology, or School Psychology). The student must demonstrate the ability to formulate a topic and conduct independent research. Students are encouraged to address research issues related to urban schools.

Exit Requirements
Students are advised to work closely with their Major Advisor to ensure that all program requirements, course work, practicum/internship, preliminary examinations, and dissertation and oral defense requirement are met in a timely manner. Contingent upon completion of program requirements, the doctoral preliminary examination, and successful defense of the dissertation, the Chair of the Department of Educational Psychology must give final approval of the inclusion of "Urban Education: Counseling Psychology, Educational Psychology, or School Psychology" on the student's transcript.

Students contemplating applying to the Educational Psychology specialization should contact the appropriate Area Chair of that curricular area (either Research Methodology or Learning and Development) prior to completing their application.

Students who wish to change their area of specialization to Educational Psychology after admission to another specialization must seek an advisor in Learning and Development or Research Methodology, and must submit a new program of studies for the newly selected area to the Educational Psychology Specialization Committee for approval. When approved, it must also be submitted to the Office of Doctoral Studies for approval by the Director.

In total, doctoral students specializing in Educational Psychology must earn a minimum of 54 credits beyond the Bachelor's level, at least 27 of which must be taken in residence. This is a minimum requirement, and many actual programs exceed this minimum. Up to 12 credits earned prior to admission to the Ph.D. program may be counted toward the required credit total. Students entering the Ph.D. program with a Master's degree may have other courses/requirements waived. However, a minimum of 36 credits (including thesis credits) must be earned following admission to the Ph.D. specialization in Educational Psychology. In addition to course work, the satisfactory completion of preliminary exams and a dissertation are required.

SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGY

Following the established American Psychological Association scientist-practitioner model, the doctoral program prepares school psychologists across a base of theory, practice and research. Professional preparation in school psychology at the UWM provides students with a broad theoretical background, as well as empirically supported clinical skills through didactic, field placement, practica, and internship experiences. The program has a strong urban mission, and is dedicated to increasing knowledge, sensitivity, and awareness of practices best suited for individuals from diverse cultural, ethnic, and economic backgrounds.

Principles of biological, psychological, cultural, and sociological sciences are emphasized, in particular applied to urban school, mental health, and educational settings.

Program Requirements
Students without a master's degree are accepted at the master's level and fulfill the requirements for a master's degree. Those who did not complete a thesis or publishable paper on an original and independent research project. Upon completion of the master's degree, students advance to the doctoral level. This does not require reapplication. Those who have previously earned a master's degree are admitted at the doctoral level if they have completed a thesis or publishable paper. Those who did not complete a thesis or publishable paper as part of a master's degree must finish this requirement within the first 30 credits of enrollment in the doctoral program.

Acquisition of research skills is an expectation of all doctoral students reflecting the scholarly nature of a Ph.D. Formal course work serves as the initial vehicle through which students acquire research competencies. Course work covering quantitative and qualitative analysis, measurement, methodology and research design are all required. Ongoing involvement on research teams is expected. Doctoral students must have completed a master's thesis or publishable paper, and subsequently a dissertation that represents an original and independent research effort.

The Urban Planning program at UWM is a professional, skills-oriented, master's program designed to train students to perform a variety of planning-related jobs in either the public or private sector.

The program focuses on planning as a process for improving collective decisions in the public and private sectors. The planning process includes analyzing problems, designing alternative solutions and evaluating their consequences, developing strategies for action and participating in their implementation. This process is used in both government and business in developing policy for future action, so that today's solutions do not become tomorrow's problems.

The program's elective courses combined with other courses on campus enable the development of more specialized depth in several planning related areas under the following concentrations: Urban Revitalization; Economic Development; Urban Geographic Information Systems; Transportation; Physical Planning and Urban Design; and Environmental Resources.

The Department is staffed by faculty members who combine academic and professional qualifications and who are committed to active involvement in current issues. They teach by example, using case studies and projects involving actual situations in most courses. This approach injects reality into the educational environment, allows students to see the relevance of the material in the curriculum, and shows students how their courses relate to their professional practice.

The Milwaukee Metropolitan area of one-and-one-half million persons is a learning laboratory that classroom projects and faculty researchers use extensively. Moreover, students gain additional practical experience through internships in the wide array of planning positions available in the Milwaukee area.

M Arch/MUP Coordinated Degree Program

URBAN STUDIES PROGRAMS

College of Letters and Science

Degrees Conferred: MS in Urban Studies; PhD in Urban Studies
Phone: (414) 229-4751
E-mail: usp@uwm.edu
Web site: http://www.uwm.edu/Dept/Urban_Studies

Urban Studies Programs offers two interdisciplinary graduate programs of study. Both programs are jointly sponsored by the Departments of History and Sociology and include participating faculty from these two departments plus Geography and Political Science.

The Master of Science degree program in Urban Studies provides students with a broad understanding of urban society and trains them in research techniques appropriate to the study of metropolitan communities. The course of study stresses the understanding of social processes and the analysis of social and economic policies affecting cities.

All MS students must complete a five-course core curriculum that establishes a common base of knowledge and research skills. On completing the core, students have two options. They may either secure a generalist degree, requiring 15 additional credits in elective courses, or they may specialize in an area of concentration in consultation with the MS Program Coordinator. The specialist option requires 15 credits in specified courses beyond the core. Both options require either a master's thesis or a master's paper. Graduates are prepared to enter professional careers in government or social agencies, or to enter doctoral programs for further study.

The PhD degree program in Urban Studies is designed to prepare individuals to obtain employment in academic departments, as well as government institutions and social agencies, and to conduct sophisticated research in the field of urban studies. The course of study emphasizes history, research methodology, and social science theory.

All doctoral students must take a six-course core curriculum and then establish a specialization in one of three areas: Urban Development, Human Service Organizations, or Race, Class, Gender, and Ethnicity. Graduates are equipped with the necessary research and methodological tools to conduct urban research deriving from theory and/or contributing to theory development.

MS/MLIS Coordinated Degree Program
In cooperation with the School of Information Studies, Urban Studies Programs offers an MS/MLIS program to prepare students for positions as urban information specialists. Students in this program concurrently pursue an MS in Urban Studies and a MLIS degree program. Prerequisite to the award of either degree in this program is the simultaneous award of its counterpart degree.

Master of Science in Urban Studies

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements plus the following requirement to be considered for admission:

- Undergraduate major in one of the social sciences or experience in relevant occupational roles such as planning, community organization or social work.
- Two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's academic ability. Recommendation forms may be obtained from the Urban Studies Programs office.
- Submission of Graduate Record Examination scores is recommended but not required.

Applicants may be admitted with specific program-defined course deficiencies provided that the deficiencies amount to no more than two courses.

The student is expected to satisfy deficiency requirements within three enrolled semesters. The deficiencies are monitored by the Graduate School and the individual graduate program unit. No course credits earned in making up deficiencies may be counted as program credits required for the degree.

Major Professor as Advisor
The Coordinator of the Urban Studies Master of Science degree program acts as the initial advisor to all entering students. Therefore, upon admission to the program, students should meet with the Coordinator to discuss their course of study. As specified by The Graduate School, the student must have a major professor to advise and supervise the student's studies. Once the student has defined an area of interest within Urban Studies, an advisor with similar interests may be chosen from among the other members of the USP faculty.

Credits and Courses
The minimum degree requirement is 30 graduate credits. All Urban Studies students are required to take a core curriculum of 15 credits:

- Urban Studies 921 Seminar: Research Methods in Urban Studies
- Urban Studies 731 or equivalent Quantitative Analysis in Urban Research
- Urban Studies 945 The Internal Structure of the City
- Urban Studies 971 Seminar in the History of American Urban Problems

MS/MLIS
Students in the MS/MLIS program follow all of the requirements and standards as described in this section of the Bulletin with the following joint exceptions: 21 of the 24 credits, including the optional 3 credits for a master's thesis, required for the Urban Studies portion of the joint degree are taken within USP. All courses in related areas and any exceptions to the 21 credit rule must be reviewed by the Coordinator of Urban Studies. All courses selected are expected to be consistent with the objectives of the Urban Studies program.

Paper or Thesis
A master's paper or thesis is required to receive the MS degree in Urban Studies. A master's paper may be developed from a seminar paper and should demonstrate conceptual ability and research competence in a sub-area of Urban Studies. It is expected that the master's paper will be prepared in a scholarly fashion conforming to the format characteristics of journal articles published in the chosen area of study.

A master's thesis is a more formal document of greater breadth and depth than a master's paper. Students should refer to the Graduate School's Master's Thesis and Doctoral Dissertation Format Requirements booklet for information regarding preparation and review of the thesis.

Regardless of the option chosen, the student, in consultation with the faculty advisor, must assemble a committee of three faculty who will serve as the paper or thesis examination committee. The student must pass an oral examination based on the paper or thesis. Students who elect to write a master's theses may enroll in USP 990 and earn up to 3 credits toward the MS degree.

Time Limit
The student must complete all degree requirements within five years of initial enrollment.

Doctor of Philosophy in Urban Studies

Admission
An applicant must meet Graduate School requirements, hold a master's degree or the equivalent in a social science or a related field, and meet the criteria established by the Urban Three letters of recommendation from persons familiar with the applicant's academic work. Recommendation forms may be obtained from the Urban Studies Programs office.

A sample of the applicant's written work that demonstrates the applicant's ability to conduct independent social science research and/or the ability to critically analyze the work of others.

A letter of intent outlining the applicant's reasons for graduate study.

GRE scores.

A response to a question that elucidates the applicant's reasons for taking up the academic study of urban affairs and describes her/his intellectual ambitions in the field.

Course of Study
Minimum degree requirement is 33 credits beyond the master's degree, at least 27 of which must be earned in residence at UWM. Of the total credits required, 9 credits must be completed in methodology and analysis (USP 979, 982, 984), 9 credits in theory and history (USP 980, 981, 983), and 6 credits in the thesis course (USP 991). (Students may enroll for additional thesis credits but no more than 6 credits may be counted toward fulfilling the degree requirements.)

In addition, the student is expected to plan a program of study with the student's major professor in order to gain competence in a field of specialization. The possible fields of specialization include Urban Development, Human Service Organizations, and Race, Class, Gender, and Ethnicity. The student is required to take 9 credits (three courses) at the 700 level or above in the specialization field, no more than 3 credits of which may be in independent study courses. The additional specific requirements for each specialization are described below.

SPECIALIZATION IN URBAN DEVELOPMENT: COMPARATIVE HISTORICAL AND CONTEMPORARY PERSPECTIVES

Six of the credits required in this specialization should be in History or in Comparative or Historical Sociology. Courses satisfying this requirement include History 833, 909, 924, and 930, Sociology 770 and 775, and other courses deemed appropriate by the Coordinator.

SPECIALIZATION IN HUMAN SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS

A student in this specialization must take 9 credits at the 700 level or above in the study of complex organizations or in some aspect of human service systems. Of these 9 credits, 3 credits must come from USP 985 or 986, Sociology 732, or other courses deemed appropriate by the Coordinator.

A student in this specialization must take 9 credits at the 700 level or above in the study of inequality. Of these 9 credits, 3 credits must come from History 827, 831, or 912, Sociology 780 or 790, or other courses deemed appropriate by the Coordinator.

Residence
The PhD student may meet the residence requirement by completing 8 or more graduate credits in each of two consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions, or by completing at least 6 graduate credits in each of three consecutive semesters, exclusive of summer sessions.

Doctoral Preliminary Examination
The student must pass a doctoral preliminary examination to qualify for formal admission to candidacy for the degree.

Dissertation
The candidate, working under the supervision of the major professor and the candidate's dissertation committee, must write a dissertation which demonstrates ability to formulate a research topic and pursue original investigation.

Dissertation Defense
The candidate must, as a final step toward the degree, pass an oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Time Limit
All degree requirements must be completed within ten years from the date of initial enrollment in the doctoral program.

For additional information on Graduate School PhD requirements, see the Graduate Student and Faculty Handbook.
